"I had one word for them ... Believe. If you never quit, it's amazing what can happen in this game, where the ball can take so many stupid bounces. You have to challenge kids to make plays. The Washington Huskies will never stop believing. Never."
— Jim Lambright

The Husky Tradition

Over the last century there have been numerous college football programs travel the path to gridiron glory. Few have reached the summit. Take a look at today's top programs and you'll find many have a common thread that binds them.

Survey the list of winningest programs, research their history, and you'll discover that their football annals generally had a strong founding father.

What would Michigan have been without Fielding Yost? Imagine Notre Dame if Knute Rockne had decided to pursue chemistry instead of a backfield shift. Where would USC be without Howard Jones?

But a legendary coach is not the lone ingredient to success. Outstanding players, dramatic victories, a pinch of luck and the ability to overcome adversity all fit the recipe.

The success of Washington's football program can be traced back to one man — Gil Dobie. In the history of sports, Dobie accomplished something at Washington that is truly astonishing. During his nine-year stint as the head coach, Dobie never lost a game. Three times opponents managed to tie the Sun Dodgers (as the Huskies were known as the time) but no one ever pinned a loss on one of Dobie's squads. Washington's teams of that era ran off a streak of 63 games without tasting defeat. That record still stands in the NCAA record books as the all-time unbeaten streak. It is hard to imagine it will ever be surpassed.

Dobie established a tradition that kept rolling for the next three decades. Between the time he headed up the program in 1908, until 1941, the Huskies produced a 194-68-18 record — a winning percentage of .725.

It took a World War to slow down Washington's success on the football field. From 1942 to 1956 the Huskies managed a 65-68-7 (.489) record and never won the Pacific Coast Conference Championship. Only two men directed Washington's football program between 1957-92, one is credited for reestablishing the Huskies as a West Coast power. The other did something none of his predecessor accomplished — win a national championship. Don James took the handoff from Jim Owens and sculpted Washington's football program into one of the best in the nation.

But winning is only one part of Washington's football lore. There have been many colorful characters and eventful games played since the first contest on Nov. 28, 1889 at 2:30 in the afternoon before 400 spectators at the old Jackson Street Park.

By 1903 Washington had won its first Pacific Coast Championship and the following season the team began to get the attention of the traditional football powers .

Washington never lost a contest during its 61 games with Gil Dobie as head coach.

Now a quarterback for Minnesota in the NFL, Warren Moon led the Huskies to a victory over Michigan in the 1978 Rose Bowl.

Coming into a showdown with California, the best West Coast team at the time, the Golden Bears made the suggestion to shorten the periods to make it easier on Washington. That thought only served to motivate Washington to a 6-6 tie. While not a victory, it served notice another school was ready to join the elite programs of the time. And it was Gil Dobie that put Washington there.

Prior to the 1920's college football's top teams were all located along the Eastern Seaboard. But it was during the roaring '20s that stars began to emerge in the nation's heartland and on the West Coast. Knute Rockne and his Fighting Irish were licking everyone at Notre Dame. Red Grange was a sensation at Illinois and Stanford had a standout running back named Ernie Nevers. Washington was also producing its first superstar, George Wilson, at the same time.

Without an outpouring of national attention, Wilson was selected to the same All-American backfield as Grange and Nevers in 1925. It was a sportswriter named Grantland Rice who took notice of Wilson and selected him to the same Collier's Magazine squad as the more-heralded players.

Wilson was there to lead Washington to a 22-0 victory against USC in the first meeting with the Trojans. He guided the Huskies to Washington's first Rose Bowl appearance. And it was Wilson who led Washington to a 13-0 win against Nevers and Stanford in 1925 before a record crowd of 35,000.

Wilson was the first of many legendary players to don the Purple and Gold. Take a look at today's NFL rosters and you'll find only three schools that have produced more professional players. Through the years Washington's rosters have been littered with All-Americans, All-Coast performers and All-Pac-10 picks.

What do the names Warren Moon, Steve Pelluer, Hugh Millen, Chris Chandler and Cary Conklin have in common? They're all former Husky signal callers who went on to excel in the NFL.

Then there's the legends like Don Heinrich and Sonny Sixkiller — players

The Bowl Tradition

Over the last 25 years, Washington ranks fourth in terms of winning percentage among teams which have made at least 10 bowl appearances. Here's a look at that list:

1.	Arizona State	9-2	.818
2.	Florida State	12-3-1	.781
3.	UCLA	9-3-1	.731
4.	Washington	10-4	.714
5.	Oklahoma	12-5-1	.694

who captivated an entire region of the country with their Saturday afternoon exploits. The list goes on and on.

Great games? Washington has played in plenty of them. There's been 22 bowl game appearances over the years, including 14 in James' 18-year tenure at Washington. The Huskies have made 13 showings in the grandest of all postseason contests, the Rose Bowl.

The 1960 affair in Pasadena is considered a major turning point in Washington's history. Resurrected under Owens supervision, Washington's "Purple Gang" won the league title and the unenviable task of facing sixth-ranked Wisconsin in the Rose Bowl. Considered underdogs, the Huskies pinned a 44-8 thrashing on the Badgers. That victory also signaled a switch from the Big Ten's dominance at the annual event.

A decade later an untested sophomore named Sixkiller guided Washington to a surprisingly easy 42-16 victory against Michigan State and went on to etch his name in the Huskies record books and the hearts of its fans.

Warren Moon was on hand when the Huskies did the impossible, rallying from a 27-14 deficit with 3:01 to play and Washington State knocking at Washington's endzone to steal a victory in the always-exciting Apple Cup series.

Then, as a senior, Moon led Washington to its first Rose Bowl win in 14 years, again beating the Wolverines.

There was Steve Pelluer hitting eight consecutive passes to rally Washington from 14 points down in the fourth quarter to defeat Michigan 25-24 in 1983 at Husky Stadium. Who will every forget the memorable 1985 Orange Bowl when Washington benefited from a penalty as a result of Oklahoma's Boomer Sooner mascot wagon appeared on the field prematurely. The Huskies turned the game around with 14 straight points for a 28-17 victory.

Fans on hand to see Washington's fired-up defense blank USC 31-0 in 1990 will never forget the fever pitch of Husky football that fateful Saturday afternoon in Seattle.

Then there's the entire 1991 season when Washington fielded one of the greatest teams in the history of West Coast football to pull off an undefeated season and win a national championship.

In 1992, he Huskies ran a winning streak to 22 games. Only three dozen teams have ever managed to accomplish that feat. Last season, Washington established a school-record 17-game home winning streak by winning its first four games in Husky Stadium.

And consider this, Washington is one of just three teams to have reeled of consecutive winning seasons for the last 11 years. That type of consistent effort on the field has been the trademark of Husky teams.

Jim Lambright is the best man to continue Washington's winning tradition. He's been a part of the Huskies' winning legacy as an all-coast player, a renowned assistant coach for 24 years and now as the head coach.

Washington football has another unique element — Husky Stadium. Where else in the country can you boat to a game and have your tailgate party near the shores of Union Bay. Fans can sit in a stadium seat and view Seattle's skyline, Lake Washington or Mt. Rainier.

With a capacity of 72,500, Husky Stadium is also one of the loudest arenas in the nation. The largest on-campus stadium on the West Coast, nearly 70 percent of the seats in the dual-deck structure are located between the endzones. Just how intimidating can it be for an opponent? An ESPN sideline crew registered crowd noise readings of 135 decibels during the 1992 Nebraska game.

Hugh McElhenny's slashing style established him as the top running back on the West Coast in the early 1950s.

Washington's football program has come a long way since its early playing days on the rocky confines of Denny Field. The Huskies' program is steeped in tradition and history, of colorful figures and courageous exploits. None of it has come easy. But thanks to the dedication of the young men who have long donned Washington's Purple and Gold uniforms, Husky football has become a special part of America's favorite fall pastime.

Denny Field, which still exists on the main University grounds, has been the only other on-campus home for Husky football games.

Husky Historical

Here's a look at some of the more interesting aspects of the University of Washington, its athletic history and the Huskies' proud football tradition.

APPLE CUP — The annual battle between Washington and cross-state rival Washington State is known as the Apple Cup. For a look at the history of the series, see page 288 of this guide.

ASTRO TURF — Washington became the first major college in the country to use AstroTurf as an outdoor surface, covering its stadium in the summer of 1968 when it replaced its old sod field with the new synthetic surface at a cost of $300,000. The advantages of the new surface were said to be a reduction in the number of injuries because of the uniformity of the surface and the fact that the turf would be unharmed by rain.

ATTENDANCE — With a capacity of 72,500, Husky Stadium ranks as one of the largest college football venues in the country. Last year Washington ranked 12th nationally in attendace with a total gate of 429,401 and an average of 71,567 per game. The Huskies have over 67,000 season ticket holders for the 1994 season.

BAND DAY — Band Day is held annually at a Husky home football game. A number of high school bands from Washington participate. Each band is introduced and plays a tune during pre-game warmups. The high school bands then join the Husky Marching Band for the playing of the national anthem and a halftime show. Band Day is scheduled for San Jose State game this year on October 8.

BIG W — The Big W Club is a special interest group of the UW Alumni Association consisting of Husky letterwinners that have completed their athletic eligibility.

BISSELL — For 22 years the Husky Band program was under the guidance of Bill Bissell until he retired last June. He was responsible for the coordination and direction of all phases of the Husky band and rally squad programs, and the choreography of the colorful halftime shows at all Husky home games. As long as Bissell was leading the Husky Band, you could count on hearing a few renditions of "Louie, Louie" and "Tequila." He was also one of the great showmen among college band directors. Husky football fans watched Bissel's bands recreate the Mount St. Helens eruption, stage horse races and wear outrageous costumes. Biseel, along with former Husky cheerleader Rob Weller, are credited with creating "The Wave" (see The Wave).

BOB ABEL — Although Washington lost its Husky Stadium dedication game to Dartmouth 28-7 on Nov. 27, 1920, Bob Abel holds the distinction of scoring the first touchdown in the new facility. He grabbed a blocked Dartmouth field goal attempt and raced 63 yards for the score.

BOW DOWN TO WASHINGTON — Washington's fight song 'Bow Down to Washington' was written by Lester Wilson in 1913. Following are the lyrics to the tune, which Husky students and alumni proudly sing at Husky sporting events.

Bow Down to Washington,
Bow Down to Washington,
Mighty Are the Men
Who Wear the Purple and the Gold,
Joyfully We Welcome Them
Within the Victors Fold.
We Will Carve Their Names
In the Hall of Fame
To Preserve the Memory of Our Devotion.
Heaven Help the Foes of Washington;
They're Trembling at the Feet
Of Mighty Washington,
The Boys Are There With Bells,
Their Fighting Blood Excels,
It's Harder to Push Them Over the Line
Than Pass the Dardanelles.
Victory the Cry of Washington...
Leather Lungs Together
With a Rah! Rah! Rah!
And O'er the Land
Our Loyal Band
Will Sing the Glory
Of Washington Forever.

BRUCE LEE — While Washington has many alumni who are famous for their athletic exploits, there are also some who have gained fame in the entertainment industry. Among them is martial arts legend and movie star Bruce Lee. The movie "Dragon", which chronicled Lee's life, premiered in Seattle during the spring of 1993.

CANADIANS — Though the Huskies feature three foreign players on their current roster - Ebinabo, Ovuru (Nigeria), Mikko LaValley (Germany) and Mike Reed (England) - there are none from neighboring Canada. Despite that, several Canadians have left their mark on the football program in recent years. In February 1992, engineering students from the University of British Columbia broke into the Graves Building trophy case after hours and removed the 1992 Rose Bowl trophy. After two days of confusion by UW officials and campus police, the trophy turned up north of the border at a party to celebrate the completion of the UBC engineering department's initiation week. The students completed the prank as a part of initiation procedures. The trophy was returned to the university soon after and is now located in a new trophy area in the lobby of the Graves Building. The new trophy case is considered to be "Canadian-proof."

THE CANDIDATE — In the race for postseason football honors, Lincoln Kennedy had timing on his side in 1992. Not only did the Husky All-American offensive tackle share the names of two former Presidents, his senior year also came during a Presidential election year. His promotional slogan was, "Could There be a Better Candidate? Lincoln Kennedy for All-American."

CENTENNIAL SQUAD — Washington celebrated 100 years of Husky football during the 1990 season. A Washington centennial team was selected by alumni, members of the media and long-time season ticket holders. Here is that team:

Offense

WR	Paul Skansi	'79-82
WR	Lonzell hill	'83-86
OG	Max Starcevich	'34-36
OG	Chuck Allen	'58-59
OT	Vic Markov	'35-37
OT	Arnie Wenmeister	'42, 46-47
C	Blair Bush	'75-77
QB	Don Henrich	'49-50, '52
RB	George Wilson	'23-25
RB	Hugh McElhenny	'49-51
RB	Joe Steele	'76-79
PK	Chuck Nelson	'80-82

Defense

DL	Paul Schwegler	'29-31
DL	Doug Martin	'76-79
DL	George Strugar	'55-56
DL	Ron Holmes	'82-84
LB	Rick Redman	'62-64
LB	Michael Jackson	'75-78
LB	Joe Kelly	'83-85
DB	Nesby Glasgow	'75-78
DB	Ray Horton	'79-82
DB	Calvin Jones	70-72
DB	Dick Sprague	'50-52
P	Rich Camarillo	'79-80

CHEERLEADERS — There will be six new faces and 10 familar ones that make up the 1994-95 Husky rally squad. The group of returning rally squad members includes: Krista deBoer, a junior from Everett (Bremerton H.S.); Beth Johnson, a junior from Redmond (Redmond H.S.); Julie Lorrain, a senior from Yakima (Eisenhower H.S.): Marci Nakanishi, a junior from Seattle (Iolani School); Rebecca Richards, a junior from Federal Way (Decatur H.S.); Melissa Sweet, a sophomore from Lynnwood (Mariner H.S.); Traci Toolen, a junior from Lake Forest, Calif. (El Toro H.S.); Walker Leiser, a junior from Portland, Ore. (Wilson H.S.); Jon Marashi, a sophomore from Bellevue (Interlake H.S.) and Daniel Smith, a junior from Bremerton (Olympic H.S.).The newcomers to this year's squad include: Shelley Pennell from Richland; Travis Anderson from Woodinville; Brian Antich from Aberdeen; Chris Brown from Vancouver; Tony Paterson from Ontario, Calif. and Aaron Rimmer from Bellevue.

CHIEF JOSEPH — On November 20, 1903, Chief Joseph, the famous Nez Perce Indian, made his first visit to Seattle and attended the Washington-Nevada football game. Chief Joseph spent most of the game on the sidelines smoking a cigar. Asked his impressions of the game, which was won by Washington 2-0, he said, "I saw a lot of white men almost fight today. I do not think this good. This may be all right, but I believe it is not. I feel pleased that Washington won the game. Those men I should think would break their legs and arms, but they did not get mad. I had a good time at the game with my white friends."

CLASSES — Autumn quarter classes at the University of Washington begin Monday, September 26, 1994. The last day of instruction is Wednesday, December 7, with finals being conducted December 8-15.

THE COLLAPSE — No, this does not refer to a team blowing a lead or a late-season failure. The collapse remembered by most people associated with Washington athletics occured February 25, 1987 during construction of the second deck of the north grandstand at Husky Stadium. One completed section toppled because of construction site errors, not stadium design, but no one was injured in the accident. The project, however, was still completed in time for the opening game of the 1987 season.

DAWG BITE — Dawg Bite, the final event of Homecoming Week, is a rain-proof tailgate held prior to the Homecoming football game in Hec Edmundson Pavilion. The pre-game Homecoming rally and foodfest, sponsored by the Alumni Association and KOMO Radio, is complete with refreshments, entertainment and UW personalities. Proceeds from the event are donated to the Food Bank. This year it is scheduled for October 29, prior to the Oregon State contest.

DAWG DASH — The Dawg Dash Fun Run and Walk, now in its ninth year, kicks off Husky Homecoming Week. The 6k run winds through the University campus and ends in Husky Stadium The race is sponsored by the Alumni Association and the Student Alumni Connection. This year's race is scheduled for Saturday, October 22.

DENNY FIELD — Washington's only other on-campus stadium site for football was Denny Field, located in the north section of campus near 45th street. Denny Field is occupied today by a grass field and tennis, volleyball and basketball courts for student use. The area is bordered by Hutchinson Hall to the south and dormitories to the north and east.

ENDOWMENT — In 1992 a group of 10 former Washington football player pooled their resources to form the UW Professional Athlete Athletic Scholarship Team. The program is designed to provide UW academic scholarships for inner city high school students in the Seattle and Tacoma area through the University's Office of Minority Affairs. The players involved in the program are: Mario Bailey (Houston Oilers); Chris Chandler and Ed Cunningham (Phoenix Cardinals); Donald Jones and Siupeli Malamala (New York Jets); Le-Lo Lang and Greg Lewis (Denver Broncos); Charles Mincy (Kansas City Chiefs); Jeff Pahukoa (Los Angeles Rams) and Aaron Pierce (New York Giants).

FIFTH QUARTER — The fifth quarter is a post-game gathering of contributors in the Hec-Edmundson Pavilion Addition. About 800 to 900 contributors gather for some post-game tailgating that includes the band, a raffle and comments from head coach Jim Lambright.

54-FEVER — Husky fans can keep abreast of UW athletics all season long by calling the Husky Fever Hotline at 54-FEVER (543-3837). Callers are greated by a menu of options to choose from for information about sports that are currently in season.

THE FIRST GAME - Washington won its first football game on December 17, 1892, beating the Seattle Athletic Club 14-0 at Madison Park. J. Harvard Darlington played quarterback, and Frank Atkins, the team's fullback, scored the first touchdown in school history on a five-yard run in the second quarter. Atkins was probably Washington's best all-around athlete. In addition to playing football, Atkins set a number of UW track and field records, including triple jump (41-10), pole vault (7-6 1/2) and high jump (5-1 1/2).

THE FIRST SELLOUT — Washington's first ever sellout (21,500) at Husky Stadium came October 20, 1923 when the Huskies played Southern California for the first time. As a result of Husky fans snapping up all available tickets, the Seattle P-I's radio station, KFJC, arranged for the first radio broadcast of a UW game. Washington won the game 22-0 as George Wilson scored a touchdown and set up another with a 72-yard kick return.

GIL DOBIE — Legend has it that Gil Dobie, who coached the Huskies to a 58-0-3 record between 1908-1916, was one of the most tyrannical and pessimistic coaches to ever stalk a sideline. It seems everyone, except his players, had a dislike for Dobie's less-than-optimistic attitude. But to Dobie's credit, that pessimism was very calculated. Once, after one of his players had scampered 90 yards for a touchdown, Dobie told the would-be hero, "If you were any good at all you would do it more often."

GOODWIN — The first full-time football coach at Washington was W.B. Goodwin. He took on the task in 1892. Not only was he the first football coach at Washington, he was the first coach for any athletic team at the school. Goodwin was a member of the Eastern College Alumni team that faced Washington in its inaugural game in 1889.

HAIRBREATH HUSKY — When Seattle Post-Intelligencer artist Bob McCausland first began a Washington football cartoon in 1959, his main character didn't have a name, walked on all fours and looked a little ferocious. That soon changed as his main character, the skinny, upright Hairbreath Husky sporting a booster hat and a large letterman's jacket appeared each week during the football season for the next 22 years. The newspaper carried two Hairbreth cartoons weekly, one before and one after each game. Those cartoons were enjoyed by coaches, team members, fans and even opposing teams until 1981 when the P-I stopped carrying Hairbreadth Husky. A collection including 240 of McCausland's best cartoon were published in a 1982 book entitled "Hairbreath Husky."

HEC EDMUNDSON PAVILION — Situated just north of Husky Stadium is Hec Edmundson Pavilion, built in 1927, just seven years after the completion of the stadium. The venerable fieldhouse is home to Husky men's and women's basketball, and features an indoor track, field event practice areas, batting cages, a gymnastics training room, weight room, racquet ball courts and the Husky Pool. Hec Edmundson was host to the 1949 and 1952 Final Fours.

HOMECOMING — Washington will play host to Oregon State in this year's Homecoming game October 29. The Huskies all-time Homecoming record stands at 41-35-4. The Huskies beat Oregon 21-6 in last year's homecoming contest. The team the Huskies have played most often in the Homecoming game is California. The two teams have met 19 times.

HOME FIELD — Washington's football teams have played at nine different sites in and around Seattle during the 103 years of Husky football before landing permanently in Husky Stadium. Those locations include: 1.) 14th and Jefferson; 2.) 18th and Jackson; 3.) at the old downtown campus where the Metropolitan Theater used to be; 4.) Downtown on Howell Street where the Manhattan Apartments used to be; 5.) In West Seattle; 6.) In Madison Park at the end of the old Madison Street street-car line.7.) At a YMCA Park that used to be on Jefferson Street; 8.) At a former recreation park in north Seattle; 9.) At Denny Field on the UW campus. When the campus was downtown, the team's practice field was where the Four Seasons Olympic Hotel now stands.

Two popular figures at Husky football games are Napoleon Kaufman and Washington mascot King Redoubt.

THE HUB — The HUB, which stands for Husky Union Building, is Washington's student union. It is a social, cultural, recreational and service center for students and the University community with dining facilities, University Book Store branch, auditorium, bank branch, ticket office, offices for student organizations, barber shop, meeting rooms, lounges, microcomputer laboratory, ballroom and game rooms.

HUSKIES-COUGARS — It's hard to believe, but there are five known players who suited up for both Washington and Washington State. Call them Couskies. The five — Jay Stoves, Bill Ward, Tag Christensen, Verne Oliver and Wally Kramer — all began their college careers at Washington State. During World War II the Navy and Marines transferred their new enlistees to Washington for the equivalent of officer candidate training. Washington State state's football program, already depleted by military call-ups, suspended its program until 1945. Those events saw that quintet playing for the Huskies in 1943, after donning the Crimson and Gray of WSU the previous season. Washington went on to the Rose Bowl that season, losing to USC 29-0.

KING REDOUBT — King Redoubt is the eighth Alaskan Malamute to have served as the Husky mascot. He leads the team out of the tunnel before every home game and wanders the sidelines during the contest accompanied by trainer Kim Cross and several of his children who also act as handlers. The previous mascots were Frosty I (1922-29), Frosty II (1930-36), Wasky (1946),

Wasky II (1947-53), Ski (1954-57), Denali (1958), King Chinook (1959-68), Regent Denali (1969-80) and Sundodger (1981-91). The Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity acquired the first dog, Frosty I and acted as its handlers. King Redoubt also did his share of community service last year, appearing for the D.A.R.E. (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) program in Seattle

KOMO — KOMO AM 1000, 'Your Husky Station' is the flagship of the Husky Radio Network, providing live broadcasts of every Husky football game, home and away. Play-by-play announcer Bob Rondeau is joined by color analyst Chuck Nelson and sideline reporter Bill Swartz in the station's award-winning coverage of Husky football. Rondeau also handles play-by-play for all Husky men's basketball games, while Swartz calls the action on KOMO's coverage of the women's basketball Pac-10 Conference games.

LOU GELLERMANN — The public address voice at Husky Stadium since 1985 has belonged to Lou Gellermann, a 1958 UW graduate. Gellermann, whose trademark "Hello Dawg Fans" introduction echoes throughout Husky Stadium each gameday during the fall, was a four-year rower at Washington, and is a member of the Husky Hall of Fame as a part of the 1958 crew which rowed against the Soviets in Moscow.

LOUD — With nearly 70 percent of the 72,500 seats located between the end zones, Husky Stadium can be one of the loudest gridirons in the nation. How loud? During the 1992 Nebraska game, ESPN's sideline crew recorded a decibel reading of 135 during the course of the action.

MARRIED HUSKIES — Seven current Huskies have tied the knot and are married. They are Ryan Bradley, Ernie Conwell, Trevor Highfield, Andrew Peterson, David Richie, Adam Sharp and Richard Thomas.

THE MOAT — Athletic teams take great pride in protecting their home turf, so what would be better to symbolize that sense of battle in the Huskies' fortress than a moat? The Husky Stadium moat, however, is not constructed outside the stadium to ward of intruders, but inside to catch water runoff. The moat, surrounding three quarters of the stadium between the seats and the running track, was part of the original construction of the stadium in 1920, and was designed to help drain what amounts to 36,000 gallons of water from one inch of rainfall in the massive stadium. Though not designed to capture enemy personnel, the moat did claim one victim in 1992 — the Stanford Cardinal tree, which fell in while cavorting prior to the UW-Stanford matchup on Halloween.

MONTLAKE BRIDGE — A popular vantage point for viewing the Windermere Cup/Opening Day crew races, the Montlake Bridge spans the Lake Washington Ship Canal, known as the Montlake Cut, just south of Husky Stadium. The drawbridge opens frequently during boating season, allowing boat travel between Lake Washington and Portage Bay, causing traffic backups on Montlake Boulevard.

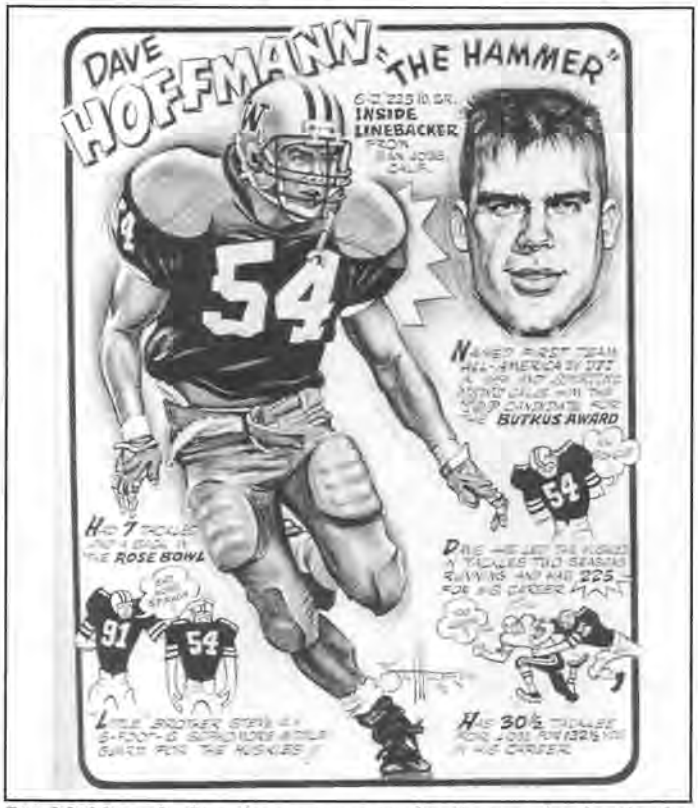
MOLDREM — Long-time Seattle artist Stud Moldrem has been providing cartoon drawings for the Washington football program since the 1950s. Every week Moldrem's artwork portrays a Husky senior and some interesting facts about their playing career. Moldrem's daughter, Lisa, is the Washington women's tennis coach.

MONTLAKE BRIDGE — A popular vintage point for viewing the Windermere Cup/Opening Day crew races, the Montlake Bridge spans the Lake Washington Ship Canal, known as Montlake Cut, just south of Husky Stadium. The drawbridge opens frequently during the boating season, allowing boat travel between Lake Washington and Portage Bay, causing traffic backups on Montlake Boulevard.

MT. RAINIER — The tallest mountain in the state of Washington, Mt. Rainier, rises to 14,410 feet in elevation, and is visible from the UW campus on a clear day. The view from Red Square toward Drumheller Fountain offers a stunning glimpse of the mountain, looking down Rainier Vista. Popular for its many hiking trails, the mountain has also been scaled by former Husky Head Coach Don James, who climbed to the top in 1983.

NFL DRAFT— NFL teams have continued to find former Huskies very attractive in the annual college draft, selecting 18 Huskies in the past three years and signing many more as free agents. Washington had 11 players selected in the 1992 draft, tying the previous high set in 1983. According to 1993 NFL opening-day rosters, Washington had 32 players in the league, fourth-best among Division I schools.

NICHOLS — Ralph Nichols was probably the first gridiron star at Washington. In 1893 he led the "Purple and Gold" in its first intercollegiate game against Stanford. The Cardinals won handily 40-0. Still, Nichols was impressive enough to catch the eye of Stanford's student manager who offered him a "free ride" if he would consider transferring to the Palo Alto school. That Stanford student manager turned out to be Herbert Hoover, who went on to become the 31st President of the country. Nichols captained the team in 1894 and went on to serve as coach in 1895.



Stu Moldrem's drawings are a regular feature in the Husky gameday programs.

NORTHWEST RIVALS — Since Washington began intercollegiate play in 1889, some of its biggest rivals have been Northwest foes Washington State, Oregon State and Oregon. The Huskies hold an all-time record of 156-79-15 in contests with those schools, maintaining an edge for Northwest bragging rights.

NO. 1 MATCHUPS — Since the Associated Press began its national collegiate football poll in 1936, Washington has faced the top-ranked team on six occasions. Here are the results of those contests:

November 6, 1937	at California	T	0-0
December 2, 1939	at Southern Cal	L	7-9
October 21, 1967	Southern Cal	L	6-23
October 19, 1968	at Southern Cal	L	7-14
October 4, 1969	Ohio State	L	14-41
October 21, 1972	at Southern Cal	L	7-34

In addition to playing against six top ranked teams, Washington has entered 15 games as the top-ranked team itself. Here are the results of those games, in which the Huskies are 13-2:

September 18, 1982	at Arizona	W	23-13
September 25, 1982	Oregon	W	37-21
October 2, 1982	San Diego St.	W	46-25
October 9, 1982	California	W	50-7
October 16, 1992	at Oregon State	W	34-17
October 23, 1982	Texas Tech	W	10-3
October 20, 1984	Oregon	W	17-10
October 27, 1984	Arizona	W	28-12
November 3, 1984	California	W	44-14
November 10, 1984	at Southern Cal	L	7-16
October 3, 1992	Southern Cal	W	17-10
October 10, 1992	California	W	35-16
October 17, 1992	at Oregon	W	24-3
October 24, 1992	Pacific	W	31-7
November 7, 1992	at Arizona	L	3-16

OKTOBERFEST — Oktoberfest, German festival, is held prior to a Husky home football game in Hec-Edmundson Pavilion each season. Sponsored by the Young Alumni Club it has become a Husky pre-game tradition. The 14th annual Oktoberfest celebration is scheduled for October 15, prior to the Arizona State contest.

PEGGY WATSON — Interviews with head coach Jim Lambright can be made through the sports information office or scheduled with Peggy Watson in the football office at (206) 543-2223.

THE PENALTY — Early in the fourth quarter of the 1985 Orange Bowl, Washington was involved in one of the strangest spectacles in college football history. After Tim Lashar kicked a 22-yard field goal to give Oklahoma a 17-14 lead, a penalty was called on the Sooners which nullified the score.The penalty was on Oklahoma's mascot, the Sooner Schooner, a Conestoga wagon powered by two tiny ponies. The Sooner Schooner's driver, Rex Harris, apparently didn't see the flag and charged on the field for a brief celebration. The officials promptly called a 15-yard unsportsmanlike conduct penalty on the Sooner Schooner and tacked it on the other penalty. The 20-yard setback made Lashar's next attempt a 42-yarder, which was blocked by Washington's Tim Peoples. Inspired by the momentum swing, Washington went on to score two touchdowns in less than 60 seconds around the five-minute mark, and won the game, 28-17.

PICTURE DAY — Husky fans have an opportunity to meet the players, get autographs and take pictures at the annual Picture Day. This year's event is scheduled for Saturday, August 13 at Husky Stadium. The Huskies take their annual team photo at this event. Media are welcome, but this event is primarily intended as an opportunity for the fans to meet their favorite players. The event usually attracts several thousand fans.

PMS COLORS — The PMS numbers for the Huskies' colors are 124 (gold) and 267 (purple). Among Division I institutions, only East Carolina and Louisiana State University have the same specific color combination.

POLLS — Here's a look at some of the breakdowns when Washington plays a ranked opponent, or the Huskies are nationally ranked going into a contest. All results are compiled using the Associated Press weekly college football rankings.

UW's record while being ranked: 152-56-4 (.726)
UW's record against ranked teams: 56-91-6 (.386)
UW's record against top-10 teams: 17-54-3 (.250)
UW's record against number 1 teams: 0-5-1 (.083)
Jim Lambright's record while being ranked: 5-4 (.555)
Jim Lambright's record against ranked teams: 2-2 (.500)

POPULATION — In 1993 Seattle boasted a population of 527,700. King County listed a population base of 1,587,700. The neighboring counties of Pierce and Snohomish had a combined population of 1,148,600.

PRESS BOX — The Husky Stadium press box is suspended from the roof of the south upper deck, making it susceptible to the shaking and rumbling caused by cheering fans in the seats below. Television replays of exciting plays in the stadium often display this shaking through unsteady camera shots. First-time visitors to the press box are warned to be prepared for any weather condition. It's also a good idea to bring a pair of binoculars.

Sonny Sixkiller not only had his own ballad, he also starred with Burt Reynolds in "The Longest Yard."

PRESS CONFERENCES — Jim Lambright will hold his weekly press conference every Monday mid-morning during the 1994 season. Teleconference participation can also be arranged by calling the UW Media Relations Office at (206) 543-2230. An atttempt will also be made to arrange a teleconference with the visiting coach. A buffet lunch will be served and several Husky players will be available following Lambright's comments.

PURPLE AND GOLD — Washington's school colors, Purple and Gold, were adopted in 1892 by vote of a student assembly on the original downtown Seattle campus. One patriotic group favored Red, White and Blue as the University's colors, reasoning that "since the school was named after the father of our country, our national colors should be the school's colors." The opposing faction argued that national colors should not be degraded for such everyday use. The debate was ended when a young English instructor, Miss Frazier, stood and read the following excerpt from Lord Byron's "Destruction of Sennacherib."

"The Assyrian come down like the wolf on the fold,
And his cohorts were gleaming in purple and gold;
And the sheen of their spears was like stars on the sea,
And the blue wave rolls nightly on deep Galilee."

THE PURPLE GANG — There was no series of teams in Washington's first century of football that was more permanently fixed in Husky football lore thant the Purple Gang that Jim Owens unleashed on the Pacific slope in 1959 and 1960. Led by a one-eyed quarterback, Bob Schloredt, and a defense that was strictly for "Adults Only," the Purple Gang became Washington's first back-to-back Rose Bowl champions and sparked a renaissance in West Coast football that lasts until the present day. The two teams combined for a 20-2 record. The 1959 team became the only entire football team enducted into the Husky Hall of Fame in 1994. Individuals inducted before then were Schloredt, Roy McKasson, George Fleming and Don McKeta.

RAIN — Sorry to destroy the myth, but Seattle is far from being the rain capital of the nation. While Seattle does experience frequent showers, its total annual rainfall ranks only 44th in the United States, at about 36 inches. Compare that with Alaska's Capital City, Juneau, which receives 120 inches a year, or Ketchikan, Ak., which soaks up 169 inches in an average year. But, Seattle will claim the title of being the home of Grunge Rock.

New York City	40.3 inches annual rainfall
Washington, D.C.	39 inches annual rainfall
Seattle	36.2 inches annual rainfall
Chicago	34.5 inches annual rainfall

REAGAN, MICHAEL — Michael Reagan has been a fixture on the Washington athletic scene for his artistic contributions. The University's director of design, graphic services and forms management, Reagan provided the artwork for this year's football media guide cover. His previous works have included prints commerating Washington's Pac-10 championships, former head coach Don James and the centennial poster celebrating 100 years of Husky football. Reagan has done numerous pieces of art for professional sports teams and individual players. His artistic contributions to charity events have accounted for thousands of dollars in support.

RECORD DAY — On November 25, 1950 Washington's Hugh McElhenny and Don Heinrich had a record day in a 52-21 victory over Washington State. McElhenny romped for an all-time school record 296 yards and scored a modern-day record five touchdowns. Heinrich set a then national completion record with his 134th of the season. How Heinrich's record came about constitutes an an intriguing piece of Husky lore. With Heinrich one completion away from breaking the record, Washington State had the ball with time running out. So the Huskies decided to let the Cougars score so the Huskies could get the ball and give it to Heinrich. On the next play, WSU's Dick Gambold tossed a 21-yard touchdown while Husky defensive back Dick Sprague did nothing to stop it. On the subsequent Washington series, Heinrich completed a pass to get the record and moments later McElhenny got loose for an 84-yard touchdown run to break the then single-season conference record of 1,010 rushing yards.

RED SQUARE — The well-traveled Central Plaza of the University is known on campus as Red Square because of its red brick paving. The site of the annual homecoming pep rally, Red Square borders the Administration Building, Suzzallo Library, Odegaard Undergraduate Library, Kane Hall and Meany Hall. The red brick expanse forms the roof of a 1,000-car underground parking garage built in 1971.

RICK HUEGLI — Washington's strength program is one of the tops in the country, largely because of the work of Rick Huegli. Huegli, the UW strength coach, was honored in 1992 as Strength Coach of the Year by the National Strength and Conditioning Association. Along with assistants Bill Gillespie and Stephanie Armitage-Johnson, Huegli is responsible for coordinating the conditioning and strength programs not only for the football team, but for the rest of the athletes in Washington's 23 intercollegiate sports.

THE ROUT — Enjoying a 30-pound weight advantage per man, Washington recorded its biggest win in school history on October 25, 1919 with a 120-0 drubbing of Whitman before 5,000 spectators at Denny Field. Washington sprinted to a school record 19 touchdowns, seven of which were scored by halfback Ervin Dailey. On his TDs alone, Dailey amassed 350 yards rushing, which would have been a school record if official statistics had been kept. The game featured one notable amusement: In the second half, Washington's Gus Pope somehow tore a huge hole in his pants and the rout had to be put on hold while trainer Hec Edmundson hurried on the field to stitch the tackles's trousers back together.

THE SNEAKERS GAME — After the 1932 season, Washington coach Jimmy Phelan accepted a challenge by the West Seattle Athletic Club Yellow Jackets, an assortment of former collegians and semi-pros, to play a "City Championship" game for charity. The day before the game, Phelan noticed during a workout, that freezing temperatures had turned the field practically into an ice rink. Phelan then purchased three dozen tennis shoes for his players to wear the next day. With the Yellowjackets slip-sliding all over, Washington scored touchdowns in bunches. In an attempt to keep their feet beneath them, all but three West Seattle players were playing without shoes on the frozen ground. It didn't help as Washington won 66-0.

Last spring Sonny Boy was again the victim of a statuenapping. The resilient Husky mascot again survived to return to campus.

SONNY SIXKILLER — The popularity of former Husky All-America quarterback Sonny Sixkiller was so great that a local radio disc jockey wrote a song called "The Ballad of Sonny Sixkiller" that remained on the charts in Seattle for weeks in 1971. A sampling of the lyrics follows:

He was born one morning 'neath the sun and the heat.
The proud grandson of an Indian chief.
The Cherokee tribe from which he came
Was the first to learn of his famous name.
Sonny Sixkiller.
He grew up strong into a proud young man.
Determined breed, he left his land.
Put down his arrows, hung up his shield.
And became a warrior on the football field.
Sonny Sixkiller.
-"The Ballad of Sonny Sixkiller"
Thunder Tummy Records (BMI)

SPORTS ILLUSTRATED — Two players in Husky history have been honored with an appearance on the cover of Sports Illustrated while at Washington: quarterbacks Sonny Sixkiller and Bob Schloredt. Sixkiller graced the cover October 4, 1971 during his junior year, while Scholredt appeared as a senior October 3, 1960.

SPRING GAME — The Purple & White Game, the annual scrimmage that signals a close to the spring practice season, is scheduled for April 22 in 1995.

THE STREAK — Washington has its place etched in the college record books in one category that may never be overtaken. From the last game of the 1907 season, until the 1917 campaign, Washington never lost a game during a 63-game stretch, winning 59 and recording four ties. The Sun Dodgers, as they were known at the time, tied Idaho 0-0 in the final game of 1907 and did not taste defeate until California toppled Washington 27-0 in 1917. During that run, Washington also pieced together a 39-game winning streak, the second longest in NCAA history.

STUDENT-ATHLETE SERVICES — The term student-athlete is taken seriously at Washington. To lend the necessary support for its student-athletes, Washington offers the Student-Athlete Services department. Located in the basement of the Graves Building, Student-Athlete Services is coordinated by Gertrude Peoples, now in her 23rdyear at the University. With an annual budget of over $600,000, Student-Athlete Services offers one-on-one tutoring, group study tables, computer stations and self-help courses. A large full-time and tutorial staff offer a full range of academic support.

SUN DODGERS — Washington's teams were called Sun Dodgers before the 1920s, originating when a college magazine of the same name was banned from campus and, in protest, students adopted the name for their teams. But the Sun Dodgers didn't do much for the Northwest's image, so a committee set out in 1921 to pick a new nickname. The decision came down to Malamutes and Huskies. The committee felt those were appropriate because of Seattle's nearness to the Alaskan frontier. The Husky was voted the most appropriate.

SUNNY BOY — Before the 1920's, Washington's football mascot was a three-and-a-half foot wooden statue named Sunny Boy, a sculptured replica of the happy-faced character, Sunny, who appeared in the University's humor magazine Sun Dodger. Maurice S. Holcomb, the artist who conveived Sunny, said the statue was meant to be a symbol of "Joe College" - books under one arm, a football under the other. But when Washington changed its mascot in 1923, Sunny Boy disappeared and was not discovered until 23 years later in South Bend, Ind. The statue had been removed from the trophy room of a university fraternity house as a prank and shipped to South Bend by the prankster to keep it in hiding. It was returned in 1948 and presented to UW officials at the Notre Dame game and has resided ever since at the UW Alumni Association. However, Sunny Boy was abducted again in the spring of 1994 in what was believed to be a fraternity prank. He was found a couple days later in Issaquah and once again is back at the Alumni Association.

TAILGATING, HUSKY STYLE — While Husky Stadium fans enjoy the event of tailgating like those at other stadiums, the fans at Washington add a unique element not found elsewhere — tailgating by boat. The stadium's location on the shores of Lake Washington makes it easily accessible by boat from all over the Seattle area, and encourages many fans to use the water to travel to and from games. Members of the Husky crew team ferry fans to and from the shore to catch the action, or a ride home.

TARZAN — Sure, Johnny Weismuller made the role famous, but did you know a Husky was one of the actors who played the famous ape-man? Herman Brix, an outstanding Washington tackle, played Tarzan in the movies during the 1920s. He appeared in a total of 75 movies during his acting career including "Treasure of Sierra Madre" with Humphrey Bogart. Brix was also an outstanding track athlete at Washington, winning the national shot put title in 1927, later setting a world record in the event and eventually earning a silver medal at the 1928 Olympic Games.

TEAM ROOM — After each Husky home game, Coach Jim Lambright will meet with his players in the team room, located midway up the tunnel that leads into Husky Stadium, then addresses the media in the same area once the team has cleared the area. Members of the UW Media Relations staff will be available to bring requested Husky players to the team room.

TELEVISION — Every Washington football game was shown either live or on a delayed basis during the 1993 season. The Huskies appeared nationally on ABC in the Ohio State game. ABC also broadcast the Stanford, California, UCLA and USC games to regional television audiences. Washington appeared on Prime Ticket for the Arizona State game and PrimeSports Northwest broadcast the Huskies' contests against East Carolina, San Jose State, Oregon, Oregon State and Washington State on a delayed basis.

TWO-SPORT ATHLETES — Several members of this year's football squad also share time with another Husky sport for part of the year. Ernie Conwell threw the shot put while Napoleon Kaufman and Dave Janoski ran for the track and field team. Lawyer Milloy and Jeremy Brigham saw action on the baseball diamond.

U-DUB — Written often as UW or U of W, the most common way for Washingtonians to refer to the University of Washington is 'U-Dub' or, even simpler, just 'The U.'

UNIFORMS — Washington's home uniform features purple jerseys, gold pants, black shoes and gold helmets with a purple W and purple face mask. The road uniform features white jerseys and purple pants with the same helmet and shoe combination. The purple pants were introduced in 1989, ironically for a home game, worn with the purple jerseys. The Huskies faced Colorado with all-purple uniforms and lost 45-28. The combination was not used again, but the team continued to wear purple pants on the road with white jerseys, replacing the gold pants.

WASHINGTON WARM-UPS — When the Huskies hit the road, their fans always follow with great support and the Alumni Association sponsors pre-game rallies called Washington Warm-Ups at all Husky away games. The tailgating includes refreshments, entertainment and an opportunity to gather with numerous Husky fans.

THE WAVE — Despite claims by others, the Wave can trace its origin back to Husky Stadium. It was October 31, 1981 when cheerleader Rob Weller (yes, the same Rob Weller who once co-hosted Entertainment Tonight) instructed the Washington crowd to start in one section and make a human wave that rolled around Husky Stadium. The original Wave saw Husky fans remain standing until the a full circle was completed in the stadium. Weller's original idea — working with former Husky band director Bill Bissell — was to have the crowd stand rapidly from the lowest seats to the highest. But they could not effectively coordinate the attempts.

WIN STREAK — A lesser-known fact about Washington's football history is the 39-game winning streak coach Gil Dobie's teams compiled from 1908-1914. The Sun Dodgers, as they were known at the time, outscored their opponents 1,331 to 73. That's an average of 34-2. Washington managed 26 shutouts during the streak and even kept Oregon State off the scoreboard when the Beavers managed a 0-0 tie to end Washington's run. The streak broke the previous mark set by Yale from 1890-93 and stood until Oklahoma reeled off 47 straight wins from 1953-57.

Media Information

Fall Practice: Fall practice begins Monday, August 15. Practices will be held twice a day for the first two weeks at 9:25 a.m. and 3:55 p.m. Regular-season practice time is 3:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Practices are only open to the media for the first 30 minutes. Media practice passes must be obtained from the Media Relations Office, Room 202, Graves Building.

Interview Policy: Contact the Media Relations Office for ALL interview requests. It is very helpful to have 24 hours notice so that the media relations staff will have ample time to make arrangements with players and coaches. Athletes are typically available before or after practice Monday through Thursday on a first-come, first-serve basis. Athletes are not available for interviews on Friday or on Saturday prior to the game.

Press Credentials: All credentials should be requested from Media Relations Director Jim Daves in writing. Requests should be made at least one week prior to the game. Credentials will be mailed if time permits. Credentials are generally mailed to the opponent SID the week before the game to distribute to visiting media covering the game. Credentials not mailed will be available from 9:00 a.m. until noon in the lobby of the Graves Building. After noon they will be left at Will Call at the west side of the stadium. Visiting media should make requests through the visiting Sports Information Director.

Parking: Limited press parking is located in two areas designated N-24, E-11 and C-21. The E-11 lot is located on the northwest perimeter of the stadium. The C-21 lot is an underground garage located due west from Husky Stadium, directly across Montlake Boulevard. Parking passes should be requested through the Media Relations Office. Visiting media should make parking requests through the visiting Sports Information Director.

Photographers: Photo passes are available for accredited news media. They should be ordered in the same manner as press credentials. Visiting media should make requests through the visiting Sports Information Director. Photographers may work from the sidelines in accordance with NCAA rules. In no case may a photographer shoot from in front of either team's bench. No tripods are allowed on the field. Passes should be worn in plain sight. Armbands must be picked up prior to kickoff by showing a photo credential at the table located in the west end zone. Failure to adhere to these regulations, or any interference with play, is reason for expulsion. A box lunch will be served to photographers during halftime at the credential table in the west end zone. Freelance photographers will be subject to University licensing regulations for any images portraying Washington student-athletes and registered trademarks.

Press Box Elevator: The press box elevator is located on the lower level of the south side of Husky Stadium. The elevator is used by members of both teams' coaching staffs, media representatives and handicapped fans. Only accredited media will be allowed access to the elevator and press box. Please arrive at least 90 minutes before kickoff to assure your arrival at the press area well before game time. Media members do have priority elevator use, so be sure to indicate to the elevator attendant that you are a credentialed member of the media.

Services: Quarterly play-by-play accounts, computerized halftime and final statistics, scoring summaries and coaches' quotes will be distributed in the press box, in the postgame interview area and in the Don James Center media workroom following the end of the game. Play-by-play information, statistics, injury updates, etc., will be reported over the internal press box public address system. A light lunch will be served prior to kickoff and at halftime.

Statisticians and Spotters: Qualified statisticians and spotters are available if you contact the Media Relations Office one week in advance of the game. A minimum fee of $35 per person is recommended.

Telephones: The Media Relations Department has two telephone lines installed in the press box (543-2230 and 543-2231). These lines are intended for Media Relations use only. If media members require telephones, please call Pat Jones of the University of Washington Telecommunications Department at (206) 543-0133. The Telecommunications Department will arrange to install phone lines at your expense.

Adapters: Three-pronged adapters are required for operation of electronic equipment and are not provided. Please be sure to bring your own three-pronged adapters.

Postgame Interviews: The elevator will leave the press box level with eight and four minutes remaining in the game for all members of the media wishing to go to the interview area. The elevator will leave again immediately following the end of the game. Media Relations personnel will escort the media to the interview room (assembly room, stadium tunnel) and will bring athletes to the interview room by request. The visiting Sports Information Director determines postgame interview procedure for the visiting locker room. There is an area curtained off outside the visitors lockerroom for media interviews.

Postgame Media Work Area: Media members may work in the press box following games, but are advised to use the Don James Center (north stands) for filing purposes. The Don James Center is enclosed with plenty of work space, phones to use for filing, restroom facilities and soft drinks available. Final statistics and coaches' and player quotes will be available in the work area.

Husky Stadium: Husky Stadium is located five miles north of downtown Seattle and approximately 30 minutes north of Sea-Tac Airport. To get to the stadium from downtown Seattle, take I-5 North and take the 520 East (Bellevue/Kirkland) Exit. Take the Montlake Exit and turn left at the stoplight. Husky Stadium is located off Montlake Boulevard, on the right side of the street. Traffic conditions can become congested prior to gametime and media are advised to arrive at Husky Stadium early.

Mondays with Coach Lambright: Coach Jim Lambright holds a press conference each Monday at mid-morning during the season in the Don James Center, beginning Monday, August 29. The opposing coach will be available via telephone prior to Lambright's comments. All members of the media are invited to attend these weekly conferences. The press conference can also be accessed by teleconference. Call the media relations office to acquire the phone number for the teleconference.

Professional Football Scout Tickets: Pro scouts should contact the Husky Media Relations Office (543-2230) to purchase tickets for scouting purposes.

NCAA Guidelines and the Media

Media members should be aware of several NCAA rules that apply to student-athletes. If there is ever a question if any media-related activity or event including a Washington student-athlete be a possible NCAA violation, contact sports information director Jim Daves to get an interpretation. Areas of concern include:

- Coaches and University officials cannot make comments on prospective student-athletes until they sign a national letter of intent. A coach cannot comment on a prospective student-athlete who verbally commits to an institution.
- Student-athletes are not allowed to write "Diary" columns for print publications.
- Coaches and athletic staff are not permitted to write guest columns for publications.
- Student-athletes are not permitted to film or video "Diary" stories for broadcast.
- Do not ask student-athletes to list or endorse products.
- Photographers cannot provide student-athletes with photographs or slides. The media relations office offers a similar service for student-athletes to purchase photographs.
- Student-athletes may not be used in advertisements or endorsements of products, including media-related publications
- Student-athletes are not permitted to conduct interviews for 1-900 services.

Husky Radio Network

Washington's football games are broadcast live over radio station KOMO, AM-1000, part of the Athletic Department's multi-million dollar radio package. KOMO's radio network includes stations throughout the state of Washington and in Alaska, Idaho and Oregon.

The KOMO radio broadcast team is a veteran, respected group of three individuals. Bob Rondeau, a well-known KOMO sports reporter, provides the play-by-play description of all Husky games, with former All-American Husky place kicker Chuck Nelson providing analysis and color commentary. Sideline reports are provided by KOMO radio's witty sports director, Bill Swartz.

PrimeSports Northwest

PrimeSports Northwest enters its sixth year of extensive coverage of Pac-10 football, and the fifth year of expanded Husky coverage in 1994. The foundation of this coverage includes:

Live Pac-10 Game of the Week

PrimeSports Northwest is the Northwest's partner for the Prime Ticket live Pac-10 game of the week. These live games air at either 3:30 p.m. or 7 p.m. starting Sept. 3. Washington should be featured on one or more broadcasts.

Husky Sunday Night Replays

Every Husky football game can be seen in its entirety on special PrimeSports Northwest replays Sunday nights at 8 p.m. Don Poier and former Husky head coach Don James bring a distinctly local and informed flavor to these broadcasts, as they follow the players and coaches all season long.

Husky Profile

This will be the fifth season of Husky Profile, a one-hour monthly magazine show that feature Washington's athletic department from players and coaches to the support groups behind the scene. Don Poier and Chuck Nelson as co-host bring out the personalities and style that makes Washington's athletic department unique.

PrimeSports Northwest serves 1.9 million households in Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana and Alaska.

The Season Outlook

1994 Season Outlook

The multi-talented Napoleon Kaufman needs 441 rushing yards to become the Washington career leader in that category.

All-American tight end Mark Bruener led the Huskies with 30 receptions and three touchdown grabs last year.

While Pac-10 probation will not allow Washington to compete for the conference championship or a postseason bowl berth, the 1994 football season should be a memorable and historic one for Husky fans.

A Heisman Trophy candidate at tailback, a returning All-American at tight end, a new offensive approach and the return to a quicker, attacking style on defense, all spell excitement for Husky football.

Senior tailback Napoleon Kaufman will continue his assault on the Husky record book after putting up All-America numbers last year with 1,851 all-purpose yards. That total allowed him to top Hugh McElhenny's 42-year-old school record.

He enters his final season needing 441 rushing yards to become Washington's all-time leader in that category. Kaufman can become the school's all-time leader in all-purpose yards even sooner. He needs 402 all-purpose yards to surpass McElhenny for the top spot on that list.

A rare breed of player who has the ability to break a play open every time he touches the ball, Kaufman will display his speedy running abilities as a rusher, pass receiver, punt returner and kickoff returner. The gameplan calls for him to touch the ball up to 30 times per contest. Kaufman scored 14 touchdowns last season to bring his career total to 24. He needs 14 more scores to become Washington's all-time leader. He's the only returning player in the league with two-time all-conference credentials.

Senior tight end Mark Bruener could be the best player at his position in the nation. He led the Huskies last year with 30 receptions and will benefit by opponent linebackers concentrating on stopping Kaufman to get open over the middle. If Bruener can record 20 receptions this season he'll become the all-time leader among Husky tight ends. He enters his final season with 56 career receptions. The consummate position player, Bruener is well-respected by his fellow offensive linemen for his powerful blocking.

The Huskies lost 26 lettermen from last year's 7-4 squad, which posted a 5-3 record in Pac-10 play. A total of 29 letterwinners return to form the nucleus of the team.

Some familiar names will have to be replaced for Washington to post a successful campaign. Backup tailback Beno Bryant, who rushed for 1,741 yards during his career, is missing from the backfield along with reliable fullback Matt Jones. Offensive tackles Pete Pierson (a fifth-round draft pick by Tampa Bay) and Tom Gallagher, along with veteran center Jim Nevelle, are gone from the offensive line. Top tacklers Jamal Fountaine and D'Marco Farr, must be replaced from the defensive line. Last year's starting inside linebacker combination of Hillary Butler and Steve Springstead has also graduated. Two of the toughest players to replace will be the kicking combination of punter John Werdel and place kicker Travis Hanson. Both finished on the career top-10 list for their respective positions after starting most of the last three seasons.

Still, there's plenty of veteran talent, and a couple of young, but untested, classes of players looking to leave their mark at Washington. With a year of experience under his belt directing the program, second-year coach Jim Lambright has some definite plans for improving on last year's results.

"We'd like to be able to take a defense and stretch it in as many ways as you possibly can, making it cover the whole football field," Lambright says. "Defensively, we're looking at dominating the line of scrimmage with the front seven or eight players that are faster and more big-play type players than we had on the field a year ago. Our goal is to be able to swarm running games and passing games with really fine athletes in the front seven, eight, nine or however many we can get near the line of scrimmage and have a chance to make big plays."

Lambright feels Kaufman's presence will have a ripple effect on the entire team.

"There has to be a Heisman Trophy commitment from your offense. It's a highlight of everybody in the whole group. That is totally essential if you're going to come even close to getting one person that type of an award," Lambright says. "When it happens, it happens because your whole offensive team is doing a great job of establishing and controlling the line of scrimmage and also establishing a passing balance that stretches the defense. That hopefully carries over to your defense to stay off the field so your offense can stay on it. The whole thing goes into a team effort — a concerted goal of highlighting one while all the rest of us benefit from it."

Running Backs

The tailback position will be the launching pad for Kaufman. He could become the first Husky player to turn in three consecutive 1,000-yard rushing seasons in 1994. Along the way he's likely to become the school's all-time rushing and all-purpose yards champion. He established the single-season marks for both categories last year when he rushed for 1,299 yards.

The plans are for Kaufman to do more than just carry the football. He was second on the team last year with 23 receptions and also averaged 25.9 yards on 15 kickoff returns. He will be deep for punt returns, where he averaged 14.2 yards on 19 runbacks in 1992.

"He's the great strong, quick tailback who also can catch the ball out of the backfield and be a threat as a punt and kickoff return man," Lambright says. "The nice thing is, that you can effectively use him as a decoy once you get people to worry about where he is."

Spring practice answered quite a few questions for the Husky fans, even some they didn't anticipate asking. It was a given that Kaufman was going to be the workhorse for the offense and Richard Thomas was going to be his lead blocker. But the spring showed there was more talent in the Husky backfield than just those two known commodities.

While Kaufman, Bryant and Jay Barry grabbed all the headlines the last three seasons, there's a strong group of young tailbacks who will vie to be the Heisman Trophy candidate's backup. Leon Neal and Rashaan Shehee will fill the role. Neal has 29 career rushes and had a solid performance with 69 yards on 13 carries against Stanford last year. Sheehee, a 5-11, 200-pound redshirt freshman, gives the Huskies a larger back at the position and proved to be a flashy runner during spring drills. Terri Hollimon, another redshirt freshman, showed he too can be a powerful rusher at 5-9, 200 pounds during the spring.

"Tailback is a luxury position for us and it has to be because of the fact that it is going to be a highlight position," Lambright says. "All of the tailbacks are capable runners. They all have good size and each of them has their own strengths."

While Thomas' size, 5-9, 220-pounds, may not measure up to the average college fullback, his blocking ability and tremendous work ethic have made him a popular and effective player. Thomas will be backed up by Mike Reed and Cam Kissell, a pair of players who have no previous experience at the position, but who showed promise during spring practice.

Quarterbacks

For the first time in several seasons, there will not be a quarterback battle heading into the start of a season. Two years ago it was Mark Brunell and Billy Joe Hobert trying to wrestle the starting role away from one another. Last year it was Eric Bjornson and Damon Huard vying for the vacated position. In both seasons, the dueling QBs ended up splitting series and starts.

Last spring Bjornson moved back to the split end position he played in 1992 and Huard became THE starting quarterback. The move should help the Huskies considerably at both positions.

Experience and confidence are the two factors that will make Huard a better quarterback in 1994. He started the first eight games last season and appeared in two others. Huard completed 59 percent of his passes (116-197) but had only nine touchdown passes compared to 10 interceptions. Only five Husky quarterbacks since 1950 posted a better passing percentage than Huard's mark last season.

Huard displayed his potential in last year's California game. Despite tossing four interceptions, he maintained his poise and guided the Huskies with two touchdown passes in the final three minutes for the thrilling victory. A rib injury the following week at UCLA never allowed Huard to return to top form.

"I fully hope to see the Damon Huard from the fourth quarter of the Cal game," Lambright says. "That's what I expect to see in the opener against USC. He made great progress with a new coach and a new coordinator in the spring and I fully expect to see the same blossoming that we saw in the spring just keep continuing in the fall."

The "new coach" and "new coordinator" is a big part of Huard's new-found confidence. Bill Diedrick took over as offensive coordinator/quarterback coach last spring and installed an offense which will feature the passing game more often. Diedrick has tutored a number of All-America quarterbacks and seen his offenses rank among the national leaders in terms of total offense.

Ted Stark emerged from spring drills as Huard's backup. He could also hold down the role as Washington's starting punter. Stark saw action in five games last year but threw only one pass. Red-shirt freshmen Shane Fortney and Michael Smith are talented newcomers who the coaching staff will try to get on the field.

Receivers

Broaden your definition of a receiver when you consider the Huskies attack. You have to figure in more than just the wideouts. Tight ends and tailbacks will play a big part in Washington's passing game.

All-American tight end Mark Bruener led Washington with 30 catches last year for 414 yards and three touchdowns. Bruener is capable of making the big play and his 13.8 average per reception went a long way towards earning him All-America honors. His backup, Ernie Conwell, averaged a robust 21.6 yards per catch on nine receptions and is probably the best backup at the position in the nation.

Sophomore flanker Dave Janoski is the top returner among the receivers. He pulled in 14 passes last year and averaged 17.8 yards per catch. He ended the spring as the starter at the position.

The return of the 6-5 Bjornson at split end gives the Huskies a big target at receiver. During the 1992 season he pulled in 14 receptions, including two for touchdowns.

"The most important thing that Eric gives us right away is the leadership element at wide receiver that we haven't had out there." Lambright says. "

Redshirt freshman flanker Fred Coleman only needs seasoning to become a key contributor among the receivers. He has the discipline, smooth running ability and speed to be a deep threat. The addition of junior college split end Greg Quesada provides the Huskies with still another experienced pass catcher. Last season he set a national junior college record with 108 receptions.

"I think the receiver corps, when you consider the tight ends as receivers, gives us great strength," Lambright says. "It's going to just be a matter of how many wide receivers, how many tight ends and how many fullbacks are going to be in the game because there is always going to be a tailback in the game."

Offensive Line

Every position on the Husky offensive line will have a new starter. But that does not necessarily mean the line will be a big question mark for the Huskies?

"I feel we have better depth than we've had in quite a while based on the final results from spring," Lambright says. "I feel real good about both the starters and backup capabilities. We'd like to have eight or nine that you feel real good about. We probably feel real good about seven or eight right now even though they don't have the game experience."

Andrew Peterson and Frank Garcia are the lone returning starters from last year's front line and they find themselves in new positions this year. Garcia moved from guard to center and Peterson from weakside guard to weakside tackle. Both are athletic, experienced lineman who will form the foundation of a unit called on to be outstanding rush and pass blockers.

During spring drills Trevor Highfield moved from defensive tackle to weakside guard and will enter the fall as the starter at the position. Patrick Kesi and Eric Battle move up from their reserve roles the last two years to take on the starting spots at strongside guard and strongside tackle, respectively.

The backups Lambright mentioned, who only lack the playing time needed to round out their game, include Robert Sapp and Brad Brozaitis at tackle, Jeff Aselin and John DiSante at guard and Lynn Johnson at center. Junior college transfers Opu Seminivage at center and Matt Hicks at tackle will also see plenty of playing time.

Defensive Line

Steve Hoffmann's return at nose tackle will be a big help to the Husky defensive line. He suffered a bulging disk in his back last season and managed to play in only two games. At 6-6 and 260 pounds, Hoffmann, whose brother Dave was an All-America linebacker for the Huskies, brings a physical presence to the middle of the line absent last season. Sophomore David Richie and redshirt freshman Sekou Wiggs enter the season as backups at the position.

Mike Ewaliko, a part-time starter last season and talented redshirt freshman Jason Chorak will anchor the defensive tackle spot vacated by 1993 Morris Trophy winner D'Marco Farr.

Deke Devers and another promising redshirt freshman, Darius Jones, will fill in Jamal Fountaine's defensive end position. Their challenge is to equal Fountaine's ability to penetrate to the opponent's backfield, where he made 17 tackles for loss last year.

Donovan Schmidt, who started the first five games last year, before suffering a severe ankle sprain at California, returns to anchor one outside linebacker spot. He's backed up by Justin Thomas, who will have to overcome missing spring drills due to injuries from an automobile accident.

Opposite from Schmidt at the weakside linebacker spot is Richie Chambers. He took advantage of a late-season knee injury to Andy Mason last year and gave the Huskies a spark from the position. Louis Jones, a converted roverback, moves up to the position and will give the Huskies more speed, and a solid tackler, at the line.

"I think to a point the defensive line is a lot like the offensive line as far as starting the spring with some question marks and ending it with some real feeling by the coaching staff that we have some established depth," Lambright says. "We're young, but we have some talented people there who can play. A lot of people will be concerned about our size. We're much more concerned about our speed and quickness than about the size of our people that are there."

Inside Linebacker

Washington is probably the only program in the nation that fields an inside linebacker duo from Alaska and Hawaii. Those exotic locations may not be the best-known breeding grounds for inside linebackers, but they have produced what might be the best tandem at Washington in quite some time.

Ink Aleaga has proven to be a natural at finding the ball carrier. He has the speed and hitting ability to be one of the best defensive players on the West Coast. A broken leg kept him out of the first half of last season, but he impressed the league coaches enough to earn honorable mention All-Pac-10 honors.

David Killpatrick, like Louis Jones, is a roverback moved to another position to get more speed on the field for the Huskies. Inside linebacker was Killpatrick's high school position and he looked like a natural there during spring drills.

A pair of walkons, junior Jaime Weindl and sophomore John Fiala, are experienced backups behind Killpatrick and Aleaga.

"Killpatrick's move gives us the type of linebacker combination that we feel we had with Chico Fraley, Dave Hoffmann and Jim Clifford playing the inside," Lambright says. "Those were some pretty good combinations."

Defensive Backs

The Huskies had so much talent returning at this spot that two players were shifted to linebacker positions and two others moved from free safety to roverback. Last year, Washington's defensive backs helped the Huskies lead the nation in interceptions with 22. This year's group will have a different look, but it is loaded with experience.

Lawyer Milloy takes over as the starter at free safety and will be backed up by hard-hitting walkon Ikaika Malloe. Lamar Lyons, last year's free safety, moves to roverback and is backed up by redshirt freshman Tony Parrish.

"You can afford to move your safeties closer to the line of scrimmage when you have the likes of Lawyer Milloy and Ikaika Malloe playing there to give you that depth at the free safety spot," Lambright says. "The same thing with Lamar Lyons and Tony Parrish, are both really fine running athletes that are good in pass coverage, you can move closer to the line of scrimmage. All of this hopefully is done to create pressure on an offense. The only way you can be guaranteed a chance to establish pressure is if you have good enough corners to cover one-on-one."

The Husky cornerbacks are led by Reggie Reser and Russell Hairston. Both started every game last year and combined to account for seven interceptions. Scott Greenlaw, a steady contributor on special teams. is the top backup for Reser and Hairston.

Kicking Game

The biggest question for the Huskies will be finding replacements for punter John Werdel and the kicking combination of Travis Hanson and Jason Crabbe. They handled the all of the Washington kicking duties the last three years.

Backup quarterback Ted Stark will get first shot at the punting duties and sophomore walkon John Wales will handle place kicks and kickoffs. Neither player has any game experience at the positions.

With Kaufman returning punts and kickoffs, the Huskies should start their offensive drives in solid field position.

Summary

The Huskies start the season with one of the toughest schedules in the nation. For the fourth year in a row the Huskies open against a Pac-10 Conference opponent. Washington travels to USC, hoping to avenge the Trojans' win at Husky Stadium last season that broke a record 17-game home winning streak. Washington's home opener is against Ohio State, another team that pinned a loss on the Huskies last year.

A week off is followed by the first-ever matchup between the Washington and Miami at the Orange Bowl. The two teams shared the national championship in 1991. UCLA visits Husky Stadium on Oct. 1 in a matchup of top Heisman Trophy candidates.

Regardless of how difficult the first four games on the schedule are, nothing could match what the Huskies went through at the start of last season. Long-time head coach Don James retired in protest of the Pac-10 sanctions just two weeks prior to the opener. Lambright assumed the position and also continued to coach the inside linebackers. Then, midway through the season, tight ends coach Myles Corrigan underwent heart surgery after his aorta ruptured during the California game.

"Last year there was too much confusion, too much immediate change for anything to get really well established," says Lambright, who is a former Husky player and was a UW assistant coach for 24 years. "You have a different coaching staff right now and I think more of my personality should come out in this year's team."

For long-time followers of Husky football and Jim Lambright, that is an exciting prospect.

ILB ... 6-2 ... 225
Sophomore
Maryknoll High School

Washington: Expected to be an impact player for Husky defense in 1994 ... will replace Steve Springstead at inside linebacker ... drew the notice of the Pac-10 coaches by earning honorable mention all-conference honors last year, despite playing in only five games ... great natural instincts for his position ... led all players in annual spring game with nine tackles while also recovering one fumble. 1993: Broke the fibula in his left leg during an Aug. 19 practice ... did not play in a game until Washington's Oct. 23 game vs. Oregon ... started the final three games of the season after ILB Hillary Butler suffered a hernia ... selected honorable mention all-Pac-10 by league's coaches ... finished the season with 32 tackles, including 18 solo stops ... had five tackles for loss, tying him for seventh on the team in that category ... led the Huskies with 12 tackles against USC ... ... voted a "Big Hit" award by Husky coaches vs. USC ... recovered a fumble against Washington State ... named the Texaco Star Performer for seven-tackle outing at Oregon State ... did not amass enough playing time to earn a varsity letter. 1992: Redshirted the season ... named most improved linebacker at end of spring drills ... led the Purple team with nine tackles in the spring game ... received backup player of the week honors for Wisconsin, USC, California, Oregon, Pacific and Arizona games.

High School and Personal: Born April 4, 1973 in Honolulu ... father's name is Eti, mother's name is Poulim ... played his prep ball for Pac-5 which was a team comprised of players from five smaller high schools in the Honolulu area ... earned three letters as a linebacker ... earned all-state honors as a senior ... also lettered for track and basketball squads ... a third-team all-state pick in basketball as a senior at Maryknoll ... graduated from high school in 1991, but did not enroll at Washington until 1992 ... took a year off to improve his board scores ... last name pronounded ah-lee-AH-ga ... majoring in sociology.

What They're Saying About Mark Bruener

"He showed all the potential. And then you try to weigh his heart. There aren't many I would trade for Mark Bruener." — Jim Lambright on recruiting Mark Bruener

"The 6-5, 240-pound junior from Aberdeen is a coach's dream. A team player, he works tirelessly on the field and in the classroom." — Teresa Smith, Tacoma News Tribune

"When it came down to clutch time and I had to get balls to guys, Mark was the one I was looking for. I was looking for the guy with the best hands." — Damon Huard on the Huskies' 1993 comeback win at California

"I remember his freshman season and we opened at Stanford. He made the trip as a true freshman and was on the field when we took the opening kickoff. He just leveled a guy on his block. I thought to myself, 'Wow, what a way to start you college career.' He's so strong, you knew he would be a big-time player." — Mark Brunell, former Husky quarterback

"They're different. Mark doesn't have the blazing speed like Pierce had. But I think Mark is a more physical blocker than Aaron was. Much more physical." — Myles Corrigan, former Husky tight ends coach comparing Bruener to current New York Giant Aaron Pierce

Mark Bruener

"I haven't seen anyone come in and block that well as a true freshman." — Don James, former Husky head coach

"He's a prototypical tight end at 6-feet-5, 240 pounds with soft, sticky pass-catching hands." — Rick Alvord, Bellevue Journal American

"There are not many that can block, catch and pass block like him. He has a bright future." — Rick Mallory, former NFL tight end and current Husky tight ends coach

"It's not just my record, it's the offensive line's too. They were with me on every carry. I feel like I should take them all out to dinner, but only if they want to go to McDonald's. Those guys eat a lot, so steak is out of the question."

— Napoleon Kaufman after setting the Washington single-season rushing record.

What They're Saying About Napoleon Kaufman

"It's an honor to block for him. You know he's going all out, and so you go all out."

— Jim Nevelle, Washington's starting center 1992-93

"He did some things with the football I haven't seen in a long time. He's incredibly strong for how small he is. He gave us more problems than fullbacks did this year. You have to tip your cap to him."

— Torey Hunter, Washington State cornerback following Kaufman's 181-yard rushing performance in the 1993 Apple Cup

"It was the first option play they ran and it was right in front of me. It was one of those plays where your mouth drops and you watch the guy run by you for a touchdown. Fast. Really fast. My memories of Kaufman center around how hard he plays, how energetic he is and how tough he is. I love a running back like that, with that kind of spirit for the game. He's an impressive running back. Very impressive."

— Bruce Snyder, Arizona State head coach on his Sun Devil debut against Kaufman and the Huskies in 1992

"Napoleon is stronger than Tony (Dorsett). They both attack the defense. Kaufman has lateral movement. He can juke you, but he would rather go after you and give you just an edge to hit. That's unusual. Most small guys would rather run away from you."

— Al Lavan, Husky running back coach and former Dallas Cowboys assistant coach

"I would say the best word to describe Napoleon Kaufman is explosive. He's like a rocket. Every time he touches the ball, you're nervous because he's coming at you with so much speed."

— Terry Donahue, UCLA football coach.

"That little son of a gun can run."

— Vaughn Bryant, Stanford defensive back

"He's like one of the running backs that can run on water. Because they run so fast, they don't leave footprints — more like treading on air."

— Lincoln Kennedy, former All-American Husky offensive tackle

"I've seen a couple of tapes of him — he's real quick. He's a lot quicker than I am. He's a mover-and-shaker type guy. I'm more of a one-move back."

— Tyrone Wheatley, Michigan's Heisman Trophy candidate

"Kaufman carrying a football is a musician playing jazz. While other tailbacks run, he creates. Like notes in a solo, his moves just come to him."

— Hugo Kugiya, Seattle Times

"We had a rule on the team. Our coach told us whenever Napoleon got around the corner, we had to take a knee so we wouldn't clip anybody."

— Tommy Thompson, former Oregon kicker and high school teammate of Kaufman's on their playing days in youth football

"He becomes like Cortez Kennedy. If you line up and play the Seahawks, you always have to account for Cortez Kennedy."

— Washington running backs coach Al Lavan

"He'll be the greatest running back in Washington history."

— Washington linebacker Ink Aleaga

"He's a kid, a sort of refreshing change of pace in these times."

— Bart Wright, Tacoma News Tribune

"He'll own Seattle now. They take care of those guys up there when they're done playing. He's looking ahead. He's no dummy."

— Dick Barrett, Kaufman's high school coach on his decision to return for his senior season

"He's the best (running back) I've seen."

— Chad Eaton, Washington State defensive tackle

"All the factors were there for him to go. He certainly could have taken the money and run, and there certainly was a lot of money. But the more we talked about it the more I realized that other things were very important to him. It came down to him wanting to be here. There's a tremendous comfort zone for him here."

— Al Lavan, Washington running back coach

"He made the right move — as he usually does in tight situations — in deciding to play his final year at Washington. Right for him, right for Washington and right for college football fans everywhere."

— Blaine Newnham, Seattle Times

"He's one of those guys where it doesn't matter what you try to do, he's got the potential to make the big play. He's the most explosive back we'll play all year."

— Jerry Pettibone, Oregon State head coach

"The highlights are awesome. One hundred seventy-six pounds of perpetual motion, engaged in a one-on-one game of playground tag with the Stanford defense."

— Rick Alvord, Bellevue Journal American

"Running the football comes easy to Kaufman. Like politics to Bill Clinton, singing to Sinatra."

— Rick Alvord, Bellevue Journal American

"He's the best running back I've ever played against. He freezes you, so you can't get a good lick on him. Then he blows right by you with his quickness. And he's exceptionally strong for his size. I just don't see any flaws in his game right now."

— Tommy Knecht, Stanford strong safety

"We kept an eye on him last year, too. All we did was watch him run up and down the damn field. I don't see anybody stopping him. Napoleon is going to get some yards, that's just part of the deal."

— Keith Gilbertson, California head coach

15 Travis Spring

December 1, 1972 - April 28, 1992

On April 28, 1992, the Seattle community was saddened by the news of Travis Spring's untimely death. A 19-year-old freshman wide receiver on the Washington Husky football team, Spring passed away from complications arising from his battle with cancer.

Travis was an all-state defensive back out of Seattle's Franklin High School. The two-time All-Metro League honoree intercepted 25 passes during his career. He also caught 29 passes his senior year, guiding the Quakers to a 10-1 record and a berth in the state semifinals.

As a freshman at Washington, Travis worked out with the team and traveled to the Rose Bowl. His brief collegiate playing career will best be remembered for his performance with the UW scout team leading up to the Rose Bowl. His portrayal of Michigan Heisman Trophy winner Desmond Howard proved so accurate, and prepared his teammates so well, they were able to limit Howard to just one reception in the victory. He played a large role in Washington's national championship triumph.

However, it is his life off the field for which Travis will best be remembered. Born in South Vietnam and raised in the United States, Travis knew no cultural barriers. He was a friend to many, regardless of their background.

The loss of Travis Spring is shared by his family, his teammates, his coaches, the University of Washington community and the entire city of Seattle. In 1992 the Huskies wore a number 15 decal on the back of their helmets in rememberence to him. That same season a Travis Spring Award was inaugurated and presented to an outstanding freshman player.

The Coaching Staff

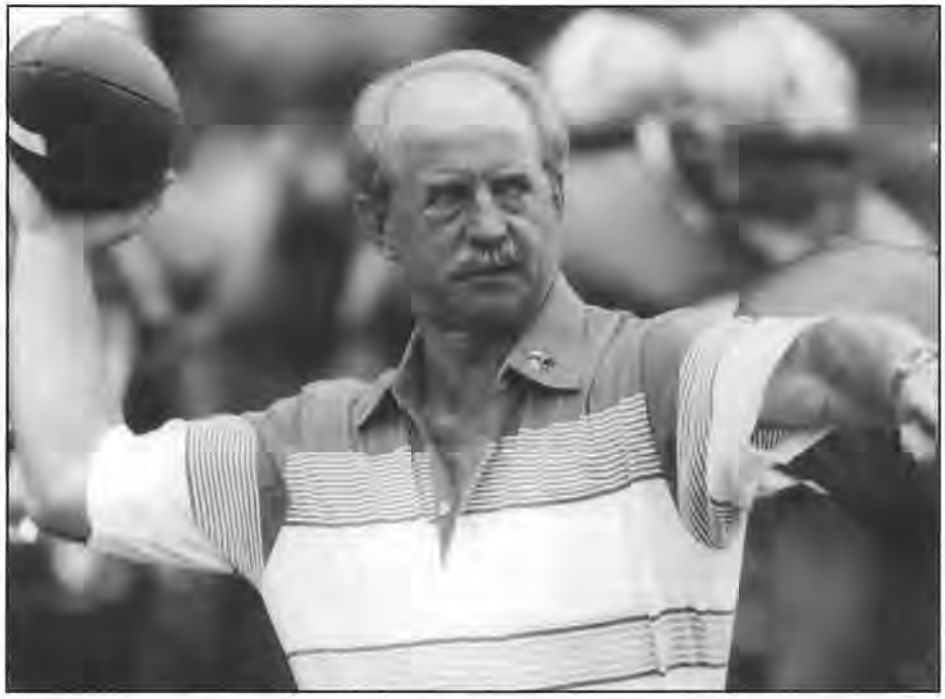
Jim Lambright Head Coach



Few head coaches have ever had to make the transition Jim Lambright did last season. On August 22, just two weeks prior to the season opener against Stanford, Lambright was named the Huskies' head coach when Don James announced his retirement in protest of Pac-10 sanctions against the Washington program.

Following a squad meeting where James announced his decision to the team and turned over the coaching mantle, Lambright quickly rallied a Husky squad that was in a state of shock. Faced with the challenge of coaching the inside linebackers, serving as defensive coordinator and also overseeing the program, Lambright set up residence in his Graves' Building office. Over the next two weeks Lambright was awarded a four-year contract, the players were counseled and a gameplan was put into place. The results — no players transferred and the Huskies banded together to hand the 15th-ranked Cardinal a 31-14 thrashing before a national television audience.

In the postgame meeting as Lambright tried to address his team following the victory his words were drown out by the players chanting his nickname — "Lambo! Lambo! Lambo!"

In a short time span, and during remarkable circumstances, the transition had been completed from the close of the Don James era of Husky football to a new beginning with Jim Lambright.

Lambright led the Huskies to a 7-4 finish in 1993 and a 5-3 mark in Pac-10 play. He accomplished that despite not filling his own position on the coaching staff during the season and losing tight ends coach Myles Corrigan midway through the season to heart surgery. The seven wins represented the most ever by a first-year coach at Washington. Lambright's hiring made him the fourth Husky coach who is a UW alumni.

The 1994 season will be the 26th for Lambright at Washington and second as the Huskies head coach. Prior to taking over the head coaching position, Lambright served as the assistant head coach for six years and defensive coordinator for 16 years. He started his coaching stint with the Huskies under head coach Jim Owens in 1969.

Lambright began his coaching career in 1965 as an assistant coach at Fife (Wash.) High School, and was an assistant coach at Shoreline Community College from 1966 through 1969, just prior to beginning his long association with Washington.

The Everett, Wash., native was a four-sport letterman at Everett High School. He attended Washington and played football for the Huskies, earning two letters as an 180-pound defensive end (1963-64). Under coach Jim Owens, Lambright played fullback, halfback, wide receiver, tight end, defensive end and linebacker. He graduated with a bachelor of arts degree in education and physical education in 1965 after earning all-conference and All-Coast honors in 1964. His 1964 accolades included the Huskies' Guy Flaherty Most Inspirational Award and being named The Everett Herald's Man of the Year in Sports.

Since becoming defensive coordinator, Lambright's defenses have ranked high among conference statistical leaders and all but one finished in the top half of the Pac-10 total defense statistics each year. The 1991 Huskies were second in the nation in rushing defense (67.1), total defense (237.1), scoring defense (9.2) and turnover margin (+1.73) and led the Pac-10 in virtually every defensive category.

Lambright implemented the "attack style" defense in 1990 that created havoc for opposing offenses. That style of play was a key factor in Washington's march to a perfect season and the national championship in 1991. Numerous coaching staffs from across the country have visited the Husky coaching staff in recent years to learn the defensive strategy.

A handful of his former players earned All-America accolades at Washington. Ray Horton, Mark Stewart, Tony Caldwell, Ron Holmes, Reggie Rogers, Tim Peoples, Steve Emtman and Dave Hoffmann were all defensive players under Lambright who were named a first-team All-American. Emtman was selected the 1991 Lombardi Trophy and Outland Trophy winner.

Several of Lambright's defensive players — Fletcher, Jenkins, Ron Holmes, Reggie Rogers, Steve Emtman and D'Marco Farr — were voted by their Pac-10 peers as the Morris Award winner, honoring the top defensive lineman in the league. No less than 15 of the linebackers he has coached achieved first-team All-Pac-10 honors. A total of 17 of Lambright's former linebackers were drafted by NFL teams.

Lambright is 52 years old. He, and his wife Lynne, live in neighboring Marysville. His mother, Eloise, is a longtime Washingtonian who attends all the games. The Lambright's children: Kris and Eric Lambright, Brent, Brad, Bart, Mackie, and Reagan Campbell, all live in the immediate area with their families. Jim's sister, Sue, is also nearby to lend family support.

What They're Saying About Jim Lambright

"It was kind of symbolic. It was our way of saying, 'This is your team now. This is your first victory.' We just wanted to let him know we appreciated all the time he's put in, all the sleepless nights he's spent over the last two weeks trying to get this thing going."
— Senior captain Andy Mason on the Huskies chanting "Lambo, Lambo, Lambo" following his first Husky victory.

"And while some mourn for Jim Lambright and the fact that he has to take over a program burdened with a two-year bowl ban imposed by the Pacific 10 Conference for NCAA violations, you won't hear him crying. This is the job Lambright has waited for for nearly a quarter of a century."
— Larry Henry, Everett Herald

"Lambright is as indigenous to Husky football as the dog that appears so frequently on game-day telecasts."
— Blaine Newnham, Seattle Times

"He feels no need to coach through the newspapers. When he wants you to know something, he'll get right up in your face and tell you."
— Jim Nevelle, senior captain 1994

Jim Lambright On ...

On his first practice

"I was standing out there looking around when it hit me. I realized, 'He's (Don James) not here. It was, OK, it's mine now' ... we've got work to do."

On coaching with Cal's Keith Gilbertson

"We made it part of our game. He'd say, 'I know my offense can get away with this and you can't stop it. What is your defense going to do now?' I'd come up with something, then I'd challenge him. It was fun. We'd sit around talking over our 'root' beers and the hours would just whiz by."

On the attacking-style defense

"A lot of what we started with came from visiting with Buddy Ryan and the Chicago Bears a few years ago — that's where a lot of our attack thinking came from. We've learned a lot from a lot of different people, so we're not going to turn around and act like this is all our own."

On running out of the tunnel at Husky Stadium

"As a player you remember the first time you run down that tunnel more than anything else. You know, even today, I still get some chills down my spine and have a sense of pride in being a Husky when we run out the tunnel."

On Don James and Jim Owens

"The longevity of James and Owens together is incredible. You have to get to the people like Bear Bryant and the Nebraskas and Michigans in order to get equivalent years of consistency."

On being an outstanding defensive player

"The first ingredient to make him great would be a burning desire to win and be tough. There's really a close, binding element between those two things. You can't coach that. You need good feet, otherwise you can't get to the ball. Almost everything else is irrelevant. You have to be dying to win."

Graduate Assistant

Charles Jackson begins his first year as a graduate assistant at Washington. His main responsibilities entail working with the offensive line, assisting coach Steve Morton.

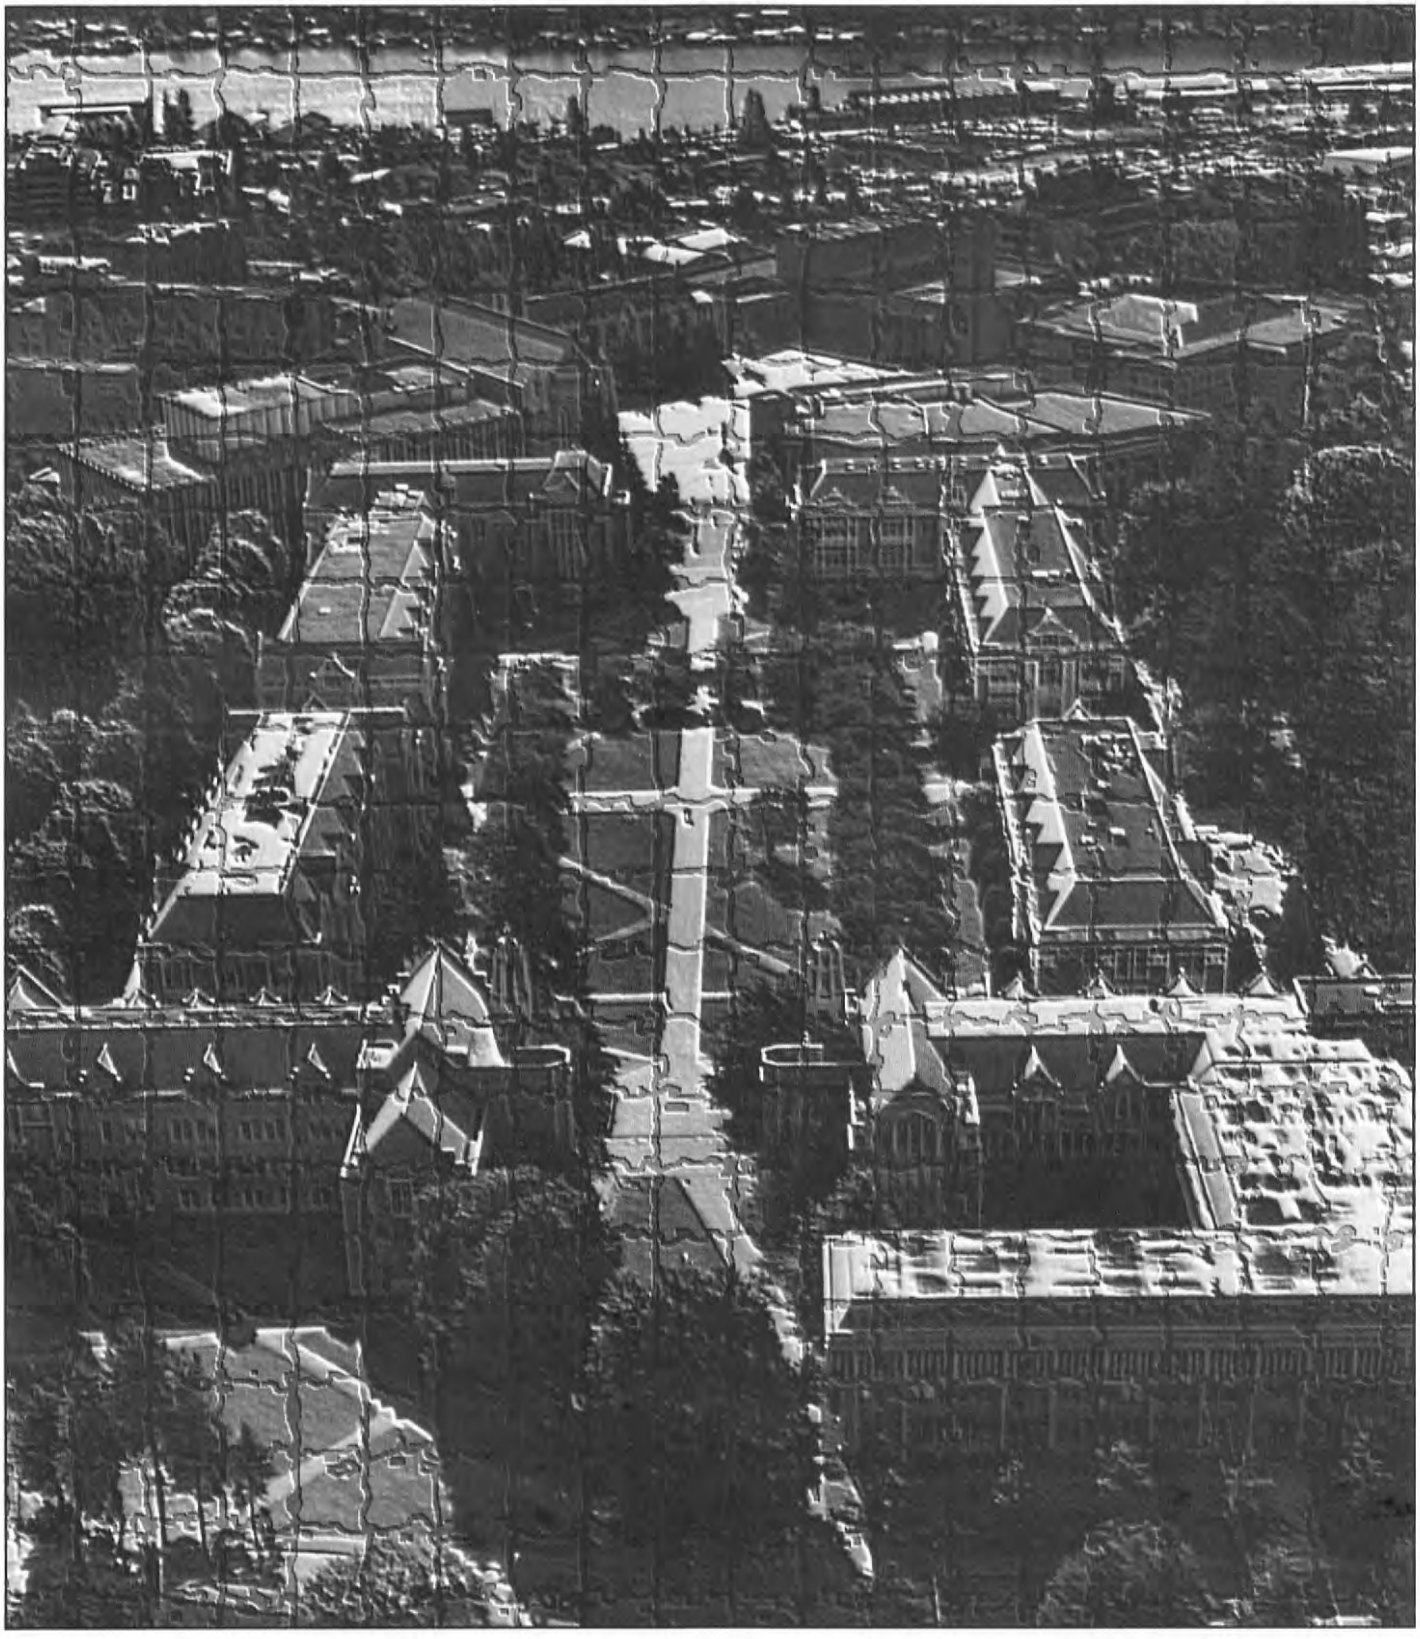
Off the field, Jackson's duties include breaking down video tape, scouting opponent tendencies and helping to develop practice plans for offensive lineman.

A 39-year-old native of Los Angeles, Jackson was a four-time letterwinner for the Huskies between 1973-76. He began his Washington career as an offensive guard, where he held a starting role for two years. He switched to nose guard for his final two years and amassed 266 tackles. He was named co-captain of the 1976 squad. He was All-Pac-8, All-Coast and an honorable mention All-American (AP) his senior season.

After being drafted in the ninth round by the Denver Broncos, where he played for two years, Jackson went on to play five years with the Kansas City Chiefs and two years with the New York Jets in the NFL.

Jackson returned to Washington and finished his degree in political science graduating in 1994. He and his wife, Claudia, have one daughter, Jacquelyn (six).

The Administration



The University of Washington

Founded in 1861, the University of Washington is one of the foremost institutions in the nation, richly combining its research, instructional and public service missions.

Its internationally acclaimed faculty includes three Nobel Laureates, and the winner of the 1990 National Book Award for Fiction. Washington is part of an elite group of research universities whose contributions to American life are unique because they generate the basic knowledge upon which practical innovations are based.

The UW student body totals about 34,000, with an undergraduate enrollment of approximately 25,000 and a graduate enrollment of approximately 9,000.

For more than two decades, the university has been among the country's top five institutions in the dollar value of federal research grants and contracts awarded to its faculty. Total grant and contract activity for 1993 exceeded $430 million. More than 80 percent of the university's grant and contract funds come from federal agencies. Research contributes directly to the educational goals of graduate and professional students, as well as to those of undergraduates.

Instruction and research at Washington are supported by a library system that is one of the most extensive in the nation. It consists of five major units and 17 branches, housing more than 4.5 million volumes. In addition to offering instruction in more than 100 academic disciplines, the university offers a spectrum of continuing education courses that advance technical and professional skills and provide opportunities for personal growth and enrichment to more than 90,000 registrants annually.

Washington has 16 major schools and colleges: Architecture and Urban Planning, Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Dentistry, Education, Engineering, Forest Resources, The Graduate School, Law, Medicine, Nursing, Ocean and Fishery Sciences, Pharmacy, Public Affairs, Public Health and Community Medicine, and Social Work. Washington has branch campuses in Tacoma and Bothell.

About 87 percent of the University's students are state residents, although instructional programs draw students from every region of the country and overseas. About 75 percent are undergraduates; 25 percent are enrolled in graduate and professional programs. Most freshman entering Washington are in the top third of their high schoool graduating classes.

Beyond its academic and service missions, the UW has a strong economic impact on Washington and the Pacific Northwest.

With about 17,000 employees, Washington is the second largest employer in King County. Washington operates the University of Washington Medical Center and Harborview Medical Center, which annually provide more than 200,000 days of patient care and record more than 300,000 visits to their outpatient clinics.

Washington also plays a critical role in attracting new business to the region. It provides these, and established businesses, with a steady stream of well-educated graduates and with highly skilled faculty members who assist business and industry in a variety of ways.

The University of Washington is located on 703 acres in Seattle's northeast residential area, a beautiful setting on the shore of Lake Washington and Portage Bay. The majestic Cascade Mountains can be seen to the east, while the western view includes downtown Seattle and Lake Union. The combination of this spectacular setting with buildings in both neo-Gothic and modern styles gives the campus a distinctive aura.

Mt. Rainier looms on the horizon behind Drumheller Fountain.

University Administrators

William P. Gerberding
President

William P. Gerberding became president of the University of Washington July 1, 1979, having previously served as chancellor of the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, and executive vice chancellor of the University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA).

Gerberding's tenure as president has been marked by increased support for the University, both public and private; an emphasis on improving the quality of undergraduate instruction; the opening of branch campuses in Bothell and Tacoma in 1990; and a major effort to modernize the University's facilities through construction of the Kenneth S. Allen Library, a new Physics/Astronomy Building, a new electrical engineering/computer science building, a new chemistry building, additions to the Magnuson Health Sciences Center, and other capital projects.

Private support for the University has grown dramatically under Gerberding's leadership. The University's first major fund drive, the Campaign for Washington, raised more than $284 million in gifts and pledges from 1987-92. The University's Consolidated Endowment Fund has grown from less than $20 million when Gerberding became president to more than $266 million by the end of 1993.

Gerberding's leadership in higher education has been recognized nationally. In 1989-90, he served as chair of the Association of American Universities, a group representing the 58 top research universities in North America.

A 1951 graduate of Macalester College in St. Paul, Minn., where he majored in philosophy, Gerberding received his master's degree and his doctorate in 1959, both in political science, from the University of Chicago. A specialist in U.S. foreign policy, he was a member of UCLA's political science faculty from 1961 to 1972, and in 1966 was one of four recipients of the Distinguished Teaching Award given annually by the UCLA Alumni Association.

Gerberding is a fan of intercollegiate athletics and professional baseball, and plays golf and tennis. A classical music devotee who enjoys all the arts, he and wife Ruth are parents of four grown Children — David, Steven, Liza and John — and they have one granddaughter.

James R. Collier
Vice President for University Relations

The University of Washington has brought under a single administrative umbrella most of the UW departments and agencies that advance the University's interest to the public in some visible way.

The Office of University Relations is headed by Vice President James R. Collier, who was ranking administrator at the University of Illinois before joining President William P. Gerberding and the UW's central administrative team in 1981.

University Relations includes:

- The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics
- A comprehensive Alumni Relations Program that serves some 200,000 former UW students.
- Office of News and Information, which provides through the mass media, public information about the University's faculty, staff and students, and its broad-based programs in teaching, research, and public service.
- KUOW-FM, the UW's public radio station, serving Western Washington and parts of British Columbia, Canada.
- KCMU-FM, a student-run station serving Seattle.
- Office of Public Exercises, responsible for the University's Commencement and other official functions.
- Administrative Support Services, a department that is home to the Visitor's Information Center, the Speaker's Bureau, Department of Trademarks and Licensing, and other units.

The Office of University Relations has responsibility for conducting community relations programs and is involved in government relations programs as well.

The senior University officer with administrative oversight responsibility for the Husky athletic program, Vice President Collier is involved with athletic director Barbara Hedges on a routine basis in management matters.

A native of South Dakota, Collier earned his master's degree at the University of Iowa and his bachelor's degree in Kansas at Wichita State University. He is married to April Collier. He has three children — Jamie, a 1987 graduate of the UW; Jill, a 1989 UW alumna; and Erin, a junior at the University of Arizona in Tucson.

Barbara Hedges -- Director of Athletics

Barbara Hedges begins her fourth year as the director of athletics for one of the nation's most successful and respected college athletic programs. Hedges began her tenure as director in July of 1991 and has encountered a great deal of success in her first two years as a Husky.

Hedges was on hand for the Huskies' first-ever national football championship in 1991 and the team's third consecutive trip to the Rose Bowl in 1992. She has seen a number of other UW teams post successful seasons.

A few highlights from last season included: the Husky baseball squad advancing to the finals of the Midwest Regional in the NCAA tournament; the Husky softball team, in only its second season, advanced to the NCAA championships and was ranked as high as 10th; the men's and women's tennis teams won conference titles; men's and women's crew won Pacific Coast and Windemere Cup titles and posted top-five national finishes; men's and women's cross country and track and field sent representatives to NCAA championship competition; the women's basketball team advanced to the second round of NCAA play and the women's gymnastics team advanced to the NCAA Championships.

More importantly than just championships, under Hedges' guidance Washington has become one of the national leaders in participation for student-athletes. Last season 750 student-athletes competed for Husky teams — the most in the Pac-10. Washington has also emerged as a leading school in terms of gender equity, fielding a program that provides near equal participation opportunities for males and females.

It is clear that Hedges is committed to a quality athletics program across the board. She has encouraged the Husky coaching staffs to upgrade the level of competition in the Olympic sports programs. Since her arrival, Washington has added two women's sports and is currently undergoing a facilities upgrade that will see capital improvements in several of the Husky Olympic sport competition venues.

Hedges is similarly committed to a high level of academic achievement among Washington's student-athlete population. To this end, she has instituted a number of progressive measures — such as mentor programs, career nights and self-development seminars — that she hopes will aid the student-athletes in more easily achieving all their non-athletic goals.

Hedges in no stranger to the responsibilities of running nationally prominent athletic programs. In 1985, she assumed responsibility for the daily operation of 17 men's and women's sports, including the administration of a $4 million budget, as an associate athletic director at the University of Southern California. In June of 1989, Hedges was promoted to senior associate director of athletics at USC.

She joined the USC staff in 1974 when she was appointed associate athletic director in charge of USC's nine women's sports. Under her guidance, USC built a winning tradition for its women's sports programs that reflected a commitment to high standards of athletic and academic excellence. During her tenure, 13 USC women's teams won national championships and 68 women earned individual national titles. More than 150 Trojan women were honored as All-Americans and 36 athletes reached the Olympic ranks.

Since 1985, when she assumed the administrative responsibility for eight men's sports, USC earned three more national championships and 12 individual titles. More than 100 USC men garnered All-American acclaim and 10 were Olympians during her tenure.

Hedges was one of the founders of the USC Scholarship Club, which supports both men's and women's athletics programs. She was also the creator and co-founder of the Women of Troy, a premier USC athletic support group.

She took the welfare of her student-athletes to heart through her membership on the President's Task Force to Review Student-Athlete Academic Services, the USC Student-Athlete Review Task Force and the USC Student-Athlete Drug Testing Review Committee.

Her commitment to the field of college athletics makes her a familiar name on the national scene as well. Hedges has served as president of the Council of Collegiate Women Athletic Administrators and the Western Collegiate Athletic Association and also served a term as president of the Division I-A Women's Athletic Administrators. She chaired the NCAA Women's Tennis Committee for eight years and the NCAA Division I Men's and Women's Tennis Committee in 1988. She was one of a three-member NCAA Special Television Committee to negotiate the NCAA rights for all sports except football and basketball with ESPN, ABC, CBS and international television.

Currently, she is the chair of the NCAA Honors Committee and also sits on the Pro Sports Liaison Committee and Special Committtee to Study a Division IA Football Championship.

Hedges is also experienced with the administration of championship events. She served as tournament director of the 1993 NCAA Men's Basketball West Regional at the Kingdome and the 1984 West Regional Women's Basketball Championship. She is serving as tournament director for the 1995 NCAA Men's Final Four to be held at the Kingdome. Hedges was instrumental in bringing the 1992 Division I Women's Final Four to Los Angeles. At USC, she was administratively responsible for the 1988 NCAA Division I Men's Golf Championship and the 1990 Division I Men's Tennis Championship.

Hedges has been a featured speaker for the National Association for Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA), the NCAA Professional Development Seminar, the Council of Women Athletic Administrators and numerous other professional and community organizations.

Before going to Southern California in 1973, Hedges coached gymnastics and taught physical education at the University of Arizona. During her five years with the Wildcats, Hedges coached her team to three conference championships and assisted in integrating women's athletic programs into the university's athletic structure. She developed a community education program for high school students in the area, helping them become more knowledgeable about Arizona's athletic programs.

From 1967-68, Hedges coached and taught gymnastics at Carey Junior High School in Cheyenne, Wyoming. As part of her responsibilities, she established a gymnastics program for the entire school system, including the training of student-athletes, judges and meet officials. She also headed fund-raising efforts to acquire equipment for the program and organized a parents' support group.

Hedges began her career as the head of the West Denver High School girls physical education department. Her responsibilities included coaching and teaching gymnastics, teaching tennis, field hockey and other sports, and coordinating various fund-raising efforts.

Hedges received her bachelor's degree in physical education for Arizona State University in 1963 where she was honored as the university's outstanding physical education major while also being named to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. She received her master's from the University of Arizona in 1971.

Hedges was born on August 23, 1937, in Glendale, Arizona. She and her husband, John, have two children, Mark (37) and Greg (32).

Seattle — The Emerald City

First-time visitors are astonished at the wealth of natural beauty in and around Seattle. Literally touching the city's boundaries are thousands of square miles of evergreen forest and hundreds of miles of salt and freshwater shoreline. With this wealth of nature at their doorstep, both Seattleites and visitors concentrate much of their recreation in the outdoors.

Bracketed east and west by freshwater Lake Washington and saltwater Puget Sound, the city occupies a north-south corridor, slender at the waist and embracing numerous hills. On a clear day, the views of the mountains and water are spectacular.

Most of Seattle's attractions are clustered in pedestrian-scale sections, best savored on foot. Central business district buses are free and the Monorail speeds quickly between downtown and the Seattle Center.

Crown jewel of Seattle's attractions is the Seattle Center, the 74-acre legacy of the 1962 World's Fair. Its distinctive 605-foot Space Needle is the city's leading landmark and eight million people visit annually. From its lofty observation deck, there's a 360-degree view of the city and Puget Sound, backdropped by the snowcapped Cascade Range to the east and the Olympic Mountains to the west.

Seattle Center is enjoyable in any season but on weekends and fairweather days between April and October, it's a beehive of activity with outdoor concerts, amusement park attractions, impromptu performances and special events.

Downtown, just two blocks uphill from the water, Pike Place Market is one of the last authentic farmer's markets in the country. A walk through the colorful old market becomes truly a sensory experience as vendors hawk their wares in a dozen different languages; coffee, tea and spice shops assail you with their pungent odors; and seemingly limitless heaps of fresh fruit, vegetables and seafood stretch away on every hand.

Pioneer Square, the city's preserved historic district, lies adjacent to the southern end of the downtown waterfront. Here the city has its roots, centered around the original Skid Road (Yesler Way), a road used to skid timber down from the hills to Elliott Bay.

Many of the fine old brick and sandstone buildings have been painstakingly restored in recent years and a half-dozen square blocks of the district offer excellent shopping and dining as well as historic ambience. The Underground Tours that go beneath the current-day Pioneer Square cobblestones provide a glimpse of Seattle, circa 1890.

Seattle's strong maritime environment comes into sharp focus at Fisherman's Terminal, home of hundreds of purse seiners and gill net boats. Residents often take time to stroll along the piers, watch fishermen mending their nets and admire the sturdy boats that take these men to sea.

Getting out on the water is easy. The cheapest way is to board one of the big green and white Washington State Ferries for a ride across the Sound to Bremerton (55 minutes each way) or Bainbridge Island (30 minutes each way). Both ferries move through the bustling harbor traffic, offer a look at the islands and residential shorelines across Puget Sound and provide stunning views of the city skyline and waterfront from Elliott Bay.

Seattle is famous for its fresh seafood, especially local clams, oysters, salmon, halibut and crab. The best seafood restaurants also have water views where you can sit beside Puget Sound, Lake Union or Lake Washington and watch the marine traffic. But, Seattle dining is much more than seafood. Large Scandinavian and Oriental populations add exotic fares of those regions to Seattle menus. Visitors can also partake of French, German, Italian, Greek, Polynesian, Thai and a dozen other cuisines.

Staff Bios

Donald K. Smith
Senior Associate Athletic Director

Don Smith begins his 24th year in the Washington athletic department and his sixth year as Senior Associate Athletic Director. Smith is responsible for most of the support areas in the department, which includes the training, equipment and weight rooms, video services, housing and food services, drug education and testing, community relations, speakers bureau, donations, recruiting coordination, parking, boat mooring, field and game security, affirmative action programs and special research.

Smith was hired by Washington in 1971 as an assistant athletic director to help in athletic administration and to create a program to improve human relations. A year later he was advanced to associate director where he worked as the director's right-hand person in all areas of administration before being promoted to his current post in 1989.

A native of Keokuk, Iowa, Smith came to Seattle in 1963 to take a job with the Seattle Times as a sports and urban affairs reporter. In 1966, Smith joined Pacific Northwest Bell and was transferred to American Telephone & Telegraph Company in New York City where he worked as a public relations specialist before joining the UW staff in 1971.

Smith earned his bachelor's degree in technical journalism from Iowa State in 1959, following a four-year stint in the U.S. Air Force. He worked as a sports and county editor for the Ames Tribune and UPI until moving to Seattle in 1963.

Smith has been honored by his peers and has had a perpetual scholarship created in his name at Iowa State. He most recently was honored with the "Martin Luther King, Jr. Spiritual Award" by The Medium newspaper in Seattle.

Smith and his wife, Flossie, have five grown children, Azizi, Thaddies, Valerie, Leslie and Shelly.

Mike Alderson
Executive Associate Athletic Director for Business and Finance

Mike Alderson is in his 13th year with the UW as Executive Associate Athletic Director. He is responsible for the overall management of all athletic programs, involving policy making strategic planning, financial management, staff and organization development.

Prior to coming to Washington, Alderson worked as division controller for John Fluke and as a staff accountant at Cooper & Lybrand.

A 40-year-old native of Dubuque, Iowa, Alderson graduated cum laude with a bachelor's degree in accounting from Luther College where he was captain of the basketball team and was named All-American.

Alderson is active in the community, serving on the board of directors of the Boys and Girls Club and Ballard Church, and as treasurer of Seattle Host Committee.

Alderson and his wife, Karin, have two children, Anna (11) and Siri (seven).

Chuck Knox
Senior Associate Athletic Director

Chuck Knox begins his second year as Senior Associate Athletic Director following three years as director of university development for Washington. Knox coordinates all external activities for the department, including the Tyee program, marketing and promotions, sports information, the Husky Ticket Office and the Husky Marching Band.

Prior to coming to Washington in 1990, Knox was an administrator at UC Santa Barbara, where he served as assistant chancellor for development and executive director of the UCSB Foundation. His previous administrative experience includes stints at UCLA where he was associate director of development for major gifts, and at Claremont Men's College where he was director of annual giving.

Knox graduated cum laude with honors in English from the College of Idaho in 1972, where he played football for the Coyotes, and received his master's in English from UW in '74.

The 43-year-old Whittier, Calif., native is a member of the National Association of College Directors of Athletics, the National Association of Athletics Development Directors, the Council for Advancement and Support of Education, the Northwest Development Officers Association, and the National Society of Fund Raising Executives, for which he is a board member and chair of the legislative affairs committee for the Washington state chapter.

Knox and his wife Terry have two children, Caitlin (eight) and Andrew (five).

Ralph Bayard
Senior Associate Athletic Director

Ralph Bayard begins his second year as the Huskies' Senior Associate Athletic Director for compliance and internal operations. As director for compliance, Bayard shares the responsibility with Barbara Hedges for ensuring that the department of intercollegiate athletics is in full compliance with all applicable University, State of Washington, Pacific-10 Conference, and NCAA rules, regulations, and policies that govern intercollegiate athletics. Bayard also has a number of management duties related to the internal function and activities of the department.

Bayard joined the Husky staff last October after spending 16 years with the Washington Interscholastic Activities Association. He joined the WIAA in 1977 and served two years as public relations director and media coordinator before. He then supervised tournament promotion, corporate sponsorships and the budget before being named the Associate Executive Director in 1987.

A 1971 Washington graduate with a degree in communications, Bayard earned his master's in communications from UW in 1977. He was a two-year standout wide receiver for the Husky football team after transferring from San Francisco City College. Following his graduation Bayard worked as the assistant news and public affairs director at KUOW Radio. He worked for one year as a news editor at KIRO Radio from 1976-77 before starting his career at the WIAA.

The 45-year-old Bayard and his wife, Idell, have two sons — Joseph (15) and Andre (eight).

Robert Aronson
Faculty Athletic Representative

Robert Aronson is in his first year as Washington's Faculty Athletic Representative, responsible for overseeing the relationship between the University and the athletic department. Aronson was appointed last September by UW President William Gerberding. Aronson is an associate dean and professor of law.

Aronson has been a UW faculty member since 1975. He has taught courses in civil procedure, criminal law, evidence, legal research and professional responsibility. He has written six books and numerous journal articles, and is recognized as a national expert in legal and judicial ethics. He was chair of the Faculty Senate in 1987-88, and served on the Advisory Committee on Intercollegiate from 1988-91.

Aronson received a bachelor's degree with honors from the University of Virginia in 1969, and his juris doctor cum laude from the University of Pennsylvania in 1973. He was a two-sport athlete, lacrosse and soccer, while at Virginia, and made the ACC honor roll for his academic and athletic achievements.

Aronson and his wife, Terri, have two daughters, Tamara (six) and Jennifer (four).

Chip Lydum
Assistant to the Athletic Director

Now in his 11th year with the department, Chip Lydum begins his fourth year as assistant to the athletic director. Lydum provides key administrative assistance to director Barbara Hedges and oversees the department's Purple Hearts community outreach program as well as Washington's total student-athlete program.

Before assuming the responsibilities of his current position, Lydum was an assistant sports information director at UW, from 1984-91. He coordinated all media relations for the men's basketball team, as well as providing sports information assistance for each of Washington's 21 other sports. During that time, Lydum also played a major role in the department's media relations planning and execution for various bowl games and NCAA championship events as well as serving as venue press chief for the Goodwill Games volleyball and wrestling competition in 1990.

Lydum has been honored several times by the College Sports Information Director's of America (CoSIDA) for his writing, winning Best in the District honors in 1985 and 1986.

The 36-year-old Seattle native received his bachelor's degree in journalism from UW in 1984 and is a member of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics . His wife, Lisa, is a 1983 Washington graduate.

Gertrude Peoples
Student-Athlete Services Director

Beginning her 23rd year as Student Athlete Services Director is Gertrude Peoples. She is responsible for developing and implementing the academic tutoring program for all of Washington's 750 student-athletes .

Peoples joined the department in 1972 after working at the University of Washington in the Education Opportunity Program. Prio to that she worked at United Intercity Development, assisting small minority businesses. Peoples has been influential in determining the course and structure of the program, and has been recognized nationally for her work. In 1991 she received the Lan Hewlett Award for Outstanding Performance as an Academic Advisor for Athletics.

A native of Seattle, Peoples is a former vice president of the National Association of Academic Advisors and was inducted into the Frederick Douglass Distinguished Scholars Honor Society in 1988 for her dedicated service to the lives of young people in their pursuit of quality education and scholarship.

Peoples is the mother of three adult children - John, Steven and Carol. She has five grandchildren.

Myles Corrigan
Administrative Liaison

Myles Corrigan is in his first year as Administrative Liaison for Washinton. Corrigan serves as a liaison between the Husky football coaching and administrative staffs regarding academic services, team travel and community outreach efforts. He directs the staff speakers bureau, oversees football alumni relations and the spring coaches clinic, and coordinates programs with the sports psychology department.

Corrigan was named to the position last February after retiring from coaching after suffering a disected aorta at last year's California game. Corrigan served seven years as an assistant coach at Washington.

Corrigan earned a bachelor's degree in Speech and English from Cal State Northridge in 1968. From there he served as an assistant and head high school coach at five different California high schools before becoming offensive coordinator at Puget Sound in 1981. He stayed at UPS until 1986 when he became a graduate assistant at Washington until being hired as an assistant coach. Corrigan earned a masters degree in education from the University of San Francisco in 1983 and studied educational administration at the UW from 1986-87.

Corrigan and his wife, Suzanne, have two sons, Brent (18) and Todd (13).

Debra Vinci
Coordinator for Total Student Athlete Program and Sports Nutrition

Debra Vinci is in her first year as coordinator for Washington's Total Student Athlete program. Vinci's duties include coordination of the freshman learning and life enrichment program, alcohol and other drug education and prevention training, NCAA life skills pilot program, the Mentoring Athlete Program and developing workshops on various health and sports related topics such as AIDS, acquaintance rape, anger management and stress management. Vinci is also a registered dietician and had been the nutrition consultant for the Huskies for three years prior to being hired full time in May.

Vinci earned both a bachelor's and masters degree in Nutrition from the University of Vermont and is currently working on a doctorate in health education at Lorma Linda University. For five years she was Director of the Outpatient Nutrition Clinic at the Medical Center of Vermont. From there she worked in the pharmaceutical industry in sales before going back to school. While in grad school she worked in various consulting capacities regarding program development.

Vinci is a member of the American Dietetic Association, American College of Sports Medicine and the American Public Health Association. She has been actively involved with the American Diabetes Association for the past 15 years.

Dick Erickson
Event Manager

Dick Erickson begins his 28th year with the Washington athletic department, and his third year as Event Manager. Erickson is responsible for overseeing the facilities and logistical arrangements for all intercollegiate athletic events at Washington.

Erickson became the assistant event manager in 1987 after 20 years as the head crew coach at Washington. During his tenure, Erickson coached the Huskies to 15 Pacific Coast titles and two national championships. His 1984 team was recognized as such for its first place finish in the Cincinnati Regatta, and his 1970 team was crowned national champion for its victory in the Intercollegiate Rowing Association Regatta, regarded as the national championship race from 1939 to 1972.

Erickson was inducted in 1992 into the National Rowing Hall of Fame sponsored by the United States Rowing Association.

A native of Arlington, Wash., Erickson received his bachelor's degree in physical education from Washington in 1959 and his master's degree in education administration from Harvard in '64. While at Washington he rowed all four years, three of them in the first varsity boat.

Erickson began his coaching career at Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1963 as a freshman crew coach before being hired to coach the freshman at Washington in 1964. He was then appointed head coach in 1967.

Erickson and his wife, Irma, have three grown children, Alan, Jeff and Jon.

Leslie Keast
Coordinator for Olympic Sports

Leslie Keast begins her third year as Coordinator for Olympic Sports at Washington. The 27-year-old Washington graduate is responsible for the coordination and planning of all home regular season and special events for 21 men's and women's sports. She also coordinates the department's Purple Hearts community outreach program and is the advisor to the Washington Student-Athlete Advisory Committee.

Keast came to Washington after a one-year internship with the public affairs group of the National Collegiate Athletic Association's national office. At the NCAA, Keast assisted in the administration of inquiries from the news media, promotion of NCAA championships, NCAA Productions, marketing, licensing and corporate sponsorships, collegiate records and statistics and the Association's honors program.

In February of 1992 Keast received her master of science degree in sport management from Massachusetts, where she worked as a graduate assistant in sports information.

Keast graduated from Washington in 1990 with bachelor's degrees in speech communication and business administration. While at Washington, Keast served as chairman of the Washington Student Athletic Board and was the ASUW representative to the Intercollegiate Athletics Advisory Board. She also worked for two years as a student assistant in the media relations office.

Keast is active in a number of community organizations and is a member of the National Association of Collegiate Women Athletic Administrators, the Women's Sports Foundation and the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics.

Jim Daves
Media Relations Director

Jim Daves is in his third year as the Media Relations Director at Washington, overseeing a full-time staff of four assistants. In addition to publicizing Washington's athletic teams, Daves served as the media coordinator for the West Regional of the 1993 NCAA Men's Basketball Championship. He will serve in the same role for the 1995 Final Four in Seattle.

Prior to joining the Husky staff, Daves was an associate sports information director at Notre Dame from 1986-92. In addition to his responsibilities with football and men's basketball media relations, he was editor of both the football and basketball game programs. His football programs earned best in the nation citations five consecutive years from the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA). Daves has also been the receipient of several CoSIDA national writing awards.

Prior to his arrival at Notre Dame, Daves served as the director of communications for the Midwestern Collegiate Conference from 1985-86. He has also handled publicity duties for the women's North Star Conference (1985-86) and statistical duties for the American Collegiate Hockey Association (1986-88).

A 32-year-old native of Greensboro, N.C., he received a degree in business administration from North Carolina Charlotte in 1984. He spent four years as a student assistant in the UNCC sports information office, two years as student sports promotions director for UNCC and his senior year as sports editor of The 49er Times, UNCC's student newspaper.

His wife, Patti, is the former public relations director for the United States Gymnastics Federation and the United States Ski Team.

Jeff Bechthold
Assistant Media Relations Director

Jeff Bechthold enters his fourth year as an Assistant Media Relations Director at Washington. Bechthold is responsible for all media relations for Husky baseball, gymnastics and men's soccer, and serves as the local editor of Husky football game programs.

Bechthold joined the Washington staff in 1991 after a stint as an intern in the Stanford sports information office, and a one-year public relations internship at the Pacific-10 Conference office in Walnut Creek, Calif.

Game 1 • September 4, 1993
Washington 31, Stanford 14

Husky Stadium
Seattle, Wash.
Attendance: 71,893
Weather: 60°, cloudy

After a seemingly endless off-season that saw Washington placed on probation by the Pac-10 and head coach Don James resign in protest, the Huskies responded with a 31-14 victory over Pac-10 rival and 15th-ranked Stanford. It was Washington's eighth straight opening day victory and 14th consecutive home victory.

Emotions were running high for the 12th-ranked Huskies and new coach Jim Lambright before the opening kickoff. Lambright walked his team out of the tunnel in rows of four with helmets held high to pay tribute to James, Washington's skipper for 18 seasons, who was watching from the press box.

Washington took that emotion onto the field as it piled up 500 yards in total offense in its 10th straight win over the Cardinal. Junior Napoleon Kaufman picked up 264 all-purpose yards including 195 rushing. Sophomore Damon Huard became the 10th straight Husky quarterback to win a debut as a starter by completing 14 passes in 23 attempts for 174 yards.

Washington's first drive ended when it turned the ball over on downs at the Cardinal 24-yard line. Three plays later Russell Hairston recovered a Stanford fumble which set up a 32-yard field goal by Travis Hanson for a 3-0 Husky lead.

Mark Bruener slipped by the Cardinal secondary for two touchdowns.

Stanford took the lead with a 13-play, 86-yard drive to start the second quarter. Cardinal quarterback Steve Stenstrom completed seven of nine passes for 66 yards on the drive including a seven-yard touchdown pass to Ellery Roberts.

Washington responded immediately and took the lead for good with its own 10-play, 77-yard drive which was capped off by Huard's nine-yard touchdown pass to tight end Mark Bruener. Kaufman rushed for 45 yards on four carries to key Washington.

The Huskies gained at least 100 yards in each quarter, but could not pull away from Stanford until they scored two touchdowns in the span of 2:54 in the third quarter. Huard connected with Bruener for their second touchdown on the day when Bruener got behind the Stanford secondary for a 66-yard touchdown.

After Stanford went three-and-out, Washington scored in four plays. Kaufman scampered for 26 yards and, one play later, Huard hit tight end Ernie Conwell for a 26-yard touchdown and a 24-7 lead.

The Husky defense pressured Stenstrom relentlessly, sacking the Stanford signal-caller six times on the day and knocking him out of the game in the fourth-quarter. After scoring its first touchdown, Stanford averaged 11.75 yards on its next eight drives.

Washington took a 31-7 lead in the fourth quarter with a dominating 93-yard march in 18 plays that took 8:48 off the clock. It was capped by a two-yard touchdown run by Huard on fourth down.

Backup quarterback Mark Butterfield replaced Stenstrom and took the Cardinal on a 84-yard touchdown drive to cut the Husky lead to its final margin, 31-14. Mitchell's one-yard touchdown was set up when Butterfield hooked up with Mitchell for a 17-yard gain one play earlier.

Game 2 • September 11, 1993
Ohio State 21, Washington 12

Ohio Stadium
Columbus, Ohio
Attendance: 94,109
Weather: 79°, night game

According to Husky tailback Napoleon Kaufman, the Stanford game was "for the Pac-10 race" and the Ohio State game was "for the national race." The Buckeyes viewed the contest in the same way and bolted themselves into the national picture with a 21-12 win over the 12th-ranked Huskies.

Big plays were the key in the Buckeyes' victory. Ohio State had nine plays that gained more than 10 yards, including touchdown scores of 35 and 49 yards. Washington, on the other hand, could not capitalize on opportunities. It had a touchdown nullified by penalty, twice settled for field goals inside the Buckeye 15-yard line and missed a two-point conversion attempt.

Ohio State never trailed as it took the opening kickoff and drove 80 yards in 10 plays for a touchdown. The passing of Bobby Hoying and the running of Raymond Harris highlighted the drive. Hoying, a sophomore making only his second start for the Buckeyes, completed all three of his pass attempts for 49 yards. Harris rushed six times for 26 yards including the two-yard run to cap off the drive.

Washington capitalized on an Ohio State mistake in its next series to cut the lead to 7-3. After driving to the Buckeye 48-yard line, John Werdel's punt was muffed by Buckeye Joey Galloway and recovered at the OSU 15 by Husky center David Reiner. After two Kaufman rushes netted one yard, Damon Huard hit a slanting Joe Kralik for a touchdown. However, the touchdown was called back when the Huskies were hit with a personal foul. After a 22-yard screen pass to Kaufman, Washington settled for a 29-yard Travis Hanson field goal.

Defense took over on each team's next three drives. Ohio State netted drives of zero, six and 12 yards. Washington had two three-and-out drives sandwiched around another missed scoring opportunity. The Huskies began the second quarter by penetrating to the Buckeye 27-yard line. A penalty and an incomplete pass stalled the Husky drive and Hanson missed from 50 yards out.

Two big plays provided Ohio State with a 14-3 lead. Hoying found fullback Jeff Cothran on the right sideline for a 26-yard gain that pushed the Buckeyes inside Husky territory to the 43. Four plays later, on fourth-and-two at the Husky 35, Hoying rolled right and found Galloway on a hook pattern in the right flat. Galloway caught the pass and pivoted to avoid two defenders and outraced the Husky secondary for a 35-yard touchdown.

With just over two minutes left before halftime the Huskies took advantage of a shanked Buckeye punt that gave them the ball at the Buckeye 29 yard line. Huard found Theron Hill for an eight-yard touchdown pass to cap the eight-play struggle to get to the end zone. The Huskies failed in a two-point attempt and trailed 14-9 at halftime.

Defense dominated again in the third quarter as both teams combined for 79 yards of offense in the quarter before Washington started the final drive.

The Huskies began that drive at their own 17-yard line and marched 83 yards to the Ohio State four yard line where Hanson kicked a 21-yard field goal on fourth-and-one to cut the lead to 14-12.

Washington seemed to be gaining momentum as Ohio State faced third-and-three after two plays on its next series. The Huskies, however, jumped offside to give the Buckeyes a first down and on the next play Butler By'not'e beat a Husky blitz for a 49-yard touchdown run to five the Buckeyes a 21-12 lead that broke the Huskies back.

"We were in it right up until that last touchdown," Jim Lambright said. "You have to make the plays in the opponent's backyard. And we didn't."

Washington 35, East Carolina 0

Husky Stadium
Seattle, Wash.
Attendance: 72,108
Weather: 66°, sunny

After a week off, 16th-ranked Washington returned to the field and blanked the East Carolina Pirates 35-0 behind a classic Husky defensive performance. The Pirate offense came into the game averaging 421 yards and 31.5 points a game, but the Huskies smothering attack-defense held the Pirates to 103 total yards and only four net rushing yards.

The Husky defense forced ECU into five turnovers, 15 penalties for 115 yards (more than its total offense) and overall confusion. "Sometimes our guys didn't know who to block," said freshman quarterback Chris Hester who made his first start of the year. Hester replaced Pirate starter Marcus Crandell who had dislocated his ankle the previous week.

It was the Huskies best defensive performance since Nov. 16 1991, when they held Oregon State to only 83 total yards (all rushing). Washington had its best rush defensive day since Sept. 28, 1991 when it held Kansas State to a total of minus-17 rushing yards.

The ECU offense could not escape the shadow of its own endzone. Husky punter John Werdel, suffering from the flu, continually pinned the Pirates inside the 20-yard line. Each of the Pirates' last seven drives and, all but three on the day, started at or inside their own 20.

Andy Mason recovered an East Carolina fumble in the endzone for a touchdown to highlight Washington's shutout.

Washington moved to 6-0 when Napoleon Kaufman rushed for more than 100 yards as he picked up 142 yards on the ground. Kaufman capped a seven-play, 48-yard drive in the first quarter with a one-yard touchdown run that gave Washington the lead for good 7-0.

Jason Crabbe kicked the first field goals of his career with two in the second quarter to push the Huskies to a 13-0 halftime lead. Crabbe's first came from 30 yards out and his second from 25 yards away.

The Husky defense provided the only scoring in the third quarter when Andy Mason recovered a Pirate fumble in the endzone. The fumble occurred when crowd noise caused the Pirate center to snap the ball at the wrong time which Hester could not handle. "They couldn't hear what I was saying even though I was screaming at the top of my lungs," said Hester.

The Husky offense added two touchdowns in the fourth quarter. The first came on a 34-yard drive that Kaufman finished with a three-yard run for his second touchdown of the day. Mike Derrow then set up the next Husky score by intercepting Hester at the Pirate 23-yard line on the next drive. Seven plays later Richard Thomas pushed the lead to 35-0 with a one-yard touchdown run.

The victory marked the Huskies 15th consecutive victory at Husky Stadium, tying the record for home victories set between 1981-83.

Game 4 • October 2, 1993
Washington 52, San Jose State 17

Husky Stadium
Seattle, Wash.
Attendance: 67,976
Weather: 65°, sunny

Washington broke a 10-year-old record with its 16th consecutive home victory by stomping San Jose State 52-17 behind 556 yards of total offense. The loss dropped the Spartans to 0-5 for the first time since 1923.

The 556 yards were the most by the Huskies since beating Nebraska in 1991 with 618 total yards. Damon Huard completed his first 10 passes and finished the day 15-for-17 for 247 yards and three touchdowns. Napoleon Kaufman rushed for over 100 yards for the third straight game with 118 yards in 20 carries and two touchdowns. Jason Shelley had a career day with 142 yards on four receptions including a 52-yard touchdown -- the longest of his career.

The Washington offense went right to work and scored on its first drive. A 22-yard pass from Huard to Mark Bruener and a 14-yard scamper by Kaufman keyed the 70-yard drive that was capped off by Richard Thomas' first career touchdown reception. Huard hit Thomas from five yards out for a 6-0 lead (PAT missed).

The Husky defense then created its first of five turnovers on the day when Russell Hairston recovered a fumble at the Spartan 47-yard line. Eight plays later Kaufman took a pitch and ran in for a touchdown from two-yards out. After a two-point conversion the Spartans trailed 14-0 after only having run two offensive plays.

Jamal Fountaine and the Husky defense gave SJSU quarterback Jeff Garcia fits.

After San Jose State cut the lead to 14-7 at the beginning of the second quarter, Washington responded quickly by scoring 23 seconds later on a 52 yard reverse flea-flicker from Huard to Shelley, who was all alone behind the Spartan secondary. "When they called that play in the huddle my eyes just got really big," Shelley said.

The Husky defense then held San Jose State to a field goal after Washington had turned the ball over at its own eight-yard line. Kaufman then carried the Huskies to a 28-10 halftime lead by running for all 43 yards of a six-play touchdown drive that included a 10-yard touchdown run.

The Husky offense continued to roll in the third quarter with 17 points. The sweetest of them was Beno Bryant's 34-yard touchdown run. The fifth-year senior took a pitch, bisected two defenders near the line of scrimmage, and ran down the left sideline to paydirt. It was Bryant's first touchdown since scoring against Nebraska in 1992.

Washington added another touchdown in the fourth quarter when Leon Neal scored from one-yard out on a 57-yard drive that saw him carry five times for 17 yards.

The Husky defense continued to attack opposing offenses as they picked up eight tackles for loss including five sacks. Washington picked off San Jose State quarterbacks three times, including Scott Greenlaw's first career interception.

"The Huskies are a good football team," said Spartan coach John Ralston. "They're the benchmark of the West. It used to be USC, but the Huskies took that over."

Attendance: 55,000
Weather: 70°, sunny

Washington came back from a 13-point deficit in the game's final 2:06 for a dramatic 24-23 victory over 16th-ranked California in one of the most amazing comebacks in Washington history. Damon Huard completed 12 of his last 14 passes, including touchdown passes to D.J. McCarthy and Mark Bruener, on Washington's last two drives to complete the comeback from a 23-3 third quarter deficit.

Washington, ranked 13th, trailed by 20 after the previously unbeaten Bears kicked a 32-yard field goal with 7:25 left in the third. Up to that point, Washington had committed five turnovers (four by Huard) and was averaging 2.3 yards per carry while passing for only 94 yards.

California built the lead behind the passing of Dave Barr who was 15-of-19 for 202 yards and two touchdowns after Cal's last touchdown drive. He finished the day 23-of-30 for 264 yards.

"When it was 23-3, the demons were coming up from the shadows and saying, 'OK, Huskies, it's time for you to lose and go home now,'" said defensive tackle D'Marco Farr. Washington, however, would not die.

"You can never stop believing," said coach Jim Lambright. "The Washington Huskies never stop believing. Never."

A Husky walkon, D.J. McCarthy's touchdown reception with 2:06 remaining set up Washington's come-from-behind win.

Washington began the comeback with a six-play, 63-yard drive that culminated in a Napoleon Kaufman three-yard touchdown with 2:11 left in the third quarter. Huard set up the touchdown run with a 20-yard keeper down the left sideline.

Washington's next three drives ended in turnovers as they turned the ball over on downs, with another Huard fumble and an interception.

Then the amazing and unbelievable started. With 3:47 left in the game, Washington gained possession at its own 24 after a Bear punt. The Huskies had driven to Cal's 29 when Huard found a diving McCarthy in the left endzone for the senior's first career touchdown. With 2:06 remaining Washington had cut the lead to six points.

Jason Crabbe then executed a perfect, high-bouncing onside kick that was touched by at least two Huskies and two Bears before being recovered by Scott Greenlaw at the Cal 48.

Huard then drove Washington to the winning touchdown in 1:02 with a nine play, 48-yard drive that was capped by a seven-yard touchdown pass to Bruener. Bruener caught three passes on the winning drive and seven total on the day for 68 yards. Jason Crabbe then kicked the most important PAT of his career for a 24-23 lead.

In the final two drives, Huard was 12-of-14 for 132 yards including two fourth down conversions. Huard finished the day 22-of-34 for 237 yards with two touchdowns and four interceptions.

California's last effort ended when time expired before the Bears could snap the ball for a 69-yard field goal attempt.

"I don't know what winning a bowl game is like as a head coach," said an emotionally spent Lambright. "But this is as high as I've ever been as a head coach."

Game 6 • October 16, 1993
UCLA 39, Washington 25

Rose Bowl
Pasadena, Calif.
Attendance: 40,830
Weather: 68°, overcast

Junior wide receiver J.J. Stokes burned the Washington secondary for 10 catches, 190 yards and four touchdowns as 22nd-ranked UCLA defeated the 12th-ranked Huskies 39-25. Stokes' four touchdowns were the most against a Washington team by a wide receiver and tied a Pac-10 record.

The game was the first meeting between the two schools since UCLA beat Washington 25-22 in 1990, costing the Huskies a possible national championship. It was going well for Washington before Stokes turned the tide. Washington stopped UCLA's first drive in three plays and then marched 51 yards in six plays. Matt Jones' 25-yard rumble up the middle set up a Napoleon Kaufman three-yard touchdown to give the Huskies a 7-0 lead four minutes into the game.

UCLA then tried to hand Washington the game by mishandling the football. After the Husky touchdown, Derek Ayers fumbled the kickoff which was recovered by Louis Jones at the Bruin three-yard line. Washington handed the ball right back when, three plays later, Kaufman fumbled near the goal line and UCLA recovered.

Washington gained two points out of the field position when Bruin quarterback Wayne Cook muffed the snap and Derek Stevens recovered for the Bruins in their own endzone giving the Huskies a safety.

After receiving the kickoff after the safety, Washington marched 43 yards in four plays.

D'Marco Farr's defensive play helped spark Washington in the early going against UCLA.

Damon Huard's 39-yard completion to Ernie Conwell and Kaufman's 18-yard run set up Kaufman's second touchdown of the day, a one-yard dive over the top. Travis Hanson missed the PAT and the Huskies led 15-0.

UCLA turned the ball over one more time on its next drive when Lamar Lyons intercepted a Cook pass and returned it to the Bruin 39. Washington did not capitalize on one more opportunity when Kaufman was stripped of the ball inside the five-yard line.

"UCLA was staggering a little bit," said Jim Lambright. "That's the time you have to capitalize."

Then the Stokes show began. After each team exchanged possession, Washington had pinned UCLA at the five-yard line facing third-and-six. Cook hit Stokes on a slant and he shook two Washington defenders and outran the rest for a school-record 95-yard touchdown on the last play of the quarter.

After a Hanson 42-yard field goal, UCLA scored the next 25 points. Stokes gathered in touchdown receptions from Cook of 18 yards in the second quarter, 22 yards in the third and six yards in the fourth. Bjorn Merten also kicked a 24-yard field goal in the fourth quarter and Washington trailed 32-18.

Husky fans had visions of another comeback dancing in their heads when D.J. McCarthy brought the Huskies within seven with an eight-yard touchdown reception from Eric Bjornson, who had replaced an injured Damon Huard. The touchdown was set up when Steve Springstead sacked Cook causing him to fumble and Jamal Fountaine picked up the loose ball and returned it 31 yards to the Bruin 12 yard line.

After the Husky defense forced UCLA to punt after three plays, Washington had possession at its own 49 with 3:41 left. However, the same magic that was there a week earlier did not surface and Bjornson was intercepted. Washington had one more chance, but again Bjornson was intercepted, this time by Teddy Lawrence, who returned it 36 yards for a touchdown clinching UCLA's 39-25 victory.

Russell Hairston had three of Washington's six interceptions and Napoleon Kaufman rushed for 142 yards to propel the 22nd-ranked Huskies to a 21-6 win over Oregon. The victory extended Washington's school-record home winning streak to 17 games.

The name of the game for the Huskies was a strong rushing attack and solid pass defense. Oregon, behind starter Danny O'Neil, had averaged 318 passing yards coming into the game. The Husky secondary stepped up to the challenge, picking off O'Neil six times and holding him to 198 yards on 18-of-32 passing. The last time Washington intercepted six passes in a game was Oct. 4, 1986 in a 50-18 win over California. Hairston's three interceptions, the first three of his career, was one short of the Husky record. The last Husky to intercept three passes in a game was Tim Meamber against Northwestern on Sept. 8, 1984.

Washington used the tailback tandem of Kaufman and Beno Bryant to pound Oregon for 308 yards rushing. Bryant rushed for 73 yards to add to Kaufman's 142. Bryant moved into ninth place on the Husky career rushing list. Kaufman's 219 all-purpose yards pushed his career total over the 3,000-yard mark. The two backs accounted for all of Washington's touchdowns (Kaufman two, Bryant one).

Russell Hairston had three of Washington's six interceptions against Oregon's Danny O'Neil.

After both teams failed to score in the first quarter for the first time in the year, Bryant's 35-yard run erased a 3-0 deficit to give Washington a 7-3 lead with 3:42 remaining in the second quarter. Bryant accounted for 68 of the Huskies' 80 yards on the scoring drive.

Washington carried that lead into halftime. In the third quarter Oregon capitalized on good field position and a 16-yard Sean Burwell run to get within one on a Tommy Thompson 44-yard field goal.

Washington responded immediately when Kaufman broke a 58-yard run for a touchdown, the longest touchdown and second longest run of his career. Kaufman gained 68 yards on the 76-yard drive.

Washington pulled away in the fourth quarter when Kaufman capped off a 10-play, 35-yard drive with a one-yard touchdown plunge for the final 21-6 lead. In all of Washington's three scoring drives, rushing plays accounted for all the yardage.

"Running was the emphasis all week," said center Jim Nevelle. "It's a chore to block, but when you get a long run, it's a payoff."

Washington's defense was steady all day allowing Oregon only one drive with more than seven plays. It held Oregon to 96 yards rushing while stalling the potent Duck air attack. O'Neil's 198 yards was his lowest passing output of the season up to that point.

"He was one of the best quarterbacks in the Pac-10 coming in and we set a goal to hold him under 200 yards passing and we did that," Hairston said.

Game 8 • October 30, 1993
Arizona State 32, Washington 17

Sun Devil Stadium
Tempe, Ariz.
Attendance: 48,116
Weather: 77°, overcast

Sun Devil tailbacks Mario Bates and George Montgomery both rushed for over 100 yards in Arizona State's 32-17 victory over 19th-ranked Washington. The victory snapped a three game-losing streak against the Huskies for ASU.

In all, ASU rushed for 254 of its 405 yards of total offense against a team that had the sixth-best rush defense coming into the game. Bates finished with 163 yards on 27 carries and two touchdowns while Montgomery gained 100 yards on 15 carries.

The Huskies took the lead in the first quarter on a Napoleon Kaufman five-yard touchdown run after a seven-play, 61-yard drive. The key play in the drive was a 26-yard reception by tight end Ernie Conwell from Damon Huard. Kaufman ended the day with 119 yards on 16 carries.

The Sun Devils responded immediately with their own touchdown drive (eight plays, 65 yards) that finished with one of Bates' touchdowns, a one-yard burst. The Sun Devils then took the lead 9-7 when Husky punter John Werdel was tackled in the endzone for a safety after a bad snap.

True freshman Jake Plummer started at quarterback for ASU and threw his only touchdown pass of the day to give ASU a 16-7 lead. Plummer hit Johnny Thomas in full stride for a 57-yard touchdown.

Eric Bjornson had a career day by throwing for 186 yards against the Sun Devils.

The Huskies came back to take a 17-16 halftime lead with two second quarter scores. Eric Bjornson, replacing Huard, ended a seven-play, 60-yard drive with a one-yard touchdown keeper on fourth down. Kaufman set up the touchdown with a 45-yard run four plays earlier. In the first half, Kaufman rushed for 105 yards.

The Huskies then took the lead with a 38-yard field goal by Travis Hanson. Bjornson's 46-yard completion to Theron Hill keyed the 70-yard drive. It would be the Huskies last points of the game.

The second half belonged entirely to the Sun Devils as they ran off 16 unanswered points. A 32-yard Jon Baker field goal gave ASU the lead for good on the first possession of the second half. Bates and Montgomery combined for 38 of the 66 yards on the drive.

After Hanson missed a field goal from 48-yards, ASU climbed Bates' and Montgomery's back for a 69-yard drive as the two backs accounted for every single yard. Bates took a handoff around right end for a 29-yard score to give ASU a 26-17 lead.

Two Baker field goals in the fourth quarter gave ASU the final margin, 32-17.

Washington's only substantial drive of the second half ended with 3:28 left in the game when Bjornson was picked off by Lenny McGill at the goal line on fourth-and-goal.

"This one really hurts," coach Jim Lambright said. "This one is probably the biggest (loss of the season). Why? I didn't expect, nor did I want to change our 9-2 goal."

Game 9 • November 6, 1993
Washington 28, Oregon State 21

Parker Stadium
Corvallis, Ore.
Attendance: 33,944
Weather: 52°, sunny

Washington scored 25 consecutive second-half points to beat Oregon State for the Beavers' fourth straight loss, 28-21. Oregon State failed to beat the Huskies for the first time since 1974.

For the second time during the year, Washington came back on the road from a halftime deficit to win the game. Oregon State's J.J. Young scored two second quarter touchdowns to give the Beavers a 14-3 lead. Washington kept the Beavers first scoring drive alive by roughing the punter after stopping Oregon State. Three plays later Young scampered 48 yards for a touchdown. It was the second-longest run of the season against Washington. Young then dashed 34 yards with 2:12 left in the half to give OSU an 14-3 lead.

Young rushed for 124 yards in the first half and ended up with 151 yards on 22 carries. It was his fifth 100-yard plus performance of the season and second-highest total of his career.

Washington came out determined in the second half and went straight to work on its first two possessions. "All I was thinking was we can't lose like this," said Napoleon Kaufman.

A 55-yard drive in 11 plays ended in a Travis Hanson field goal to start the half. After forcing an OSU punt, Washington marched 81 yards in seven plays and tied the game with a two-point conversion. Kaufman scored the touchdown with a 38-yard touchdown dash.

Dave Janoski's diving 45-yard reception in the fourth quarter set up Washington's final score against the Beavers.

The Washington defense then set up the Huskies' next score when Steve Springstead forced a John Young fumble that was recovered by David Killpatrick at the Beaver eight-yard line. Three plays later Beno Bryant scored from five yards out and the Huskies took the lead for good 21-14.

The Huskies dominated the third quarter allowing only two Beaver first downs, 41 yards rushing and zero yards passing. "Once we stopped the option, I guess the game was ours," defensive tackle D'Marco Farr said.

Meanwhile, the Husky offense racked up 111 total yards and eight first downs with Kaufman gaining 57 yards on seven carries in the quarter.

Washington scored for the fourth consecutive possession in the final quarter. Eric Bjornson, who started the game, found Dave Janoski for a 45-yard completion that set up Matt Jones' one-yard touchdown run one play later.

The Beavers cut the Husky lead down to a touchdown when Young scored for the third time on the day with an eight-yard run with 1:13 left in the game. D.J. McCarthy squelched any thoughts of a Beaver rally when he recovered the Beaver's onside kick attempt and Washington ran out the clock.

"We had to come together on the road like this," safety Lamar Lyons said. "We had to know it wasn't anything else but us."

Game 10 • November 13, 1993
USC 22, Washington 17

Husky Stadium
Seattle, Wash.
Attendance: 72,202
Weather: 50°, partly sunny

The USC Trojans snapped the Huskies' school record 17-game home winning streak with a 22-17 victory at Husky Stadium. The victory set up a Los Angeles showdown between the Trojans and UCLA for a trip to the Rose Bowl.

Redshirt freshman Shawn Walters carried 25 times for 119 yards and Trojan quarterback Rob Johnson was 24-of-37 for 252 yards and one touchdown. It was USC's first victory in Seattle since 1987.

Napoleon Kaufman ran for more than 100 yards for the 10th time in his Husky career with 129 yards on 18 carries and one touchdown. Eric Bjornson started at quarterback for Washington and finished with a 14-of-33 day for 187 yards.

The game was close throughout as neither team had more than an eight-point lead. USC began the scoring with a field goal that was set up by a Washington turnover.

Kaufman came right back with 41 of Washington's 51 yards in a five-play touchdown drive. Kaufman keyed the drive with a 24-yard run and scored the touchdown from 12 yards out.

Southern Cal came right back with a touchdown drive of its own. Johnson passed to Walters for a two-yard touchdown pass to push the Trojans on top 10-7. Walters' 25-yard run earlier in the drive was the long gain.

Ink Aleaga, playing in only his fourth game, led the Huskies with 12 tackles against USC.

The Huskies notched the only points of the second quarter when Beno Bryant scored on a six-yard run that capped a 16-play, 86-yard drive that consumed 6:22 on the clock. Washington kept the drive alive with a fourth-down conversion at its own 48-yard line on fourth-and-one.

USC recaptured the lead 16-14 on the first possession of the second half. Johnson found Ken Grace for a 34-yard gain to set up a Walters seven-yard touchdown run. Cole Ford missed the PAT.

It was the beginning of a great half for Johnson, USC's single-season record holder for completions, passing yardage and touchdown passes. He was 12-of-16 for 146 yards in the second half. "He kept hitting passes in the dead zone, that gray area between too much and too little," said Husky defensive lineman D'Marco Farr.

Johnson completed two passes to Deon Strothers for 36 yards on Southern Cal's next scoring drive. Strothers set up his own touchdown run with a 24-yard screen pass the play before his one-yard plunge into the endzone. The Trojans failed a two-point conversion attempt and led 22-14.

Washington was in Trojan territory in three of its first four second-half drives, but only came up with three points on a Hanson 39-yard field goal with 9:45 left in the fourth quarter. Washington never threatened from there on.

"It's awesome to beat UW," said Johnson, "they've won their last 17 game here."

Washington 26, Washington State 3

Husky Stadium
Seattle, Wash.
Attendance: 72,688
Weather: 50°, cloudy

Washington rushed for 302 yards and ground up Washington State 26-3 for the bragging rights to the Apple Cup. Napoleon Kaufman rushed for 181 of those yards, giving him 1,299 on the year, to break Greg Lewis' single-season school record by 20 yards. Kaufman's rushing total was more than any team had amassed against the Cougars during the season. It was the 93rd renewal of the cross-state rivalry that saw WSU upset Washington 42-23 a year earlier.

"There was one huge point our players were going to make," said Husky coach Jim Lambright who became the first Husky coach to post seven wins in his first season. "That was that the Cougars were not going to be more emotionally ready to play this game than we were."

The Huskies came out charged up, especially the Husky defense and offensive line. The defense held WSU to 35 yards rushing and allowed the Cougars only three points despite five trips inside the Husky 25-yard line. The highlight came when WSU had a first-and-goal at the UW seven-yard line and the Husky defense stopped seven Cougar attempts (due to Husky penalties) at the endzone, including four inside the six.

Lambright said he's never seen his offensive line "so into the game," as they set their sight on Kaufman's single-season record. The offensive line wanted to get Kaufman that record as much as anyone. Said offensive guard Andrew Peterson, "I love blocking for that guy."

Napoleon Kaufman ran for 181 yards against the Cougars to set the Husky single-season rushing mark.

Kaufman loves running behind them. "It's not just my record, it's the offensive line's too," he said. "They were with me on every carry. I feel like I should take them all out to dinner, but only if they want to go to McDonald's."

After taking a 3-0 lead in the first quarter on a Travis Hanson 26-yard field goal, Kaufman bolted for a 28-yard touchdown that was set up by a 17-yard WSU punt. It was the ninth consecutive game that Kaufman has scored a rushing touchdown.

After a WSU field goal, Kaufman came back with another touchdown run, this one from eight yards out, to end a 49-yard drive. Kaufman had 33 of the 49 yards on the drive. It was his 14th touchdown during the season with tied him for fifth on the Husky single-season list.

The second half saw three Hanson field goals of 28, 42 and 34 yards after long time consuming Husky drives. Kaufman rushed for 84 of Washington's 141 yards during those scoring drives.

With his 14 points on the day, Hanson upped his career total to 229 to move into the fourth spot on the Husky career scoring list.

The Husky defense shut out the Cougars for the half and allowed minus-nine net rushing yards in the half.

The victory was a "band-aid" for a long season. "It kind of puts the icing on the cake," said senior D'Marco Farr. "After everything we've been through this is kind of the band aid for the wound. It's been fun and I'm glad we were able to go out on a positive note."

Noting the Huskies in 1993

KAUFMAN TOPPLES RUSHING MARK: With 1,299 rushing yards in 1994, Napoleon Kaufman turned in the best single-season performance in Husky history. Kaufman has turned in seven performances of 100-or-more rushing yards during the season. He had four 100-yard outings in 1992. Here's a look at Washington's single-season rushing list which finds Kaufman listed twice:

	Player (Season)	No.	Yds.	Avg.
1.	Napoleon Kaufman (1993)	226	1299	5.7
2.	Greg Lewis (1990)	229	1279	5.6
3.	Joe Steele (1978)	237	1111	4.7
4.	Hugh McElhenny (1950)	179	1107	6.2
5.	Greg Lewis (1989)	239	1100	4.8
6.	Napoleon Kaufman (1992)	162	1045	6.5

THE 1,000-YARD SEASONS: Last season junior tailback Napoleon Kaufman became only the second Husky player to post back-to-back 1,000-yard seasons. Kaufman completed the year with 1,299 yards, establishing a single-season school rushing record. Greg Lewis is the only other player to post back-to-back 1,000-yard seasons. He rushed for 1,100 yards in 1989 and followed that up with 1,279 yards in 1990. In 1992, Kaufman became the first sophomore to crack the 1,000-yard mark by rushing for 1,045 yards. He reached the 2,000-yard mark quicker than any other Husky back when he completed the UCLA game with 2,008 career rushing yards.

THE FIRST YEAR COACH: Jim Lambright's 7-4 record at Washington made him the winningest first-year coach in Husky history. Don James (6-5 in 1975) and Gil Dobie (6-0-1 in 1908) had held the mark for wins by a first-year coach with six. Lambright, James, Dobie and James Phelan (5-4 in 1930) are the only Husky first-year coaches since 1908 to post a winning season in their inagural season at Washington.

THE COACH: Jim Lambright compiled a 7-4 record in his first year as Washington's head coach after taking over the reigns of the football program Aug. 22 following the retirement of Don James. That's the most wins every by a first-year Husky coach. Lambright served as an assistant on the Huskies' staff since 1969 and acted as assistant head coach for six seasons before taking over the top spot. He was Washington's defensive coordinator for 16 years. Washington is Lambright's first head coaching position. Prior to coming to Washington, Lambright was an assistant coach at Fife (Wash.) High School in 1965 and an assistant coach at Shoreline Community College from 1966-69. A Washington graduate, Lambright lettered in the 1963 and 1964 seasons for the Huskies.

THE INJURIES: Last season's Husky squad was hit with more than its share of injuries. Only five players started every game for the Huskies on defense. That list included defensive tackle D'Marco Farr, defensive end Jamal Fountaine, inside linebacker Steve Springstead and cornerbacks Reggie Reser and Russell Hairston. A total of 14 Husky starters or key reserves missed at least one game with an injury. That list included: Damon Barry (Fall Camp — Out for year with bulging disk); Ink Aleaga (Fall Camp — Broken leg, missed five games); Demetrius Devers (knee injury at Oregon State); Steve Hoffmann (Bulging disk — out following Ohio State); Josh Moore (Bursitis, missed East Carolina and San Jose State//Sore shoulder, missed Oregon State, USC and Washington State); Ernie Conwell (Missed San Jose State with ankle sprain); Theron Hill (elbow, missed Washington State); Matt Jones (Missed San Jose State with ankle sprain); Donovan Schmidt (Cal — ankle sprain, missed three games); Andy Mason (Missed Oregon following knee scope); Frank Garcia (UCLA — broken foot); Joe Kralik (Arizona State — concussion, missed Oregon State); Lawyer Milloy (Arizona State — sore shoulder, missed Oregon State) and Hillary Butler (Surgery for hernia following Arizona State).

THE INTERCEPTIONS: With 22 interceptions the Huskies tied for the naitonal lead in that category along with Alabama, Virginia, SW Louisiana and Wisconsin. Washington managed at least one interception in all but one game (USC). The Huskies high mark was six interceptions against Oregon. That total was the most by a Husky team since the 1986 season when Washington picked off six passes vs. California. Washington's 22 interceptions this season topped last year's total of 14. The 22 interceptions ranks as the sixth best mark since records were kept in 1950.

KAUFMAN CATCHING ON: Junior tailback Napoleon Kaufman not only led the Huskies' in rushing last season with 1,299 yards on 226 carries, he was second on the team in receiving with 23 catches for 139 yards. Kaufman's season total is higher than his career mark (18 receptions for 86 yards) heading into the '93 campaign.

KAUFMAN'S NUMBERS: Junior tailback Napoleon Kaufman joined Washington's top-10 career rushers list last year with his performance against Stanford in the season opener. Kaufman continued to climb the all-time charts during the season and finished fourth in career rushing with 2,651 yards. He is third on the all-time all-purpose rushing list and ranks 10th on the punt and kickoff return charts.

NEVELLE AWARDED SCHOLARSHIP: Washington senior center Jim Nevelle was named as one of 15 student-athletes to qualify for the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame fellowship last season. The 15 recipients of the $18,000 graduate fellowships were honored Dec. 7 at the 36th Annual Awards Dinner featuring the induction ceremonies for the 1993 College Football Hall of Fame. The event was held at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York City. Nevelle was a mechanical engineering major at Washington.

AGAINST THE RUN: Only Stanford, Ohio State (two), Arizona State (two), Oregon State (three) and USC (two) managed to rush for scores against the Huskies last season. Washington allowed only six rushes longer than 19 yards while holding opponents to an average of 120.2 yards per game (18th nationally). Opponents managed runs of 20-yards-or-longer 24 times, including 13 carries over 30 yards during the 1992 season.

BENO'S NUMBERS: Senior tailback Beno Bryant finished his career in the middle of four different career lists. Here's a look at his accomplishments:

HANSON SETS MARK: Senior placekicker Travis Hanson converted two PATs against Oregon State to pass Jeff Jaeger (1983-86) as the all-time leader in that department last season. Hanson finished his UW career with 124 PATs while Jaeger — who is also Washinton's all-time scoring leader with 358 points — had made 118 PATs during his playing career. Hanson had his consecutive PAT streak (regular season games only) snapped at 55 against UCLA when he missed his first conversion attempt of the game. Hanson finished his caree r fourth on Washington's all-time scoring list with 229 points.

THE KICK RETURN SPECIALIST: Backup offensive tackle Prince Arthur Emerson earned quite a reputation for the Huskies last season — as a kick returner. With opponents unwilling to kickoff to Washington's explosive return duo of Beno Bryant and Napoleon Kaufman, Emerson was the unlikely recipient of five short kickoffs. Emerson, who was on the Huskies' second line of kickoff coverage, didn't just fall on the ball when it came his way. He returned five kickoffs for 55 yards and was the only Husky besides Kaufman and Bryant to return more than one kickoff during the season. Emerson's efforts resulted in Washington starting drives at the 30-, 37-, 36-, 36- and 33-yard line.

THE BRUENER METER: Junior tight end Mark Bruener, considered one of the best tight ends in the nation, was named an All-American by the Associated Press, United Press International and Newspaper Enterprise Association. Bruener led the team with 30 receptions for 414 yards last season. He pulled in a pair of touchdown passes against Stanford, including a 66-yarder, the second longest catch by a Husky tight end. He also had the winning touchdown grab in Washington's come-from-behind win against California. Here's a look at where Bruener figures on Washington's career tight end reception list heading into his senior season.

KEEPING THE STREAK ALIVE: The Huskies' 7-4 record last year guaranteed Washington its 17th consecutive winning season. The Huskies last sub-.500 record was a 5-6 finish in 1976. Washington is one of just nine Division I programs that have not experienced a losing season in the past 10 years. The Huskies current 16-year mark without a losing or .500 season is the third best current streak. Only Nebraska (32 years) and Oklahoma (28 years) have longer streaks of winnings seasons. Florida State, like Washington, has put together 17 consecutive winning seasons. Here's a look at the list of nine teams:

Team		Consecutive Non-Losing Seasons	Last Losing Season	Last .500 Season (If applicable)
1.	Nebraska	32 years	3-6-1 in 1961	—
2.	Oklahoma	28 years	3-7-0 in 1965	—

ALUMNI COACHES Jim Lambright became the fourth Washington alumnus to coach the Husky football team. Ralph Nichols (1885-96, 1898) was the first, compiling a 7-4-1 record. Enoch Bagshaw (Class of '07) was the most successful, going 63-22-6 from 1921-29, and guiding the Huskies to their first two Rose Bowl appearances (1924, 1926). John Cherberg (Class of'33) compiled a 10-18-2 record from 1953-55.

IN THE NFL: Washington figures fourth in total players in the NFL based on opening day rosters for the 1993 season. The Pac-10 leads all conferences with 208 players in the NFL. Here's a look at the breakdown of colleges with the most players in the NFL:

1.	UCLA	37
2.	USC	36
	Miami	36
4.	Washington	32
5.	Florida State	30
	Notre Dame	30

HUSKY A-BOMB: Senior outside linebacker Andy Mason, nicknamed A-Bomb, finished his career in the top five of Washingon's career tackles for loss and lost yardage lists. Mason missed the Oregon game and did not start vs. Arizona State or USC after having his knee scoped. That was only the third and fourth games he has failed to start for the Huskies in the last three seasons. Having played in 43 regular season games during his career, Mason's tackle log included 168 total, and 40.5 for loss during his career. He ranks fourth on the Tackles for Lost Yardage list with 212.5 yards. His 40.5 tackles for loss figures fifth on the all-time list. Mason recovered two fumbles against East Carolina, including one in the endzone for a touchdown. He had his first career interception against UCLA.

THE SHUTOUT STREAK: Washington's 26-3 victory against Washington State marked the 145th consecutive game in which Washington has not been shutout. That's the best streak among Pac-10 schools. The last opponent to hold the Huskies scoreless was UCLA (31-0) on Nov. 7, 1981. Washington has played 93 Pac-10 games since then without a shutout — the second best current streak among Pac-10 schools. Here's a look at the current shutout streaks among Pac-10 schools:

Team	All Games	Pac-10 Games
Washington	145	94
Washington State	109	140
Oregon	99	78
California	4	2
Arizona State	56	39

WERDEL EARNS HONOR: Senior punter John Werdel was named The Sporting News national defensive player of the week for games played Sept. 25. Werdel single-handidly botttled up East Carolina's offense by dropping five punts inside the Pirates' 11-yard line. Werdel had four punts downed inside the 10-yard line (3-, 5-, 8- and 4-yard lines) and dropped another punt at the 11-yard line. East Carolina's average field position following a Werdel punt was the 11-yard line. This season Werdel has punted 23 times, allowing only four returns. He has had six punts downed inside the 20-yard line, including four inside the 10-yard line. Last year Werdel placed 21 of his 69 punts inside the 20-yard line.

WHAT A DAY: Not many college players had the kind of day sophomore fullback Richard Thomas had on Oct. 2 against San Jose State. He started his first game at Washington. He caught his first touchdown pass. And two hours prior to kickoff he and his wife Christie had their first child, a baby girl named MaRyann.

ANOTHER CRADLE? When Jim Lambright took over as Washington's head coach, it gave Snohomish County (just north of Seattle) a legitimate claim as the "Cradle of College Coaches." A 1961 graduate of Everett High School, Lambright is the third Snohomish County native in charge of a Pac-10 team. Washington State skipper Mike Price (Everett H.S. '64), California's Keith Gilbertson (Snohomish H.S. '66) and Miami's Dennis Erickson (Everett H.S. '65) all grew up in the community.

DAMON'S DEBUTS: In the season-opening victory against Stanford, sophomore quarterback Damon Huard tossed three touchdown strikes to become the first Husky quarterback to pass for more than two TDs in a game since Billy Joe Hobert had three on Nov. 23, 1991 against Washington State. Here's a look at how Huard stacked up against other recent Husky quarterbacks in their first start:

'93 Senior Lettermen

The following are career capsules of players who lettered as seniors for Washington during the 1993 season.

11
*Beno Bryant
TB ... 5-11 ... 185
Los Angeles, CA
Dorsey High School

Washington: Finished his career as one of the most productive offensive players in Husky history ... rushed for 1,741 career yards to place ninth on all-time list ... ranks fourth on all-purpose rushing chart with 3,807 career yards ... is the most proficient punt returner in Husky history with 1,019 yards on 106 returns ... tied with Stanford's Glyn Milburn (1990-92) and Sam Brown (1953-55) for most career punt returns for touchdowns in Pac-10 history with four ... fifth on Husky career kickoff return list with 823 yards on 42 runbacks (19.6 ypr.) ... earned four letters in five seasons ... participated in the Blue-Gray All-Star game following his senior season ... carried six times for 21 yards in that contest ... also returned two punts for 29 yards ... competed as a sprinter for the Husky track team as a freshman and sophomore ... signed by Los Angeles Raiders as free agent. 1993: Returned at full strength after redshirting the majority of the 1992 season with a pulled hamstring ... backed up Napoleon Kaufman at tailback ... missed the season opener vs. Stanford due to Pac-10 sanctions ... finished second on the team with 331 rushing yards ... top outing came when he rushed for 73 yards on 10 carries in Huskies win vs. Oregon ... earned offensive player of the game honors for his efforts ... had his longest rush of the season against the Ducks, sprinting 35 yards for a touchdown ... he picked up his first rushing TD of the season on a 34-yard jaunt against San Jose State ... also rushed for TDs vs. Oregon State and USC ... finished fourth on the squad with 24 points ... caught six passes for 40 yards ... averaged 65.1 all-purpose rushing yards per game ... led Washington in punt returns with 30 for 145 yards ... had outstanding day returning punts vs. East Carolina, running back six for a 13.2 average ... earned kicking team player of the game honors for efforts vs. Pirates ... returned eight kickoffs for 16.9 average ... only start of the year came against Arizona State ... made jersey switch from 29 to 11 during the offseason ... worked hard in the off season to return to top physical form ... clocked a 4.31 time in the 40-yard dash in winter conditioning .. recorded a vertical leap of 34.5 inches ... rated the third best all-purpose player in the nation by NCAA Football preseason magazine ... ranked 12th best running back and eighth best all-purpose back by The Sporting News in preseason polls. 1992: Redshirted the season after suffering a hamstring injury ... managed to play in Nebraska and USC games ... injury occured in preseason drill and was aggravated in USC contest ... managed 57 yards on 19 carries .. scored only touchdown of the season against Cornhuskers ... preseason publications rated him the fourth Most Electrifying Player by The Sporting News which also tabbed him fifth among the nation's return specialists ... rated a second-team All-America kick returner by Don Heinrich's magazine ... rated fifth among all-purpose players by NCAA Football Preview and seventh by Lindy's ... one of the primary reasons the Huskies are listed as the nation's best offensive backfield by The Sporting News and Lindy's. 1991: Led all Washington rushers with 943 yards on 158 carries ... the fourth leading rusher in the Pac-10 and fifth in all-purpose yardage with 1,330 yards ... rushed 15 times for 38 yards and grabbed five passes for 29 yards in the Rose Bowl before leaving the game in the second half with a sprained ankle ... returned four punts in the Rose Bowl for 34 yards with a long of 19 yards ... started seven regular-season games and the Rose Bowl, alternating with Jay Barry to fill the void left by All-American Greg Lewis' departure ... named honorable mention All-Pac-10 ... slowed by a knee injury early in the season which he hurt in a preseason scrimmage, but still managed four 100-yard games ... ran 17 times for 139 yards and scored a touchdown at Nebraska ... helped bail the Huskies out at California when he broke a 17-17 tie with a 65-yard scoring scamper moments after the Golden Bears had tied the score ... added four catches for 51 yards at California ... ran for a career-best 158 yards on 26 carries and scored both touchdowns in Washington's 14-3 victory at USC ... one of his touchdowns was a 55-yard outburst ... named Pac-10 Offensive Player of the Week and ABC-TV's Chevrolet Player of the Game after the USC tilt ... gained 127 yards on 24 carries in the Apple Cup win over Washington State ... the Huskies' main punt return man with 33 to his credit for 267 yards (8.1 avg.) and one score ... his lone punt return touchdown came on a 53-yard run against Kansas State which helped him tie a Pac-10 record with four career scoring returns ... currently, he is tied with UCLA's Sam Brown (1953-55) with four TDs apiece ... finished third in the Pac-10 in punt return yardage ... already owns the UW career record for punt returns with 834 yards ... amassed 2,990 career all-purpose yards to rank fifth on the all-time UW list ... has seven touchdowns of 50 or more yards, including three on punt returns ... broke his shoulder in spring practices but rebounded well by the start of the fall campaign. 1990: Won his second varsity letter and was chosen first team All-Pac-10 as a return man ... ranked second nationally in punt returns with a 15.6 average to Colorado's Dave McCloughan ... nearly set a new Pac-10 record for most punt return yards in one season when he finished with 36 returns for 560 yards ... the all-time record was 570 by USC's Mike Battle set in 1967 on 47 returns ... broke Bill Cahill's school record for season punt return yards ... had three returns for touchdowns which tied a school (Mark Lee, 1979) and conference mark (four others including Lee) ... had a 52-yard return for a score in the opener against San Jose State which helped seal the UW's 20-17 win ... returned his second for a score at Arizona State when he raced 82 yards which was the fifth longest in UW history ... his other came against Arizona when he scored from 70 yards out ... also had returns of 39 yards against Oregon, 38 yards vs. Colorado and 34 yards against California ... had two punt returns for 33 yards in the Rose Bowl, including a 29-yarder ... averaged 40.0 yards for each of his eight touchdowns, including three of 70 or more yards ... twice selected as the Pac-10's Special Teams Player of the Week (Arizona and Washington St.) ... was Greg Lewis' understudy at tailback for the first nine games before being pressed into full-time service against UCLA when Lewis went down with a knee injury ... he also was the starter against Washington State and had his best outing as a The Team They Didn't Play

Since becoming the Pacific-10 Conference in 1978, league opponents have not played each other every year. Here is a list of the teams missed by Washington since the Pac-8 expanded to the Pac-10.

Year	Opponent(Opponent Record)
1978	California (6-5)
1979	Stanford (5-5-1), Arizona (6-5-1)
1980	California (3-8), UCLA (9-2)
1981	Arizona (6-5)
1982	Southern California (8-3)
1983	Arizona State (6-4-1), California (5-5-1)
1984	Arizona State (5-6), UCLA (9-3)
1985	Arizona (8-3-1)
1986	Arizona (9-3)
1987	California (3-6-2)
1988	Oregon State (4-6-1)
1989	Stanford (3-8)
1990	Oregon State (1-10)
1991	UCLA (6-5)
1992	UCLA (6-5)
1993	Arizona (10-2)

The Team They Don't Play

The Pacific-10 Conference adopted a uniform eight-game conference schedule in 1991. Under the new format, teams will miss one opponent two years in succession. Here are the misses for the 1994 season.

The Pacific-10 Conference

With another seven NCAA team titles claimed in 1993-94, , the Pacific-10 Conference once again demonstrated it is the "Conferene of Champions," thus continuing to live up to its billing as the strongest overall intercollegiate athletic league in the country in comparisoin to the rest of the nation's conferences.

The Pac-10's seven NCAA trophies matched the 12-team Southeastern Conference's seven titles for the national lead.

NCAA team champions from the Pac-10 in 1993-94 came from four institutions. Stanford earned four trophies (men's golf, men's water polo, softball and men's and women's swimming), while NCAA crowns also went to USC (men's tennis), Arizona (softball) and Arizona State (women's golf).

The Pac-10 also fared quite well in non-NCAA Championship events during the 1993-94 campaign. Four football teams participated in bowl games and California won its fourth straight national rugby title (also its 11th in 15 seasons).

Pac-10 members have now won 210 NCAA men's team championships (far ahead of the 138 claimed by the Big 10), and 43 women's crowns (ahead of the Southwest Conference, which has 23), to lead all conferences in both categories.

Men's NCAA team crowns have come at a phenomenal rate - 13 basketball titles by four schools, more than any other conference; 16 of the last 27 baseball titles; 18 of the last 34 titles in track and field, and an incredible 44 titles overall; 17 of the last 30 in swimming; 30 of the last 33 in tennis; 20 of the last 34 in water polo; and 18 of the last 24 in volleyball.

On the women's side, the story is the same. Since the NCAA began conducting women's championships 13 years ago, Pac-10 members have claimed four titles in a single season on eight occasions. Included in this are 11 of 12 tennis crowns, and 10of the 13 championships in softball. Plus, the 210 NCAA individual titles leads all leagues by a comfortable margin.

The roots of the Pacific-10 Conference go back more than 75 years. On December 15, 1915, the Pacific Coast Conference was founded at a meeting at the Oregon Hotel in Portland, Oregon. Original membership consisted of four schools - University of California, University of Washington, University of Oregon and Oregon State College (now Oregon State University). All are still charter members of the Conference.

Pacific Coast Conference (PCC) play began in 1916. One year later, Washington State College (now Washington State University), was accepted into the Conference, and Stanford University joined in 1918.

In 1922, the PCC expanded to eight teams with the admission of the University of Southern California and the University of Idaho. Montana joined the Conference in 1924, and in 1928, the PCC grew to 10 members with the addition of UCLA.

The Pacific Coast Conference competed as a 10-team league until 1950, with the exception of 1943-45, when World War II curtailed athletic competition at the university level to a minimum. In 1950, Montana resigned from the Conference and joined the Mountain States Conference. The PCC continued as a nine-team conference through 1958.

In 1959, the PCC was dissolved and a new conference was formed - The Athletic Association of Western Universities. Original AAWU membership consisted of California, Stanford, Southern California, UCLA and Washington. Washington State became a member in 1962, while Oregon and Oregon State joined in 1964. In 1968, the name Pacific-8 Conference was adopted.

Ten years later, on July 1, 1978, the University of Arizona and Arizona State University were admitted and the Pacific-10 Conference became a reality. In 1986-87, the Pacific-10 Conference took on a new look, expanding to include ten women's sports. The 1990-91 academic year saw the Conference celebrate its 75th anniversary.

Husky Quarterback History

Since 1975, all of Washington's first-string quarterbacks have advanced to play professional football after their collegiate careers. A total of 10 different Husky quarterbacks made the transition during this span with eight playing in the NFL, one in the USFL, and one in the CFL.

Washington's rich quarterback tradition has produced a total of 10 NFL quarterbacks. This select group has won 10 bowl game MVP awards, including five Rose Bowl MVP's. In addition, two (Cary Conklin and Don Heinrich) have been on NFL championship teams and another (Warren Moon) led his team to a record five straight Grey Cup titles in the CFL.

Retired Husky Jerseys

2 Chuck Carroll

Chuck Carroll was a consensus All-American in 1928, capping an outstanding career in which he was a three-time letterwinner while helping lead the Huskies to a 24-8 overall record. He also received the Guy Flaherty award that season, as he set a Husky record with 17 touchdowns in one season, a record since tied by Husky greats Hugh McElhenny and Mario Bailey. Carroll, a two-time All-Coast selection (1927-28) also owns the Husky record for most points scored in a game — 36 against Puget Sound in 1928. Carroll was inducted into the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame in 1964 and the Husky Hall of Fame in 1979.

44 Roland Kirkby

Roland Kirkby was one of the most underrated members of the Washington's Fearsome Foursome backfield in 1950. As a senior he was named first-team All-Coast by a vote of the coaches and second-team by several different organizations. Kirkby set a school record that season when he caught three touchdown passes in a game against Kansas State, a record that has since been tied but not broken. Kirkby was honorable mention All-America as a sophomore in 1948 and honorable mention All-Coast as a junior.

33 George Wilson

George Wilson was described as one of the most fearless all-around players in he country during his Husky career, twice outplaying such well-known legends as Red Grange of Illinois and Ernie Nevers of Stanford. In 1925 he joined those two greats on the All-America team as Washington's first consensus pick. He also was a three-time All-Coast selection (1923-25). Wilson scored a school record 37 touchdowns during his career and led Washington to two Rose Bowl appearances in 1924 and 1926. Wilson was inducted into the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame in 1951 and the Husky Hall of Fame in 1980.

Washington's Head Coaches

Gil Dobie, 1908-16

Dobie attended Minnesota and played quarterback for the Golden Gophers from 1899 to 1901. He graduated from Minnesota in 1903 and was as an assistant for the Gophers through 1905. He then took his first head coaching job at North Dakota State in 1906 where he went undefeated in two seasons (7-0). In 1908 he became head coach at Washington where he coached the Sun Dodgers in 61 of the 63 games that serves as the longest unbeaten streak in NCAA history. Dobie's Washington squads outscored opponents by a tally of 1,930 to 118 during his nine seasons. He left Washington following the 1916 season and moved to Navy until 1919 where he was 17-3-0. From there he coached at Cornell (1920-35, 82-36-7) and Boston College (1936-38, 16-6-5). Dobie's Washington record of 58-0-3 contributed to his overall record of 180-45-15 which earned him induction into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1951. Dobie died at the age of 69 and was inducted into the Husky Hall of Fame as part of the inaugural induction class in 1979.

Claude J. Hunt, 1917,1919

Hunt graduated from DePauw University in 1911. Washington hired Hunt in 1917 after Hunt had guided Carleton College in Minnesota to consecutive undefeated seasons. Hunt did not coach the 1918 squad because he was off fighting World War I. Lincoln High School football coach Tony Savage led the 1918 squad which played only two games (1-1). Hunt's overall record at Washington was 6-3-1.

Leonard B. "Stub" Allison, 1920

Allison attended and graduated from Carleton College in Minnesota. He was promoted to head coach after serving as an assistant at Washington in 1919. Allison coached the last Washington football game at Denny Field on November 5, 1920 which ended in a 3-0 loss to Stanford. He also coached the first game at Husky Stadium on November 27, 1920 when Washington lost to Dartmouth 28-7 before 24,000 fans to finish the season a disappointing 1-5-0. Allison's squad was the last at Washington to be nicknamed the Sun Dodgers. Allison later resurfaced as the head coach at California in 1935 after serving as an assistant in Berkeley from 1931-34. In 10 seasons as the Bears' head coach, Allison compiled a 58-42-2 record including a 10-0-1 squad in 1937 that finished second in the AP poll and beat Alabama in the 1938 Rose Bowl 13-0 which is Cal's last Rose Bowl win.

Enoch Bagshaw, 1921-29

Bagshaw graduated from Washington in 1907 after becoming the first of two five-year lettermen in Washington history. Between 1903 and 1907 Bagshaw played end, halfback and quarterback for Washington under three different coaches. After graduation Bagshaw went to Everett High School where he was head coach from 1909 to 1920. His last Everett squads won consecutive national championships in 1919 and 1920. He was then hired as Washington's head coach in 1921. In his nine seasons at Washington, Bagshaw compiled a 63-22-6 record and took the Huskies to their first ever Rose Bowl in 1924 where they tied Navy 14-14. Bagshaw returned to the Rose Bowl in 1926 where the Huskies lost to Alabama 20-19. Bagshaw retired after the 1929 season and died of a heart attack October 3, 1930 at the age of 46. He was inducted into the Husky Hall of Fame in 1980.

James M. Phelan, 1930-41

Phelan graduated from Notre Dame in 1919 and started at quarterback for the Irish from 1915-1917 when he guided them to a 21-3-1 record in Jesse Harper's last three years as head coach. Following graduation Phelan served in the US Navy where he was assigned to the Missouri as First Lieutenant. In 1920 he was hired at Missouri as head coach where he was 13-3-0 in two seasons before he moved to Purdue in 1922. In eight seasons as the Boilermakers head coach Phelan was 35-22-5 including an 8-0 squad in 1929. In 12 years as head coach at Washington Phelan guided the Huskies to a 65-37-8 record. The Huskies went to the Rose Bowl in 1937 where they lost to Pittsburgh 21-0. Phelan guided the Huskies to their first bowl victory in the Pineapple Bowl in 1938 when they beat Hawaii 53-13. Phelan left Washington in 1941 for St. Mary's (Calif.). He later became the first Husky head coach to coach in the professional football league when he skippered the New York Titans, New York Yankees, Baltimore Colts, and Texas Rangers. He later got involved in politics and served three terms as County Commissioner for Sacramento County in California where he became a personal friend of then governor Ronald Reagan. He died November 14, 1979 at the age of 81. He was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1973 and into the Husky Hall of Fame in 1986.

Ralph "Pest" Welch, 1942-47

Welch graduated from Purdue in 1930 where he was an All-American halfback under Jim Phelan. Welch followed Phelan to Washington where he served as an assistant coach in all but one (1938) of Phelan's 12 years at Washington. Welch finished with a 27-20-3 record at Washington and took the '43 squad to the 1944 Rose Bowl where they lost to USC 29-0. Welch's six seasons were marked by the turmoil caused by World War II as players came and left as their war duties allowed them to. Welch resigned in 1948.

Howard Odell, 1948-52

Odell graduated from Pittsburgh in 1934 after playing at running back and punter on the 1932-33 Panther squads. He remained at Pittsburgh for two seasons as backfield coach. In 1936 he moved to Harvard for two seasons and then to Pennsylvania from 1938-40. In 1941 he served as the backfield coach at Wisconsin under Harry Stuhldreher, one of Notre Dame's Four Horsemen. He got his first head coaching job at Yale in 1942 and stayed through 1947 compiling a record of 35-15-2 which included Yale's 500th victory in 1945. He was hired at Washington in 1948 and stayed until 1952. Odell's overall record at the UW was 23-25-12. He coached two of Washington's greatest players in Hugh McElhenny and Don Heinrich. He opened a used car lot after he left the coaching ranks. In 1957 he was elected King County Commissioner and served until 1962 when he retired and moved to Southern California.

John Cherberg, 1953-55

Cherberg was a Seattle native who graduated from Washington in 1933. He played for Jim Phelan's 1930-32 squads and played every backfield position. After graduation Cherberg coached Cleveland High School from 1933-37 where he won the '37 State Championship. The same year he was named the Seattle Post-Intelligencer Sports Man of the Year. In 1938, he moved to his high school alma mater, Queen Anne High School, where he stayed until 1945 while winning two state titles. In 1946 he was hired at Washington as a backfield assistant under Ralph Welch. In 1948 he moved to the Huskies' freshman head coach position where he lost his first game but won the next 22. In 1953 he was promoted to head coach where he guided the Huskies to a 10-18-2 mark spanning three seasons. Cherberg then ran for Washington's Lieutenant Governor in 1957 and won, the first of eight consecutive victories. Cherberg served as Lt. Governor for 32 years which spanned five governors. He retired in January 1989. He died on April 8, 1992 at the age of 80. He was inducted into the Husky Hall of Fame in 1981.

Darrell Royal, 1956

Before attending college, Royal enlisted in the Air Force after graduating from high school in 1943. In the Air Force, he attained the rank of staff sergeant. Royal graduated from Oklahoma in 1950 where he lettered on four conference championship squads from 1946-49. Royal was an all-conference quarterback in 1949 when the Sooners finished 11-0. After graduation, Royal served one-year stints as an assistant at North Carolina State, Tulsa, and Mississippi State. In 1953 Royal moved to the Canadian pro league as head coach at Edmonton where he went 16-5 and won the Western Division Championship. In 1954 he returned to Mississippi State as head coach and went 12-8 over two seasons. In his one season at Washington the Huskies went 5-5-0. Royal then decided to settle down at Texas where he was head coach from 1957-76 and compiled a 167-47-5 record that included 11 Top 10 finishes, three national championships, 11 Southwest Conference crowns and 16 bowl games. He also served as Texas Athletic Director from 1962-80. In 1980 he was named a special assistant on athletics to UT President Peter Flawn, a role he still serves in on a part-time basis today. Royal was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1983.

Jim Owens, 1957-74

Owens served two-and-a-half years with the Naval Air Corps during World War II. Following his service, Owens enrolled at Oklahoma where he played from 1946-49. Owens was the Sooners' captain and leading receiver, earning him All-American honors on Oklahoma's 11-0 squad in 1949. After graduating in 1950, Owens played one season for the Baltimore Colts while also serving as a part-time assistant at John Hopkins University. Owens was then an assistant under Paul "Bear" Bryant at Kentucky from 1951-53 and followed Bryant to Texas A&M in 1954 and stayed until 1956. At Washington, Owens was 99-82-6 during his 18 seasons as head coach. Owens' Husky teams won three AAWU titles and went to three Rose Bowls including the Huskies' first ever Rose Bowl win in 1960, a 44-8 romp over Wisconsin. Owens split his other two trips to Pasadena when the Huskies beat Minnesota 17-7 in 1961 and lost to Illinois in 1964, 17-7. Owens retired following the 1974 campaign and still resides in the Seattle area. He was inducted into the Husky Hall of Fame as part of the inaugural class in 1979.

Don James, 1975-92

Don James was born December 31, 1932 in the football hotbed of Massillon, Ohio. There he played quarterback and defensive back for two state championship teams at Washington High School. He then accepted a scholarship to Miami of Florida where he set five school passing records. James was then commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the US Army where he served two years before resuming his studies at the University of Kansas and doubling as the Jayhawks' freshmen football coach. He graduated in 1957 with a master's degree in education. He moved back to Miami where he was head football coach at Southwest Miami High School for two years. He then turned to the college ranks and served as an assistant coach at Florida State (1956-65), Michigan (1966-67) and Colorado (1968-70). In 1971, James was named head coach at Kent State where he stayed four years compiling a 25-19-1 record and taking Kent State to its first-ever bowl game. Two days before Christmas in 1974, James accepted the head coaching position at Washington. In his 18 years at Washington, James compiled a 153-57-2 record making him the winningest football coach in Washington history. His 99 Pac-10 victories are the most in Pac-10 history. He took his teams to 15 bowl games (10-5) including a Pac-10 record nine straight from 1979-87. He guided the Huskies to six Rose Bowls and is one of only four coaches to win four Rose Bowl games. His 1991 team finished the season 12-0 and won Washington's first ever national championship. When James retired he had the 10th best active winning percentage, the eighth most victories among active coaches, fourth most bowl victories, fourth best bowl winning percentage and the 12th most bowl appearances. James was president of the American Football Coaches Association in 1989 and was named national college coach of the year in 1984 and 1991. James was inducted into the Husky Hall of Fame in 1993. Don and his wife, Carol, currently reside in the Seattle area.

Rose Bowl
January 1, 1924
Washington 14, Navy 14

Washington missed a field goal "by a scant three feet" as time expired and the Huskies settled for a 14–14 tie with the heavily favored Midshipmen of the Naval Academy in the 1924 Rose Bowl, played before 40,000 fans.

The Huskies, coached to a 10–1 record coming into the game by third-year coach Enoch Bagshaw, had to fight back twice, falling behind 7–0 early and later trailing 14–7 to the well-drilled Middies of Annapolis. The Naval Academy (5–1–1) used a sophisticated passing attack, a style not seen before on the West Coast, to confuse the Husky defense in the first half. Navy completed all 11 passes it attempted in the first half, and hit 14 in a row before the Huskies managed to stop one. Navy completed 16-of-20 for the day.

Navy opened the scoring at the start of the second period on a 20-yard pass from quarterback Ira McKee to halfback Carl Cullen. Navy dominated the first period with its unorthodox passing offense, completing six tosses, but was unable to score before time expired in the period. The Midshipmen used a short, two-handed, basketball toss for the bulk of their passing attack.

Washington answered on its next drive. Husky guard Jim Bryan trapped the Navy kick at midfield. The Huskies tried the line for no gain, and then Husky quarterback Fred Abel threw a 30-yard pass out of punt formation to Kinsley Dubois on the right wing. Left halfback George Wilson took the next play off-tackle 14 yards for the Huskies' first touchdown. The extra point by Lester Sherman made it 7–7.

After an exchange of punts, Navy completed a 45-yard pass over center to the Washington 7-yard line. Three line plunges netted no gain, but on fourth down the Middies used the basketball toss from McKee to Cullen around right end for the touchdown. The extra point made it 14–7 at the half.

The game settled into a defensive struggle in the third quarter. Washington was unable to advance the ball against Navy and the Middies marched the field but could not score, thwarted by Husky center Chalmers Walter's interception of an errant McKee pass inside the Husky 20-yard line early in the quarter. Navy also missed a field goal as time expired in the period.

Midway through the fourth period the Huskies got a break. Trapped deep in its own end, Navy mis-snapped the ball in punt formation, with the Huskies recovering the loose ball on the Navy 10-yard line.

Two line plays netted the Huskies a loss of two yards and a third-down pass attempt also failed, leaving the Dawgs with a fourth-and-12 situation. Washington lined up, then had fullback Elmer Tesreau jump up to the line, and the end dropped back, leaving the left guard Jimmy Bryan eligible to catch a pass. Bryan delayed, then released and gathered in Abel's pass, stumbling across the goal line for the touchdown. The Sherman-booted extra point made it 14–14.

Washington had one last chance to win, as the Huskies drove to the 25-yard line with less than five minutes to play on a long pass from Abel to Wilson. Washington's field goal attempt by Leonard Zeil from 24 yards out had the distance but curved left. Navy took over on downs at the 20, and advanced as far as midfield when the game ended.

Rose Bowl
January 1, 1926
Alabama 20, Washington 19

Coach Enoch Bagshaw's Huskies, 10–0–1 entering the Rose Bowl game, built a 12–0 lead, dominating the first half, only to lose the lead and the game in 12 frantic minutes of the third quarter as Alabama, 9–0, scored 20 unanswered points. Husky All-American halfback George Wilson, named the bowl's Most Valuable Player, was out of the game with an injury during the scoring binge as 'Bama took a lead Washington could not overcome in front of 45,000 fans at the Rose Bowl.

The game is remembered as Wilson's greatest, and is one that is rated a classic in Rose Bowl history.

Damon Runyon covered the contest for the Universal Service and put it succinctly: "As George Wilson went, so went Washington. If there ever was a one-man football team, George was it. When Wilson was on the field it was a ball game."

Wilson played 38 minutes and was out with injury for 22. During the 38 he played, Washington scored three touchdowns and gained 300 yards. Alabama threatened, but failed to score. During the 22 minutes Wilson was on the sideline, Washington gained a total of 14 yards and failed to score. Alabama, under coach Wallace Wade, notched the three touchdowns and two conversions which won the game during Wilson's defensive absence.

Wilson took a lateral to the 'Bama 1-yard line in the first quarter, and provided the blocking for right halfback Harold Paton's 1-yard plunge that gave the Huskies a 6–0 lead.

In the second quarter, a 36-yard Wilson run paved the way for Washington's second touchdown, a pass from Wilson to left end John Cole. The Huskies missed both PAT kicks in the first half-something that would have its greatest impact at game's end.

Trailing by 12 points after the half, "Pooley" Hubert took it upon himself to bring Alabama back. From the Washington 42-yard line, he called his own number five consecutive times, carrying the ball a total of 58 yards for the Crimson Tide score. On its next possession, Alabama returned the kickoff to its own 21-yard line. Five line plunges carried the ball to the 39. Alabama then struck on a 61-yard bomb from Hubert to Johnny Mack Brown to give Alabama its first lead in the game, 14–12.

Alabama continued its attack after recovering a Washington fumble at midfield. Another long pass to Brown, this one from Grant Gillis for 40 yards, placed the Tide on the Washington 5-yard line. Brown carried the ball the final 5 yards for a 20–12 Crimson Tide lead.

Wilson returned to lead the frantic Husky comeback attempt in the final period. Alabama was on the Husky 15-yard line, threatening to seal its victory, but the Tide could not convert a fourth-and-one situation. Washington took over on its own 12-yard line.

Wilson gained 17 yards on first down and three plays later Paton advanced to the 'Bama 43 around left end. After a short Wilson pass for a first down, the Husky left halfback threw to quarterback George Guttormsen for a 27-yard touchdown.

The extra point by Gene Cook put Washington within one, 20–19. Washington's final threat ended with an interception at midfield just before time expired.

Rose Bowl
January 1, 1937
Pittsburgh 21, Washington 0

The University of Pittsburgh, 7–1–1 under coach John "Jock" Sutherland, dominated both sides of the ball, handing coach James Phelan's 7–1–1 Huskies a 21–0 defeat in front of 87,196 fans at the Rose Bowl-then the largest crowd at a Rose Bowl game. Pitt notched three touchdowns, one on a 71-yard interception return, and held the Huskies to only 153 yards of total offense while racking up 300 yards themselves.

After an exchange of punts in the first period, Pitt took over on its own 45. On second down, left halfback Marshall Goldberg took a reverse to the Husky 35 and then halfback Bob LaRue took the same play to the Washington 10. Fullback Frank Patrick scored on a 1-yard plunge three plays later for an early 7–0 Golden Panther lead.

Pitt held the Huskies to end the first quarter leading 7–0, and Washington put together one of its only sustained drives of the day to begin the second period of play, against 10 Pitt second-teamers. All-America left end Bill Daddio was the only starter playing for the Panthers at the time.

The Huskies drove as far as the Pitt 40 but the passing offense bogged down, forcing a punt on fourth-and-four. Pitt promptly drove to the Husky 35, almost strictly on blasts through the middle of the line. On first down the Panthers tried to cross up the Dawgs with a pass, but reserve halfback Frank Waskowitz intercepted the pass. On first down, Waskowitz passed to Byron Haines who carried to the Pitt 36, followed by another Waskowitz to Haines pass to the 20. The Pitt pass defense stiffened with the return of the Golden Panther starters and the Huskies ended up turning the ball over on downs after a fourth-down pass fell incomplete.

The half ended with Pittsburgh still holding a 7–0 lead.

The Huskies kicked off to open the second half, and the Panthers took over on their own 27. Washington got the break it had been looking for when Pitt fumbled on second down, with right end Frank Peters recovering for the Dawgs. The Huskies squandered the opportunity, however, as Haines threw a first-down interception.

On the ensuing drive, Pitt drove 75 yards for a touchdown. LaRue raced to the Husky 30 on a man-in-motion play through the middle of the line. From there the Panthers simply stuck it to Washington, using five plays into the center of the line, with the fullback, Patrick, plunging over from the 5 for his second touchdown.

Washington's final comeback attempt was snuffed when Daddio intercepted a left-handed lateral attempt on the Husky 35 and returned it 71 yards for the clinching touchdown. Pitt eventually ran out the clock on the Husky 4-yard line.

Pittsburgh claimed the Rose Bowl title with a display of power football. The Panthers attempted only four passes and used their speediest back, Goldberg, largely in a decoy role with Patrick and LaRue running play after play through the middle of the line.

Pineapple Bowl
January 1, 1938
Washington 53, Hawaii 13

Washington, 5–2–2 in coach James Phelan's eighth season, crushed the host University of Hawaii, rolling to a 53–0 lead before the Husky reserves allowed the Islanders two meaningless touchdowns late in the final period, in front of 13,500 spectators at the Pineapple Bowl.

Washington scored four times in the opening quarter, ignited by the open-field running of left halfback Jimmy Johnston. The Huskies' first score featured Johnston running 15 yards before lateralling to center Bud Ericksen, who carried 32 yards for a touchdown. Tackle Vic Markov kicked the extra point. After stopping Hawaii, Johnston threw a 35-yard pass to end Merle Miller for the second Husky score in as many possessions.

Minutes later, Johnston returned a Hawaii punt 70 yards to the Islander two, and Miller went through the center of the line for the third Dawg touchdown. Johnston rambled for another 30-yard gain, stopped this time on the 1-yard line. Reserve fullback Don Jones notched the score on a plunge through the line. Dick Johnson's kick gave Washington a 26–0 lead at the end of the first quarter while Hawaii had yet to manage a first down.

The second quarter saw a continuation of the Husky onslaught. Despite having pulled most of its starting players, Washington continued to man-handle the smaller Hawaiian line. Everett Austin, a Husky halfback, rambled 41 yards for a touchdown. Washington kicked off, and held the Islanders, forcing a punt. Washington halfback Joe Dubsky took the punt on the fly and returned it 39 yards before lateralling it to tackle Rich Worthington, who carried it the final 11 yards for a touchdown. Dubsky's conversion gave the Huskies a 39–0 lead which they took into the half.

The Huskies scored single touchdowns in the third and fourth quarters. In the third, Lloyd Phelps broke loose for a 53-yard touchdown run. The final Husky points were tallied by Jones on a 20-yard run in the fourth quarter.

The Islanders scored on two short plunges by fullback Vernon Akee Choy and added one Joe Kaulukukui PAT kick to avoid the shutout. For the day, Washington outgained Hawaii 370 yards to 95. The Huskies were 3-of-7 passing for 60 yards. Hawaii was 10-of-28 for 160 yards.

Rose Bowl
Southern California 29, Washington 0

A regular Pacific Coast Conference season was not played in 1943 because of wartime travel restrictions, so the Northern Division champion, Washington, faced the Southern Division champion, Southern California, in the Rose Bowl. The Rose Bowl winner would reign as champion of the Pacific Coast Conference.

The Trojans (7–2) ended Washington's perfect season (4–0) by upsetting the heavily favored Huskies, 29–0, with four touchdown passes to uncovered receivers in front of 68,000 at the Rose Bowl. Earlier in the season the Southern California team lost to the 4th Air Force Flyers, 35–0, while Washington defeated this same club handily, 27–7. Because of a lack of opponents during wartime, the Rose Bowl game was the first activity in two months for coach Pest Welch's Washington Huskies.

Washington controlled the first period, twice driving deep into Trojan territory, but was unable to convert the drives into points. Washington could not run against the USC line inside the 40 and was unable to mount a passing attack the entire day, completing only five tosses for 51 yards with three interceptions. The second period was similar, as the Trojans continued to attempt to run against Washington's larger defensive line with little success.

Late in the period the Trojans turned to the air, negating Washington's size advantage with quick passes to their fleet ends. USC had a fourth down on the Washington 11 with only 40 seconds remaining in the half when Trojan quarterback Jim Hardy tossed to halfback George Callahan, who made a final move at the goal line for the touchdown. Dick Jamison added the point-after kick and the Trojans had a 7–0 lead at the half.

Southern California converted on a similar play midway through the third period when Callahan pulled in another pass from Hardy-this time in a crowd of Husky defenders-for a score, and with the second Jamison PAT, USC had a 14–0 lead.

Trojan left end Gordon Gray also caught two touchdown passes, one late in the third period from Hardy and the final one in the fourth quarter from left-handed quarterback Ainslie Bell. Bell had started the game but gave way to Hardy in a scheme planned to settle down Hardy, the Trojans' usual starter. USC coach Jeff Cravath felt Hardy had played better in a reserve role the year before.

Southern California added points on a blocked punt early in the fourth quarter when Husky quarterback Everett Austin, handling the punting duties, could not get a punt away out of his own end zone. The blocked punt, compliments of Trojan tackle Harry Plank, was covered by Washington fullback Wally Kramer in the end zone for the automatic safety.

Washington led in net rushing yardage, 134–117, but was dominated in passing yards 113–51. The Huskies also fumbled twice, and although they recovered both times, the drops helped stop drives. USC, which entered the game with a reputation as fumbling champions of the country (the Trojans lost 29-of-50 fumbles on the year) did not lose either of its two fumbles.

The loss was Washington's third consecutive in Rose Bowl play and provided the Trojans their seventh consecutive Rose Bowl win.

Rose Bowl
January 1, 1960
Washington 44, Wisconsin 8

A capacity crowd watched the underdog Washington Huskies score more Rose Bowl points than any other West Coast team in history, rolling to six touchdowns and a field goal over the slower Badgers of Wisconsin. Wisconsin, 8–1 coming into the game under fourth-year coach Milt Bruhn, was favored by 6-1/2 points over a Husky squad that featured no seniors among its starters.

Washington, coached by Jim Owens to a 9–1 record before the bowl game, gambled early and late, attempting fourth-down plays in the first as well as the fourth quarter. On the Huskies' second drive of the game, with the score still tied at zero, Washington quarterback Bob Schloredt audibled twice on fourth down, leading to halfback Don McKeta's 6-yard touchdown run. Soon after, Washington recovered the first of four Wisconsin fumbles and Husky halfback George Fleming booted a 36-yard field goal for a 10–0 lead.

Fleming provided a dramatic example of the Huskies' superior speed, returning a punt 53 yards for a touchdown and adding his own extra point for a 17–0 lead. Wisconsin put together its only scoring drive of the game on the strength of three completed passes. Tom Wiesner gained the final 4 yards to score. The Badgers converted a two-point conversion, a pass from quarterback Dale Hackbart to left end Allan Schoonover, to slice the lead to nine points, 17–8.

Washington responded quickly to quell any idea of a Badger comeback. Fleming had another long punt return, this one for 55 yards, and Schloredt followed the return with a 23-yard pass to end Lee Folkins. Folkins made an outstanding leaping snag in the end zone to extend the Dawgs' lead to 24–8.

Washington continued to keep Wisconsin off balance in the third quarter. Fullback Ray Jackson pounded away on five plays for 46 yards of the 66-yard touchdown drive. He scored on a 2-yard dive.

The Huskies hammered the final nail into the Badger coffin by stopping the Big Ten representatives on four consecutive plays inside the 10-yard line. Taking over on its own 7, Washington marched 93 yards in 10 plays to score again. The drive included another Schloredt fourth-down conversion, this one from his own 16-yard line. Schloredt scored on a 3-yard keeper to up the lead to an insurmountable 38–8. Schloredt and Fleming were named Co-Most Valuable Players by the Rose Bowl committee.

The Husky reserves notched Washington's final score as backup quarterback Bob Hivner lobbed a 3-yard pass to halfback Don Millich.

Rose Bowl
January 2, 1961
Washington 17, Minnesota 7

Washington, 9–1 under fourth-year coach Jim Owens, entered the 1961 Rose Bowl as defending champions but decided underdogs. The Minnesota Gophers, 8–1 and coached by Murray Warmath, entered the game atop the national polls. They left with a 17–7 setback courtesy of an explosive Husky start and the determined second-half defense of Owens' players.

Washington used its superior quickness to offset Minnesota's size advantage in the early going.

The Huskies scored their first points in a fourth-down-and-three situation on Minnesota's 27-yard line. Halfback George Fleming kicked a 44-yard field goal, putting Washington on the scoreboard first and Fleming into the Rose Bowl record book with the longest field goal kick in its history.

Quarterback Bob Schloredt, who missed the second half of the season with an injury, entered the game in the first quarter replacing starter Bob Hivner. Schloredt promptly fired a 12-yard pass to fullback Ray Jackson. Jackson followed the reception with a 30-yard run to the Gopher 30. Three line plunges later, the ball rested on the Gopher 18 as the first quarter ended. The Huskies were using mostly outside tosses to advance the ball, a pattern the Gophers did not adjust to defensively until the second half.

Charlie Mitchell, a Husky halfback, took a toss around the right side for another 10 yards to the Gopher 8 to open the second quarter. Schloredt advanced to the 3-yard line, losing the opportunity to score when he slipped. After an incomplete pass, Schloredt hit halfback Brent Wooten with a 3-yard toss for the first touchdown in the 47th annual Rose Bowl game. Fleming's extra point put the Dawgs up 10–0.

Still unable to move against the fast-reacting Washington line, Minnesota punted. A clipping penalty on the return left the Huskies on their own 13, and they lost six yards on their first play. Schloredt punted from the 7-yard line to the Husky 47. Minnesota took over with its first good scoring chance but the Gophers could not convert. The Gophers drove to the 32 and then turned the ball over on downs.

Washington quickly marched down the field. Jackson carried for 10 yards and then Fleming took a pitch to the 48. Faced with a second-and-two, Schloredt called his own number on the quarterback sneak. Minnesota was expecting an outside play. Schloredt slid through the middle, broke loose to the right, picked up an important block from end Folkins, and didn't get caught until he was dragged down on the 18, a 31-yard gain. Jackson gained 3 up the middle, then Schloredt rolled out and carried the ball to the 7-yard line. Jackson carried it to the 1-foot line and Schloredt scored the touchdown on a sneak. With Fleming's PAT, Washington had 17 points-all that the Huskies would score-and a 17–0 lead at the half.

Minnesota scored its only points of the game in the third quarter, taking advantage of one of Washington's three fumbles to set to work on the Husky 32. The Gophers drove 32 yards, scoring on an 18-yard option play. Right halfback Bill Munsey took the pitch from Gopher quarterback Sandy Stephens, scoring on his third carry of the day. James Rogers added the PAT.

Schloredt was named Most Valuable Player, the second time in as many years he was accorded the honor.

Rose Bowl
January 1, 1964
Illinois 17, Washington 7

The Huskies entered their third Rose Bowl in five years in a familiar position-as an underdog. Coach Pete Elliott's Illinois team had a 7–1–1 regular-season record and was ranked third in the country, while the Huskies had overcome an 0–3 start to finish the year 6–4 under seven-year head coach Jim Owens, with only a loss to UCLA in Los Angeles blemishing their seven-game run to the roses.

Washington featured a hard-driving ground game anchored by quarterback Bill Douglas, fullback Junior Coffey, and future pro halfbacks Ron Medved and Dave Kopay. The defense earned its reputation as a hard-hitting group which was almost impossible to run against, anchored by a future Husky assistant coach, end Jim Lambright. The Illini featured perhaps the most famous alumnus of the 1964 Rose Bowl, linebacker Dick Butkus.

The Huskies started play as though they were anything but underdogs. Steve Bramwell, now the Husky team doctor, took the opening kickoff out to Washington's 22-yard line. Kopay took the first play around right end for nine yards and the Huskies were off and running.

The opening drive marched down field, slowed only by three penalties (two offsides and a backfield-in-motion call). On a first-and-10 play from the Illinois 26, quarterback Bill Douglas used a quarterback keeper through the middle of the line for a gain of 12. It proved to be a costly first down. Douglas was injured on the play and left the field on a stretcher, out for the day.

Backup quarterback Bill Siler entered the game and completed the first pass he attempted, but left end Al Libke fumbled on the Illini 6-yard line.

After an exchange of punts to open the second quarter, Illinois fumbled on its own 27-yard line on a first-down play. Washington took over and quickly scored. Siler carried for three yards on first down, and on second down he threw 18 yards to right end Joe Mancuso, who was downed on the 6. Washington scored on an option play, with Siler pitching to right halfback Kopay for the 6-yard touchdown. Medved added the PAT kick.

Washington kicked off and Illinois drove down the field, keeping the ball for almost eight minutes. Faced with a fourth-and-four on the Washington eight, Illini quarterback Fred Custardo dropped back to pass and was sacked for a 4-yard loss by Mancuso. Washington took over on its own 12, but Siler fumbled on second down with center Bruce Capel recovering for Illinois on the 15, allowing UI's Jim Plankenhorn to kick a 32-yard field goal as time expired in the first half.

Illinois converted another Washington turnover into points early in the second half. Siler was intercepted at midfield. The ball was returned to the Washington 32 where Illinois started its second scoring drive. The Illini scored in six plays for a 10–7 lead, helped by a Washington piling-on penalty.

Washington had a chance to go ahead at the end of the third quarter, but on a third-and-seven, Siler's pass was picked off on the Illinois 4-yard line. Illinois responded with the only full drive of the day, moving from the Husky 15-yard line, 85 yards for the touchdown. Almost as important as the points was the fact that Illinois ate up eight minutes of the final quarter on the drive.

Rose Bowl
January 2, 1978
Washington 27, Michigan 20

Washington, 9–2 in the regular season after two forfeit wins were awarded by the NCAA, capped its 1977 Cinderella season in the 64th annual Rose Bowl with a thrilling 27–20 upset victory over heavily favored Michigan before 105,312 fans. Don James directed his team from a 1–3 early-season record to a 7–4 mark, winning seven of its last eight games en route to Washington's first bowl victory in 17 years.

The Huskies were led from the outset by Pac-8 Co-Player of the Year and eventual Rose Bowl MVP, quarterback Warren Moon. On Washington's first possession, Moon led the Huskies 49 yards in 10 plays and scored the touchdown himself on a 2-yard jaunt to open the scoring, 7–0.

James' squad parlayed a 62-yard Moon to Spider Gaines pass into a 30-yard field goal to extend the lead to 10–0 early in the second quarter. Washington came right back on its next possession to finish the first-half scoring with a 60-yard drive and another Moon touchdown run-this time from 1-yard out.

Washington outgained the Wolverines by a wide margin of 246 total yards to 111 as the first-half gun went off. The Huskies conveyed thoughts of a rout when Moon threw a 28-yard touchdown strike early in the third quarter to his favorite target, Gaines. The 24–0 bulge seemed insurmountable with just 5:21 remaining in the third quarter.

That lead was short-lived, however, as the Wolverines struck back in just two plays. Left-handed Michigan quarterback Rick Leach gunned a 76-yard bomb to Curt Stephenson to put the Wolverines on the board, just 50 seconds after Washington constructed its largest lead.

Washington lit up the scoreboard for the final time when Steve Robbins hit a 28-yard three-pointer. The field goal widened the Pac-8 champions' lead to 27–7 with just 0:50 remaining in the third period.

Michigan wasn't about to be embarrassed as the Wolverines marched 78 yards on 11 plays to open the fourth quarter, culminating the drive with a 2-yard Russell Davis dive for six points. Gregg Willner added the PAT and Michigan was back in business, closing the gap to 27–14. As Washington's game turned conservative, Michigan again scored on a Leach pass to Stanley Edwards. However, the momentum swung back Washington's way on the next play as Willner missed the conversion on a bad snap and the Washington lead remained seven points at 27–20.

The game turned into a defensive battle in the final minutes as Washington intercepted two Leach passes, including a Michael Jackson pickoff at Washington's own 3-yard line with just over a minute remaining. Cornerback Nesby Glasgow ended the Pasadena Classic with another interception as time ran out on Michigan.

Sun Bowl
December 22, 1979
Washington 14, Texas 7

Sixth-ranked Texas and 13th-ranked Washington, 9–2 going into the bowl, squared off in the 45th annual Sun Bowl with the Longhorns tabbed as seven-point favorites, but the Huskies picked up their second bowl victory in three years thanks to an opportunistic offense and a hard-hitting defense that continually made the big play.

The turning point of the game may have come as early as the first quarter when Texas drove the length of the field on its first possession to set up a first-and-goal at the Husky 9. Three running plays made it fourth-and-goal at the 1-yard line, and then Texas quarterback Donnie Little ran an option right only to have Husky strong safety Greg Grimes drop him for a 1-yard loss.

The Husky defense made another big play eight downs later when Jim Pence forced a Texas fumble and Stafford Mays recovered on the Longhorn 42. Moments later, on third-and-11 from the Texas 18, Tom Flick found Paul Skansi in the right corner of the end zone for a 7–0 lead.

Washington was back in business two plays later when Mark Lee disrupted an option pitch and Grimes recovered the loose ball on the Texas 23. Husky freshman tailback Willis Ray Mackey, making a homecoming to the state where he played his prep football, carried four times and got the game-winner with a 4-yard slash up the middle.

Texas, too, capitalized on a big defensive play to score its only points. Flick was hit while trying to pass and the Longhorns recovered on the Husky 44. Eleven plays later, Little found running back Brad Beck in the end zone for the score.

The second half was a bitter defensive struggle and the game finally came down to Texas' final possession at the Husky 44 with 3:01 left. The Longhorns managed one first down to the UW 32 before feeling the fury of the Washington pass rush on four straight downs. When the final blitz was over, Texas had been shoved all the way back to its own 48 and the Huskies celebrated their Sun Bowl title.

Rose Bowl
January 1, 1981
Michigan 23, Washington 6

Washington, finishing the regular season with a 9–2 record and ranked 16th nationally in both polls, met Big Ten champion Michigan, the fifth-ranked team in the country, in the Rose Bowl under circumstances reminiscent of their 1978 meeting at the same venue. The Huskies again entered the Pasadena Classic as decided underdogs, but this time could not pull off the upset. Rather than the drama of the 27–20 victory over Michigan just three years earlier, Washington suffered a disappointing 23–6 defeat despite outplaying the winners for the first half.

The Huskies came out impressive, but there was a sense that nothing would go their way. On the third play of the game, Tom Flick found Aaron Williams over the middle, but only after the ball was tipped into his hands. The play went for 52 yards, but was called back due to offensive pass interference.

On Washington's second possession, Flick marched the club 63 yards to just inside the Wolverine 1-yard line. But on fourth-and-one from point-blank range, Toussaint Tyler was stopped for no gain. Although one official prematurely signalled a touchdown, he was overruled by the linesman.

The Huskies again appeared to have scored a touchdown when center Mike Reilly snared Kyle Stevens' mid-air fumble midway through the second period, and ran it into the end zone, but the play was ruled dead.

While Washington was outplaying its rival-the Huskies led in total offense 269–133-Michigan led 7–6 going into the locker room at half. The second half was a different story, i.e., all Michigan. The Huskies were held to just 10 third-quarter plays while Michigan scored 16 second-half points.

Rose Bowl
January 1, 1982
Washington 28, Iowa 0

Washington, 9–2 in regular-season play, entered the 1982 Rose Bowl in a familiar position-as underdogs. For the fourth time in four postseason appearances, the Huskies' bowl opponent was rated the favorite and for the third time, Don James' club ignored the odds. Washington recorded the first Rose Bowl shutout in 28 years, a 28–0 whitewash of Big Ten champion Iowa.

The two clubs battled to a scoreless tie after one quarter, although Washington did get inside the Hawkeye 30-yard line twice thanks to the Husky kicking game. First cornerback Ray Horton returned an Iowa punt 48 yards to the Iowa 29, then punter Jeff Partridge was roughed in the act to keep another drive going until it stalled at the Hawkeye 28.

Eventual Rose Bowl MVP Jacque Robinson broke the scoring ice early in the second period, bulling over from 1-yard out to cap a 65-yard drive. Robinson romped for 34 yards on seven carries during the drive. Washington upped its lead to 13–0 just 0:19 before the half when fullback Vince Coby smashed over from a yard out to climax a 60-yard march.

Iowa made its deepest penetration in the third period-to the Husky 29-but was stymied by a Ken Driscoll interception. Robinson took over again in the final stanza, gaining 66 yards on three carries, including the final 34 yards on a nifty run up the right side, to cap a 69-yard drive that put the Huskies ahead 21–0. The UW onslaught ended with quarterback Tim Cowan's 3-yard reverse with 7:13 to go.

Washington took advantage of two Iowa fumbles and picked off three Hawkeye passes to turn the tide in its favor. Robinson gained 142 net yards on just 20 carries to pace the ground game, and quarterback Steve Pelluer completed 15-of-29 passes for another 142 yards.

Inside linebackers Mark Jerue (13) and Ken Driscoll (11) led the stop troops. Driscoll and defensive backs Vince Newsome and Derek Harvey each grabbed an enemy pass.

Aloha Bowl
December 25, 1982
Washington 21, Maryland 20

Tim Cowan's brilliant passing performance (33–53–0–350) brought Washington back from a 20–14 deficit for a 21–20 victory over Maryland in the inaugural Aloha Bowl on Christmas Day in Honolulu. The victory enabled Washington to finish 10–2 and be ranked No. 7 in both wire service polls.

Washington went 80 yards in 12 plays after the opening kickoff and took a 7–0 lead on Cowan's 27-yard pass to Anthony Allen. Cowan accounted for 66 of those yards on six completions in seven attempts. Maryland came right back to narrow the margin to 7–6 going just 19 yards after recovering a Sterling Hinds' fumble. The conversion failed. The Huskies struck with a bang just 6:00 before halftime when Cowan hit Allen all alone on the left sideline and Allen sprinted 71 yards for the score.

Maryland came back to score after the second-half kickoff as it moved 77 yards on six plays with the score coming on a 36-yard pass from Boomer Esiason to tight end John Tice. The conversion run failed and Washington held on to a 14–12 lead. Maryland put together a time-consuming (8:46) drive that spanned the third and fourth quarters to go ahead on a short run coming on the 16th play of the drive. Esiason found Tice for the two-point conversion and the Terrapins a 20–14 lead with nearly 11 minutes left.

The Terps had a great chance to put the game away after a Husky pass on fourth down went awry and Maryland took over on the Husky 19. A Terp field goal of 32 yards didn't find the mark, however, and Washington took over at the 20 with 3:49 left. The final drive was all Cowan as the senior quarterback either ran or passed the ball on 15-of-16 plays in marching the Huskies down the field.

Twice Cowan ran for first downs on fourth-down situations and found Allen for a first down on yet another fourth-down call. With third down on the Maryland 11 with 0:12 left, Cowan looked into the left corner of the end zone and found Allen free for the tying touchdown. Nelson's extra point gave Washington the 21–20 victory. Cowan's 33 completions and 363 yards in total offense were both UW historical bests (bowl games not officially included in Husky records) and his 350-yard passing performance had been bettered only three times. Allen also had an exceptional game with eight catches for 152 yards.

Cowan was voted offensive MVP while Husky linebacker Tony Caldwell was named defensive MVP.

Aloha Bowl
Penn State 13, Washington 10

Washington, 8–3 going into the postseason bowl, failed to make a 10–3 lead hold up as the Huskies gave up 10 points in the fourth quarter to lose 13–10 to Penn State in the second annual Aloha Bowl.

Penn State hit the scoreboard first when it moved 49 yards to the Husky seven on its first possession. The Huskies held PSU without a yard on three straight plays and the Nittany Lions settled for a 23-yard field goal and a 3–0 lead.

Washington took the lead early in the second quarter when the Husky defense had Penn State backed up with a fourth-and-11 on their own 19. The Lions punted to Danny Greene who took the ball on the Husky 43 and went 57 yards for a touchdown. The Huskies increased their lead to 10–3 late in the second panel when a 10-play, 65-yard drive culminated in a 39-yard Jeff Jaeger field goal.

The Lions began their comeback late in the third quarter when they took advantage of a 19-yard Husky punt to begin operations on the Husky 48. A key sack by Fred Small forced Penn State to try a field goal, which it converted from 49 yards, and the Lions cut the margin to 10–6. Penn State made another big play in the kicking game to set up its game-winning score. After pushing Washington back to its own 6-yard line with a punt of its own, Penn State forced the Huskies to punt. The Lions ran a reverse on the return to set up shop at their own 49-yard line. The Lions went 51 yards in nine plays, including two big third-down plays by quarterback Doug Strang, to score on a 2-yard run with three minutes left.

Orange Bowl
January 1, 1985
Washington 28, Oklahoma 17

Fourth-ranked Washington, 10–1 before the bowl, staked a claim to the national championship with a 28–17 come-from-behind victory over No. 2 Oklahoma. The Huskies made their sixth straight bowl appearance a monumental one, becoming the first Pac-10 team to compete in, and win, the Orange Bowl on a record-setting day in which three Pac-10 teams captured bowl victories (UCLA, Fiesta; USC, Rose).

A Miami throng of 56,294 witnessed Husky quarterback Hugh Millen come off the bench in relief of Paul Sicuro to lead Washington to a pair of touchdowns in a 1:04 span late in the ball game to secure the win.

The Huskies jumped to a quick 7–0 advantage in the first quarter when Sicuro found Danny Greene wide open in the end zone for a 29-yard score.

Senior tailback Jacque Robinson, named the game's Most Valuable Back (the only player in history named MVP of both the Orange and Rose Bowls), produced Washington's second score. Robinson rushed six times for 26 of his game-high 135 yards (28 carries) in the drive, which culminated with his 1-yard scoring run.

The Sooners rallied in the second stanza following a Husky turnover. Oklahoma tied the contest on the final play of the half with a lightning-quick scoring strike from quarterback Danny Bradley to split end Derrick Shepard covering 61 yards.

The Sooners took their first lead of the contest on a 35-yard Tim Lasher field goal with 8:45 left at 17–14.

On the next possession, Millen lobbed a critical third-and-nine completion to Green from his own 27, which covered 29 yards. Four downs later, Millen lofted a touch pass to senior split end Mark Pattison on the extreme left edge of the end zone, making the tally 21–17 in favor of the Huskies with 5:42 left.

A Joe Kelly interception led to a Rick Fenney 6-yard touchdown, sealing the win for Don James and his Huskies. The New Year's Day victory improved Washington's all-time bowl record to 8–6–1.

Freedom Bowl
December 30, 1985
Washington 20, Colorado 17

Sophomore quarterback Chris Chandler passed for 141 yards and ran for 72 more in leading Washington to a 20–17 victory over Colorado in the second annual Freedom Bowl in Anaheim. The win boosted Washington's overall bowl record to 9–6–1, and a 6–2 record in bowls under Don James. The Freedom Bowl was Washington's seventh straight postseason bowl appearance, and eighth in nine years.

The Huskies, 6–5 heading into the game, jumped off to a 3–0 lead late in the first quarter when placekicker Jeff Jaeger capped a 57-yard drive with a 30-yard field goal. Vince Weathersby had runs of 10 and 18 yards in the drive, and also took a shovel pass from Chandler for 17 more. Chandler ran 22 yards on an option play to get the ball in scoring territory.

Colorado used a 28-yard punt return midway through the second quarter to set up its first score. It took the Buffs nine plays to travel 26 yards. Anthony Weatherspoon got the touchdown on a 1-yard blast and Colorado took a 7–3 lead. Washington came back to move 80 yards and regain the lead. Chandler passed for 50 of the 80 yards and David Toy finally got the score on a 3-yard run with only 0:30 left before intermission. Jaeger's PAT made it 10–7 Huskies.

A Colorado field goal early in the third quarter tied the game at 10–10, but again Washington responded to regain the lead. A 36-yard kickoff return by David Trimble gave the Huskies excellent field position on their own 47. Chandler's 15-yard option keeper followed by a 14-yard pitch to Rod Jones were key plays in the drive. Weathersby got 12 yards on a draw play to the Colorado 5, and then Tony Covington ran twice and got the score on a 1-yard dive. Washington led 17–10.

Washington increased its lead to 20–10 on its next possession as the Huskies moved 67 yards on 11 plays. Chandler passes to Lonzell Hill, Covington and Toy accounted for 36 yards and Chandler added 19 more on another option run. With fourth-and-one at the Colorado 1-yard line, Washington opted for a sure three points on Jaeger's second field goal.

Colorado made things interesting midway through the fourth quarter when holder Barry Helton passed 31 yards to Jon Embree for a touchdown on a fake field goal as the Buffs cut Washington's lead to 20–17. Colorado got the ball right back and marched to the Husky 7 but Joe Kelly forced a fumble and David Rill recovered to preserve the win.

Chandler, starting only his third game at quarterback, was voted the game's MVP.

Sun Bowl
December 25, 1986
Alabama 28, Washington 6

A close game at the intermission (7-6) turned into a nightmare for the Huskies, 8-2-1 entering the bowl, in the second half as the Alabama Crimson Tide rolled up 21 unanswered points to record a 28-6 victory over Washington in the 53rd John Hancock Sun Bowl in El Paso, Texas.

Alabama got on the board first when sophomore running back Bobby Humphrey broke loose on a sweep to the right side of the line and scampered 64 yards for a touchdown with 14:10 remaining in the second quarter.

Washington got to within one point with a pair of Jeff Jaeger field goals. That would be the closest the Huskies would get the rest of the day. It was also the lowest post season scoring output for the UW since the 1981 Rose Bowl (a 23-6 loss to Michigan).

'Bama quarterback Mike Shula got the Tide's air game into gear with a pair of touchdown passes, 32 yards to Al Richardson and 18 yards to Humphrey. On the day, Shula was 15-of-26 for 176 yards and no interceptions. The talented Humphrey rambled for 159 yards on 28 carries (5.7 yards per carry).

The potent Husky attack was limited to just 102 yards rushing while quarterback Chris Chandler exploited the Alabama secondary for 199 yards on 20-of-43 pass attempts. One of the big reasons the Husky backfield saw Crimson all day was due to the presence of All-America linebacker Cornelius Bennett, voted the game's Most Valuable Player, who led Alabama with 11 tackles and harassed Chandler the entire day.

Washington's two-game bowl win streak was ended. However, the Huskies did tie USC's Pac-10 mark for consecutive bowl appearances (eight). The Huskies ended the season ranked 17th by the UPI, 18th by AP and 19th by USA Today/CCN.

Independence Bowl
December 19, 1987
Washington 24, Tulane 12

Washington extended its post season record under head coach Don James to 7-3 with its 24-12 victory over Tulane in the Independence Bowl, played before 41,683 fans in Shreveport's Independence Stadium. It was Washington's third win in its last four bowl appearances.

Taking a 6-4-1 record into the game, the Husky defense kept the Tulane Green Wave from scoring a touchdown while Washington quarterback Chris Chandler was named the Independence Bowl's Offensive Player of the Game, passing for 234 yards and two touchdowns.

Led by 12 tackles from linebacker David Rill, the Washington defense held college football's 11th-best scoring team 20 points below its season average. Green Wave quarterback Terrence Jones completed 17-of-40 passes for 248 yards, and was intercepted once and sacked three times.

Rover Darryl Hall picked off an errant Jones pass on the Wave's first series to set up Washington's first touchdown -- a 3-yard run by tailback Tony Covington culminating a 61-yard, 10-play drive completed with 7:43 to play in the first period.

Tulane scored 10 second-quarter points on a 44-yard punt return by Mitchell Price and a 21-yard field goal by placekicker Todd Wiggins. The Green Wave's only other points came on a safety with seven seconds left in the game.

Washington did its share of second-quarter scoring, adding 14 points to its 7-0 first-quarter lead. Both of Chandler's second-quarter touchdowns were 5-yard pass completions, with the first going to tight end Bill Ames and the second to split end Darryl Franklin, sandwiching Wiggins' field goal. Washington placekicker Brandy Brownlee was responsible for the three point-after successes, but missed the one field goal he attempted from the 40-yard line early in the third quarter.

Freedom Bowl
December 30, 1989
Washington 34, Florida 7

The Huskies claimed their fourth win in their last five bowl appearances with a dominating 34-7 shellacking of the University of Florida Gators in front of 33,858 fans in Anaheim. The victory improved coach Don James' bowl record at Washington to 8-3.

Washington, 7-4 coming into the bowl, finished the 1989 season by winning six of its final seven games, including the Freedom Bowl.

Quarterback Cary Conklin, voted the game's Most Valuable Player, capped his record-setting Husky career in fine style, completing 21-of-39 passes for 217 yards. The Huskies' defense held Florida All-American running back Emmitt Smith to just 17 yards, negating any chance of a Florida victory. Husky running back Greg Lewis gained 97 yards on 27 carries.

Washington returned the opening kickoff 31 yards to the 36-yard line and had 15 more tacked on by a Florida clipping penalty, allowing the Dawgs to start their initial drive from the Gator49. Conklin hit split end Mario Bailey with a 21-yard touchdown pass and, following John McCallum's PAT, the Huskies had an immediate 7-0 lead.

Florida answered quickly, as quarterback Donald Douglas went around left end for a 67-yard touchdown on Florida's second offensive play of the game. From then on it was all Washington. Florida gained just 16 more yards on the ground the remainder of the day, finishing with a total of 83.

Washington scored on its next three offensive possessions and added a blocked punt for a touchdown to take a 27-7 lead into the intermission.

McCallum started the scoring explosion when he kicked a 21-yard field goal for a 10-7 lead. The defense stopped Florida, and Washington drove for another score, with Conklin passing 10 yards to Andre Riley for the touchdown.

Channing Wyles punted to the Gator 1-yard line to set up the next Husky score. Florida ran Smith into the line twice for a gain of 1, and then threw an incomplete pass. Faced with a fourth-and-nine on their own 2, the Gators' Hank Rone attempted a punt. Chico Fraley stormed into block the kick and Jaime Fields recovered it in the end zone for the score. McCallum's extra point made it 24-7 and forced Florida away from its running game for good.

McCallum kicked one more field goal with just 18 seconds left in the half to bring Washington's point total to 27. For the half, Washington notched 18 first downs to only three for Florida, and controlled the ball for almost 24 minutes (23:47).

Playing mostly reserves, Washington cruised through the second half, tacking on a final touchdown late in the fourth quarter. Reserve quarterback Mark Brunell, a redshirt freshman, scampered 20 yards for the game's final points.

Rose Bowl
January 1, 1991
Washington 46, Iowa 34

Husky sophomore Mark Brunell passed for a pair of touchdowns and ran for two more to lead Pac-10 Champion Washington to a convincing 46-34 win over Iowa. Washington and Iowa combined for 80 points, making the 77th Rose Bowl the highest scoring in history. The opportunistic Huskies built a 33-7 halftime lead, with two first-half touchdowns coming courtesy of the UW defense.

The Pasadena victory left Washington 10-2 for the season, while Iowa dropped to 8-4. The game marked Washington's 12th bowl appearance in the 16-year coaching reign of Don James, who improved his bowl record to 9-3, including 3-1 in the Rose Bowl.

Left-handed Brunell's running and passing skills earned him Rose Bowl MVP honors as he completed 14 of 22 passes for 163 yards. Washington faithful also rejoiced in the return of senior All-America running back Greg Lewis, who spent the month prior to the Rose Bowl rehabilitating an injured knee. Lewis hadn't lost a step, however, as he rushed for a game-high 128 yards on 19 carries.

Washington's defense, ranked first in the nation in stopping the run, allowed Iowa just 139 net yards on the ground, recorded five sacks and forced five turnovers (four interceptions) in the game. Iowa also became the sixth team in 1990-91 to surrender more than 40 points to the high-scoring Huskies. The strong tradition of Don James' special teams surfaced early in this game when red-shirt freshman Andy Mason blocked an Iowa punt that was scooped up by junior cornerback Dana Hall, who sprinted for a touchdown. With less than five minutes elapsed, Washington led 10-0. After Iowa closed to 10-7 with 12:39 left in the half, Washington erupted for 23 consecutive points.

A 38-yard Travis Hanson field goal, and a 37-yard interception return by senior cornerback Charles Mincy gave Washington momentum. Two touchdowns generated by Brunell, on a 5-yard run and a 22-yard pass to Mario Bailey, gave the Huskies their nearly insurmountable 33-7 lead at intermission.

Iowa threw a scare into the Huskies as Hawkeye quarterback Matt Rodgers rallied his team for 27 second-half points. Iowa fullback Nick Bell's 20-yard touchdown run with 5:07 to play pulled the Hawkeyes within 13 at 39-26. But Brunell put out the fire on the next possession with a 31-yard scoring completion to Bailey. A late Iowa score made the score 46-34 as Washington held on to claim the Pac-10's second consecutive Rose Bowl win and eighth in the past 10 years.

Rose Bowl
January 1, 1992
Washington 34, Michigan 14

The Huskies' dominating defense overwhelmed Michigan's high-powered attack and Heisman Trophy winner Desmond Howard while Washington quarterback Billy Joe Hobert sparked the UW offense by scoring on a two-yard run for the first of Washington's 34 points and throwing for two other touchdowns.

Hobert, who would share Rose Bowl Most Valuable Player honors with defensive tackle Steve Emtman, completed 18 of 34 passes for 192 yards. His touchdown passes went to freshman tight end Mark Bruener in the third quarter to give Washington a 14-point cushion, 21-7, and to senior tight end Aaron Pierce in the fourth quarter for a 27-7 Husky advantage. The five-yard completion from Hobert to Bruener was the freshman's first career touchdown.

The win in Pasadena catapulted Washington to its first-ever collegiate football National Championship, as the USA Today/CNN coaches poll awarded its No. 1 ranking to the Huskies. Miami was ranked No. 1 in the Associated Press poll following the Hurricanes' 22-0 shutout of Nebraska in the Orange Bowl, so the two 12-0 teams shared the national title.

The game marked Washington's 13th bowl appearance in the 17-year coaching reign of Don James, who improved his record in bowl games to 10-3, including 4-1 in the Rose Bowl. The 12-0 record was the Huskies' first perfect season since 1915 when Gil Dobie led the UW to a 7-0 mark.

Backup quarterback Mark Brunell, who was the 1991 Rose Bowl MVP, came off the bench and completed seven of eight passes for 89 yards and a touchdown. His 38-yard scoring pass went to senior Mario Bailey.

Husky placekicker Travis Hanson scored tow second-quarter field goals, from 23 and 24 yards, providing Washington a 13-7 lead at the half.

Emtman, who would be the No. 1 player drafted by the National Football League following his junior season, joined with his defensive companions to fluster the Wolverines' offensive efforts at every turn. The Huskies had six sacks on the Michigan quarterbacks. Linebacker Donald Jones flashed around the outside for three sacks and defensive end Andy Mason secured two of his six tackles in the Wolverine backfield. In fact, Wolverine starting quarterback Elvis Grbac finished the game with six carries for -42 yards. Cornerbacks Dana Hall and Walter Bailey held Howard to one catch, a 35-yard grab in Michigan's first possession of the second quarter.

1993 Rose Bowl
January 1, 1993
Michigan 38, Washington 31

The ninth-ranked Huskies attempted to make history by winning their third straight Rose Bowl, but instead suffered a 38-31 defeat at the hands of seventh-ranked Michigan.

Washington led 24-21 at halftime but could not control Michigan tailback Tyrone Wheatley, who ran for 235 yards on just 15 carries, including touchdown runs of 88, 56 and 24 yards.

Michigan grabbed an early 3-0 lead on its first drive with a 41-yard Peter Elezovic field goal.

Washington answered with a one-yard touchdown run by Darius Turner, capping a nine-play, 80 yard drive to go ahead 7-3. The key play of the drive was a 35-yard pass from senior quarterback Mark Brunell to tight end Mark Bruener across the middle, setting the Huskies up at the Michigan one-yard line.

The see-saw first half continued with Michigan taking a 17-7 lead before the Huskies pulled to within three on a 64-yard touchdown pass from Brunell to freshman Jason Shelley. Shelley, who would finish his first Rose Bowl with three receptions for 100 yards, made the over-the-shoulder grab at the Michigan three-yard line and just cleared the plane of the goal line before having the ball knocked loose on a hit by Corwin Brown. Brunell's hot passing continued on Washington's next possession when he again connected with Bruener, this time in the corner of the end zone to put the Huskies ahead 21-17 at halftime.

Wheatley broke free again on the first play of the second half, bursting through the middle of the Husky line and racing 88 yards for a touchdown, putting the Wolverines back on top 24-21.

Husky sophomore Napoleon Kaufman, who was held to 39 yards rushing on 20 carries, gave the Huskies a boost on special teams when he answered the Wheatley touchdown run by returning the ensuing kickoff 47 yards to the Michigan 46-yard line. Fittingly he would cap the drive seven plays later with a dive over the top for a touchdown and a 28-24 lead.

Washington added to the lead on its next possession when Travis Hanson converted a 44-yard field goal for a 31-24 Husky lead. With the field goal, Hanson extended his career Rose Bowl record to five.

Despite the high-scoring offense, the Husky defense could not contain the Wolverine's rushing attack and surrendered the lead once again. Two possessions later Michigan took advantage of a Kaufman fumble at the Washington 24-yard line as Wheatley scored on the first play, tying the game at 31.

Michigan then scored the only points of the fourth quarter when Wolverine quarterback Elvis Grbac threw 15 yards to tight end Tony McGee for the eventual game-winning touchdown with 5:29 remaining.

Washington had two more possessions and drove as far as the Michigan 26-yard line but failed to convert and turned the ball over on downs each time.

The loss spoiled what was perhaps Brunell's finest performance in a Husky uniform. The senior quarterback completed 18-of-30 passes for 308 yards and two touchdowns.

The Rose Bowl

At the end of the 1901 season, Michigan was prevailed upon to play Stanford in an "East-West" game at Pasadena's Tournament Park. The contest took place on January 1, 1902, with Michigan winning by a score of 49-0. Following this, the game was discontinued until the first day of 1916 when Washington State defeated Brown University, 14-0.

The contest continued to be known as the "East-West" game until the 1923 game was played at the newly-constructed Rose Bowl. The University of Southern California defeated Penn State in that game, 14-3.

The original Tournament Park (in 1902) held about 10,000 fans, although only 8,500 attended the Stanford-Michigan contest. Prior to the 1917 game, the seating capacity was increased to 30,000.

The new Rose Bowl originally was a horseshoe affair running north and south with the opening at the south end. It seated 56,000. The capacity was then progressively increased in 1929 to 66,000; in 1932 to 83,677; and in 1938 to 90,000. Another increase in capacity took place during the year 1949, with the funds being raised by public subscription. The 1950 Rose Bowl game set a record of 100,983 fans.

The present Rose Bowl was actually dedicated on October 28, 1922, with a football game between the University of California and the University of Southern California before a crowd of 35,000. California won the game, 12-0.

Prior to 1935 the Western team in the game was invited by the Tournament of Roses Association.

The Tournament also selected the Eastern team until 1923. From 1923 through 1946 the Western team selected its Eastern opponent. From 1946 until 1959 the old Pacific Coast Conference and the Big Ten selected representatives.

Under a new agreement, starting with the 1960 game, the Pacific-10 selected a representative from among its conference members. The conference also selected its opponent for the 1961 and 1962 games. Following 1962 a new contract was signed with the Big Ten for it to provide the Pac-10's opponent.

The Pacific-10 leads the Big Ten 25-23 since the series began in 1947. The Pac-10 has won 15 of the last 21 and 20 of the last 25 meetings.

Rose Bowl Selection Formula

The Pacific-10 Rose Bowl representative shall be that member's team with the best record in the loss and tie columns (a tie being counted as one-half loss) in all conference games. If, however, the lowest loss-tie totals of two or more members are identical, determination of the Rose Bowl representative shall be as follows:

A. Two-Team Tie — If the tied teams played one another, the winner of their game shall be the representative. If they tied or did not play one another if either team is ranked first or second in th enation in the Associated Press, the USA Today/CNN American Football Coaches Association, or the UPI/Football Foundation Poll (must be first or second in two of the three polls) which imediately follow the final regular-season game played by the Conference's member, then it shall be the Rose Bowl representative. If they tied or did not play and are not so ranked the following formula shall be used:

1. Count 4 points for a conference win.
2. Count 3 points for a non-conference win against a Division IA team.
3. Count 2 points for a non-conference win against a non-Division IA team.
4. Count 2 points for a conference tie.
5. Count 1-1/2 points for a non-conference tie against a Division IA team.
6. Count 1 point for a non-conference tie against a non-Division IA team.

The team with highest point total for all games shall be the Rose Bowl representative.

If a tie remains, the last team appearing in the Rose Bowl shall be eliminated. If neither team has appeared in the Rose Bowl, the determination shall be made by vote of the conference's Men's Administration Committee.

B. Multiple Ties — When three or more teams are tied in the loss-tie column in conference play, if one team has defeated all the others, it shall be the Rose Bowl representative. If that is not the case, and one of the teams is ranked first or second in the nation in the Associated Press, the USA Today/CNN American Football Coaches Association, or the UPI/Football Foundation Poll (must be first or second in two of the three polls) which immediately follow the final regular-season game played by the Conference's member, then it shall be the Rose Bowl representative. If that is not the case, a team defeated by all other tied teams shall be eliminated. If one team has not defeated the others, the point formula above shall be computed. Only the top two teams on the point system shall thereafter be considered. If a tie for the second position occurs upon application of the point formula, the second team shall be the winner of the game between the tied teams, or, if the teams did not play each other or played a tie game, the team which has not played in the Rose Bowl for the longest period of time shall be the second team.

If the remaining two teams played one another, the winner shall be the representative. If they tied or did not play one another, the team with the highest point total for all games shall be the Rose Bowl representative as in paragraph "A" above. If a tie remains, the team most recently appearing in the Rose Bowl shall be eliminated. If neither team has appeared in the Rose Bowl, determination shall be made by a vote of the conference's Men's Administration Committee.

C. Ineligible teams — Teams ineligible to participate in the Rose Bowl shall not be included in the tie-breaking formula.

D. Games in Hawaii and Alaska — Games in Hawaii or Alaska shall not be included in the point system if they are "12th games" permitted under NCAA legislation.

E. Kickoff Classic — Participation in the Kickoff Classic shall not be counted in the point system.

Note: Washington had one Pacific-10 Conference Player of the Year who was not also a first-team all-conference selection prior to 1983 when Offensive and Defensive Players were first named. Warren Moon shared Pacific-10 Conference Player of the Year honors with Stanford quarterback Guy Benjamin in 1977. Benjamin was the first-team All-Pacific-10 Conference selection at quarterback that year.

Husky Heritage

Husky Stadium

Annually voted the most scenic football structure in the nation, Husky Stadium has proven to be a monstrous opponent for visitors hoping to pin a loss on Washington's gridiron heroes.

Nestled high above Union Bay in Lake Washington, Husky Stadium has several characteristics that make it unique among stadia.

• A seating capacity of 72,500 allows Husky Stadium to rank as the nation's 15th largest on-campus facility. It is the largest stadium, college or professional, in the Pacific Northwest.

• With nearly 70 percent of the seats located between the endzones, Husky Stadium can be one of the loudest stadiums in the nation. During the 1992 Nebraska contest — the first night game in Husky Stadium history — ESPN sideline crews measured the crowd noise at 130 decibels.

• Tailgating takes on a whole new meaning at Husky Stadium. Boat moorings are available for fans to travel to Washington games via the water. Members of the Husky crew team shuttle fans back-and-forth between their vessels and the docks adjoining the stadium grounds.

• The north upper deck offers sweeping views of Mt. Rainier, the Olympic Mountain Range and downtown Seattle.

• Washington has won 24 of its last 25 games in Husky Stadium, including a school record 17-straight home victories. The Huskies have won 67 percent of their home games in the stadium, posting an overall record of 289-124-20. Against the Pac-10, the Huskies have recorded an even more impressive 71-25-1 (.732) record at Husky Stadium.

Built in 1920 at a cost of $600,000, the stadium's initial capacity was listed at 30,000. The stadium was opened in the dedication game, November 27, 1920, when Dartmouth defeated Washington, 28-7. A student fund drive, in which students and businessmen sold plaques at $50 and $100 levels, provided the capital necessary to get the project off the ground.

Two members of the stadium committee were dispatched east to study an existing report on stadia. Their determination called for a seating capacity of 60,000 and be constructed in two units. One of the key factors in the layout of the stadium was "the establishment of the longitudinal axis." The goal was to "avoid as far as possible the glare of the sun in the stadium for the benefit of the players."

To accomplish this goal, the astronomical department figured the angle of the rays of the sun at 4 p.m., November 24, 1920. Based on those measurements, the axis of the stadium was approximately set at right angles to the rays which established the axis at 71 degrees 50 minutes west of north. The final components in figuring the stadium location were figuring the best views of the lake and mountains from the interior and working with the existing confines of the land.

Puget Sound Bridge and Dredging Company was contracted to build the structure. The original contract to begin construction was signed May 7, 1920 and called for work to be complete by November 27 for the Dartmouth game — a timetable of six months and 20 days. A unique method of excavation know as sluicing — in which earth is displaced by high pressure water — was used to clear the area. In all, 230,000 cubic yards of earth was moved using 687,000,000 gallons of water. The original crown on the playing field reached a height of 18 inches.

Plans for the stadium called for a four-lane track the structural drawings called for stands that would allow patrons to "view the entire running track without rising or having his view obstructed by the person sitting adjacent to him." The study resulted in an elliptical form being adopted.

A "sunken passage" was built to separate the fans from the field while also providing drainage for the field and facility. Drainage was a major concern of construction since it was calculated that one inch of rain fall on the structural portion of the stadium would accumulate 36,000 gallons of water.

The isles and seating patterns were planned so that the original capacity crowd of 30,000 could exit the stadium in seven minutes.

The stadium was completed on time despite 46 days of rain during the construction period. Final work was finished 12 hours before kickoff of the inaugural game.

The stadium experienced further growth in 1936 when 10,000 above-grade seats were added around the rim of the structure, upping capacity to 40,000.

In 1950, Husky Stadium was again expanded when roof-covered stands were added to the south side. Approximately 15,000 additional seats, at a cost of $1.7 million, offered excellent viewing between the goal posts.

A cantilevered steel roof partially covered all seats in the upper deck and approximately 6,000 seats in the lower stands. In the rear of the structure, two silo-shaped ramps provided access to the upper deck concourses.

The two-level press box and camera deck areas were also installed as part of the 1950 project. The view available for approximately 75 members of the press is 165 feet above the stadium floor. The south side elevator was also part of the '50 construction.

Stadium capacity jumped from 55,000 to more than 59,000 in 1968 when 3,000 seats were added to the north rim and portable bleachers were installed beyond the east end zone. Astroturf replaced the old grass field in 1968, the same year an all-weather track was installed around the football playing field. Washington was the first major college to install an Astroturf field. At the time, the Houston Astrodome was the only other facility to use the playing surface. Because of the lack of similar fields, the Huskies stocked over 200 pairs of shoes for opponents to use during games. The original artificial turf was replaced in 1972, 1977 and, mostly recently, in the summer of 1987.

In 1987, Husky Stadium expanded once again, adding 13,000 new seats. The $13 million project performed by Lydig Construction of Spokane brought the capacity to 72,500. The hallmark facet of the construction was a glass-enclosed reception area with a field view from goal line to goal line. Besides serving as an entertainment center on game days, the Don James Center has the capabilities to host major banquets or social events.

During the summer of 1990, the wooden bleachers in the north upper deck were replaced with new aluminum seating. The same process was repeated for the south upper deck in the summer of 1992.

The north deck seats are accessible by ramp or elevator. Husky Stadium possesses 49,580 sideline seats, or 68 percent of total capacity.

In 1989, all major construction in Husky Stadium was concluded with the replacement of the west stands. The $3.7 million facelift gives Husky fans better seating, more concession stands and restrooms, a new first aid room, police security area and photo deck.

In preparation for the 1990 Goodwill Games, Husky Stadium became the beneficiary of a brand new eight-lane synthetic surface track in the summer of '89. The $1.5 million gift from the Seattle Organizing Committee provides athletes with a world-class facility. Husky Stadium hosted the track and field competition and the opening and closing ceremonies of the 1990 Goodwill Games.

The Breakdown

When the 1993 NFL opening day rosters were announced, there were 32 former Husky players in the league. Here's a look a the top five colleges represented in last year's opening day rosters:

	Team	No. Players
1.	UCLA	37
2.	USC	36
	Miami, Fla.	36
4.	Washington	32
5.	Florida State	30
	Notre Dame	30

Husky Hall of Fame

The University of Washington inaugurated a Hall of Fame in 1979 to "... honor and preserve the memory of those athletes, teams, coaches and members of the athletic staff who have contributed in a very outstanding and positive way to the promotion of the University of Washington athletic program."

Some 95 individuals and 10 teams have been inducted to the Washington Hall of Fame in an annual special ceremony. In 1994 the Hall of Fame Induction Ceremony was moved to the spring to coincide with the Purple-White game.

Huskies vs. The Heisman Winners

Bruce Smith - 1941
Minnesota 14, Washington 6

Smith accounted for both Minnesota touchdowns as the Golden Gophers outlasted Washington in Husky Stadium. Minnesota dominated the game, outgaining the Huskies 236 to 85, but did not put the game away until late. Smith's first touchdown came in the second quarter on a seven-yard touchdown run, followed later by a one-yard plunge to seal the game in the fourth quarter. Washington lone touchdown came on a 14-yard run by Ernie Steele, but the kick failed.

Leon Hart - 1949
Notre Dame 27, Washington 7

Notre Dame ran its winning streak to 30 games with a 27-7 win at Husky Stadium in front of a record 41,510 fans. Washington scored first on a 45-yard touchdown pass from Don Heinrich to Roland Kirkby in the first quarter, but then watched the Fighting Irish rattle off 27 straight points for the win. Hart scored Notre Dame's first two touchdowns on a 27-yard second quarter touchdown catch and a 14-yard scoring run in the third quarter to put the Irish ahead 13-7 on the way to the victory.

Joe Bellino - 1960
Navy 15, Washington 14

Washington limited Bellino to 53 yards on 14 carries but lost the game with 2:14 to play when Navy converted a 32-yard field goal attempt. Neither team put on much of an offensive show as third-ranked Washington outgained the17th-ranked Midshipmen 193-69. Bellino scored the first Navy touchdown on a one-yard plunge in the first quarter, but the extra point was no good, as was the two-point conversion try on Navy's next touchdown, leaving Washington ahead 14-12. The Huskies had scored on a 31-yard pass from Bob Schloredt to Don McKeta and a three-yard run by Ray Jackson, setting the stage for the game-winning field goal.

Terry Baker - 1962
Washington 14, Oregon State 13

Baker's all-around effort nearly lifted the Beavers to an upset of the the seventh-ranked Huskies, but a missed extra point allowed Washington to pull out a 14-13 victory. Baker, who passed for 144 yards and two touchdowns and ran for 85 yards, accounted for both Beaver touchdowns as he connected with Vern Burke on six- and 10-yard scoring plays. Husky running back Junior Coffey racked up 113 yards, including a 43-yard touchdown run to tie the score at 7-7 in the second quarter. Later, with Oregon State leading 13-7 after the failed extra point, Coffey helped lead the Huskies downfield on the game-winning scoring drive, capped off by a Charlie Mitchell touchdown run. Baker rounded out his performance by punting seven times for 271 yards.

Mike Garrett - 1965
Southern California 34, Washington 0

The eighth-ranked Trojans rolled over Washington as 34-0 as Garrett gained a total of 175 yards on 31 carries. Washington managed just 130 in total offense, and crossed the 50-yard line on only two occasions. Trojan quarterback Troy Winslow complete all 11 passes he threw, for 105 yards as he and Garrett led USC to 445 total yards against the unranked Huskies.

Gary Beban - 1967
UCLA 48, Washington 0

Beban had one of his finest outings ever as the fourth-ranked Bruins dominated Washington from start to finish. Beban passed for three touchdowns and ran for another in leading the Bruins to a 41-0 halftime lead. He threw 36 yards to Dave Nuttall for UCLA's fifth touchdown and then completed the first half scoring spree with a 42 yard touchdown pass to Harold Busby. The Bruins outgained the Huskies 500-84 in total offense, as Beban completed 14-of-22 passes for 289 yards. Washington completed just 4-of-15 passes for 40 yards.

O.J. Simpson - 1968
Southern California 14, Washington 7

The top-ranked Trojans, led by Simpson, narrowly avoided a major uspet in Los Angeles at the hands of unranked Washington before escaping with a 14-7 win. Simpson scored the game's first touchdown on a one-yard dive in the first quarter, on his way to a 173 yard, 33-carry performance. Washington tied the game in the third quarter when Buddy Kennamer scored from eight yards out, but missed two later opportunities as the Trojans tacked on another touchdown for the win. With the score tied 7-7, the Huskies took over at the USC 20 after a Simpson fumble and drove to the one-yard line where they failed to convert a fourth-and-one play. Two plays later Simpson was nearly tackled for a safety but broke free and led the Rose Bowl-bound Trojans on the game-winning touchdown drive which he capped with a nine-yard scoring scamper. Washington responded by driving to the USC seven-yard line but fumbled the ball away.

Jim Plunkett - 1970
Stanford 29, Washington 22

Plunkett made a strong statement to Heisman voters by setting an NCAA record for career passing yardage, throwing for 268 yards and four touchdowns to bring his career total to 7,088 yards. Plunkett surpassed the old mark of 7,076 set by Steve Ramsay of North Texas State as he led the Cardinal to a 29-22 triumph in a see-saw battle at Stanford Stadium. Washington took an early 7-0 lead when Jim Krieg returned the opening kickoff 95 yards for a touchdown. Stanford then came back with three straight Plunkett touchdown passes in the first quarter to go ahead 21-7 before Washington quarterback Sonny Sixkiller brought the Huskies back, running for one touchdown, passing for another and completing a two-point conversion pass for a 22-21 lead. But the Heisman-bound Plunkett brought his team back in the fourth quarter with a touchdown and two-point conversion to seal the win for the sixth-ranked Cardinal and vault them into the Rose Bowl for the first time since 1952.

Charles White - 1979
Southern California 24, Washington 17

White showed his true Heisman form by marching all over the Huskies for 243 yards on 38 carries as the second-ranked Trojans pulled out a 24-17 win on their way to the Rose Bowl. Washington, which entered the game ranked 16th, staged a late rally to tie the game at 17 on a one-yard run by Tom Flick and a 12-yard touchdown pass from Flick to Paul Skansi. Flick finished with 245 yards on 18-for-28 passing. White led the Trojans to their final touchdown nearly single-handedly before Marcus Allen covered the final 10 yards for the score and the victory in one of the most exciting games ever played in Husky Stadium. Washington then drove to the Trojan two-yard line after a Mark Lee 40-yard punt return but could not score.

Marcus Allen - 1981
Washington 13, Southern California 3

Allen may have won the battle, pounding out 155 yards on 38 carries, but the unranked Huskies won the war by upsetting the third-ranked Trojans, keeping themselves in contention for a Rose Bowl berth. USC took a 3-0 lead in the second quarter but did not score again while Washington tallied 13 special teams points on a wet and windy day at Husky Stadium. Despite yielding 155 yards to Allen, the Husky defense stood tall and kept USC out of the end zone, the first time the Trojans had been denied a touchdown since 1967. The game was tied 3-3 in the fourth quarter until Chuck Nelson converted a 46-yard field goal and the Huskies recovered a fumble on the ensuing kickoff for a 13-3 lead.

Desmond Howard - 1991
Washington 34, Michigan 14

Washington's dominating defense overwhelmed Michigan's high-powered attack and Heisman Trophy winner Howard as the second-ranked Huskies defeated the fourth-ranked Wolverines 34-14 in the Rose Bowl to earn a share of their first national championship. Howard was limited to just one reception for 35 yards in his last game as a Wolverine as the Husky secondary frustrated him all day. Washington quarterback Billy Joe Hobert sparked the Husky offense by scoring on a two-yard touchdown run for the first of Washington's 34 points and threw for two touchdowns as Washington won its second straight Rose Bowl, capping a perfect 12-0 season.

Huskies and the Heisman

There have been four former Washington players rank among the top vote-getters in previous Heisman Trophy balloting. Here's a look at those players and where they finished in the annual voting:

Name	Finish	Year
Hugh McElhenny	8th	1951
Don Heinrich	9th	1952

Glossary of Medical Terms

A.T.C. - Athletic Trainer Certified; athletic trainers with this designation have passed the certification exam administered by the N.A.T.A.
A-C Joint - Acromioclavicular joint; joint of the shoulder where acromion process (of the scapula) and the distal end of the clavicle meet; most shoulder separations occur at this point.
Abduct - Movement of any extremity away from the body.
Abrasion - Any injury which rubs off the surface of the skin.
Abscess - An infection which produces pus; can be the result of a blister, callus, penetrating wound or laceration.
Achilles Tendon - The tendon at the back of the heel.
Adduct - Movement of an extremity toward the body.
Adductor - Any muscle which moves a part toward the median axis of the body.
Adhesion - Abnormal adherence of collagen fibers to surrounding structures during immobilization following trauma or as a complication of surgery which restricts normal elasticity of the structures involved.
Aerobic - Exercise in which energy needed is supplied by oxygen inspired; required for sustained periods of hard work and vigorous exercise.
Anaerobic - Exercise without the use of oxygen as an energy source; short bursts of vigorous exercise.
Anterior - In front of; the front surface.
Anterior Cruciate Ligament (ACL) - Ligament of knee attaching to anterior tibial plateau and posterior medial aspect of femoral condyle. It provides stability in keeping the lower leg from coming forward.
Anterior Compartment Syndrome - Condition in which swelling within the anterior compartment of the lower leg (comprising of muscles, nerves and arteries to the foot) jeopardizes the viability of the muscles and nerves within the compartment.
Anti-Inflammatory - Any agent which prevents inflammation (such as aspirin or ibuprofen).
Arteriogram - Film demonstrating arteries after injection of opaque medium (dye).
Arthrogram - X-ray technique for joints using air and/or dye injected in affected area (to show torn cartilage or rotator cuff tears).
Arthroscope - An instrument used for visualization of the interior of a joint cavity; sometimes referred to as "scope."
Arthroscopy - Examination of the internal structures of a joint by means of surgical viewing apparatus (arthroscope) inserted into the joint.
Aspiration - The withdrawal of fluids from a body cavity by means of a suction or siphonage apparatus (syringe).
Asymptomatic - Without symptoms.
Atrophy - To shrivel or shrink from disuse, as in muscular atrophy.
Avascular Necrosis - Death of a part due to lack of circulation (can occur in the elbow from throwing).
Avulsion - A tearing away forcibly of a part of structure.
Axilla - The armpit.
Baker's Cyst - Indicates that there is trauma inside the knee joint that leads to excessive joint-fluid production; inflammation of the gastrocnemius bursa. Usually produces localized swelling behind the knee.
Bennett's Fracture - Fracture of the base of the first metacarpal (or the thumb).
Bicep - Muscle on the front of the upper arm responsible for bending the elbow.
Bone Scan - "Radionuclide Imaging," which is useful to demonstrate stress fractures not evident on routine x-rays.
Brachial Plexus - Network of nerves originating from the cervical vertebrae running down into the arm.
Bruise - A discoloration of the skin due to an extravasation of the blood into the underlying tissues.
Burner - Common term for brachial plexus trauma in the neck. Usually results in burning or tingling sensation into the shoulder or arm when the neck is forced beyond the normal range of motion.
C.P.R. - Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation; artificial establishment of circulation of the blood and movement of air into the lungs in a pulseless, non-breathing person.
Calcaneus - The heel bone.
Calf - Also known as gastrocnemius; muscle responsible for planatar-flexing, or pointing the toes down, the foot.
Capsule - An enclosing structure which surrounds the joint and contains ligaments which stabilize that joint.
Cartilage - Smooth, slippery substance preventing two ends of bones from rubbing together and grating.
Cellulits - Inflammation of cellular or connective tissue.
Charley Horse - A bruise to the quadriceps resulting from a direct blow to the front of the thigh, characterized by intramuscular bleeding. No other injury should be called a charley horse.
Chondral Fracture - Fracture to the chondral (carilagenous) surfaces of bone.
Chondromalacia - A roughening of the cartilage surface. Best known for the roughening of the underside of the kneecap.
Clavicle - The collar bone.
Collagen - A substance existing in commonly injured tissues of the body, including skin, cartilage, ligaments, and bone.
Concentric Muscle Contraction - An overall shorting of the muscle as it generates tension and contracts.
Concussion - Jarring injury of the brain resulting in disfunction. Can be graded mild, moderate or severe depending on loss of consciousness, amnesia and loss of equilibrium.
Congenital - Existing before birth; to be born with.
Contusion - An injury to the muscles and tissue caused by a blow from a blunt object.
Cortisone - An anti-inflammatory medication.
Costochondral - The cartilage that separates the bones within the rib cage.
Cranium - The bony framework of the head composed of eight cranial bones, the 14 bones of the face and the teeth.
Cyst - Abnormal sac containing liquid or semi-solid matter.
Degenerative Joint Disease - Changes in the joint surfaces as a result of repetitive trauma.
Dehydration - Loss of body water.
Deltoids - Muscles at top of arm, just below shoulder.
Disc - A flat, round-like, plate structure usually referring to cartilage between vertebrae.
Dislocation - Complete displacement of joint surfaces.
Distal - Away from.
Eccentric Muscle Contraction - An overall lengthening of the muscle as it develops tension and contracts to control motion performed by an outside force; negative work is done.
Ecchymosis - Bleeding into the surface tissue below the skin, resulting in a "black and blue" effect.
Ectomy - suffix connoting the of affected part (e.g. meniscectomy, appendectomy).
Edema - Accumulation of fluid in organs and tissues of the body (swelling).
Efferent - Away from, pushing out from center.
Effusion - Accumulation of fluid, or the fluid itself, in various spaces in the body. Commonly found in the knee following injury.
Electrolyte - Ionized salts in blood, tissue fluids and cells including salts of sodium, potassium and chlorine.
Electrolyte Drink - Fluid for replacing electrolytes, such as Gatorade Thirst Quencher.
EMG - Electromyogram test to check nerve function.
Epicondylitis - Inflammation in the elbow due to overuse of either the flexor or extensor muscles attaching to the medial or lateral epicondyle of the humerus.
Etiology - Study of the causes of injury and disease.
Eversion - Turning outward.
Extension - Motion of straightening a joint.
Extensor - A muscle which upon contraction results in straightening a joint.
External Rotation - Lateral movement of a joint or extremity to the outside.
Extrinsic - From without.
Fascia - A connective tissue sheath consisting of fibrous tissue and fat which unites the skin to the underlying tissues.
Femur - Thigh bone.
Fibula - The smaller of the two bones in the lower leg, located to the outside.
Flexibility - The ability of muscle to relax and yield to stretch force.
Flexibility Exercise - A general term used to describe exercise performed by a person to passively or actively elongate soft tissues without the assistance of a therapist.
Flexion - Bending a joint, as in flexing the arm or leg.
Flexor - A muscle which upon contraction flexes or bends.
Fracture - Breach in continuity of a bone. Types of fractures include simple, compound, comminuted, greenstick, incomplete, impacted, longitudinal, oblique, stress, or transverse.
Gamekeeper's Thumb - Tear of the ulnar collateral ligament of the metacarpo-phangeal joint of the thumb.
Glenohumeral - The shoulder socket, containing the gleniod, the humeral head and the labrum.
Glenoid - A cavity of the scapula into which the head of the humerus fits to the form of the shoulder joint (the shoulder socket).
Groin - Junction of the thigh and abdomen.
Hamstring - Muscle running from the buttocks to behind the knee. Often injured as a result of improper conditioning or lack of muscle of muscle flexibility. Muscle responsible for flexing the knee joint.
Heat Stroke - Condition of rapidly rising internal body temperature that overwhelms the body's mechanisms for release of heat.
Heat Exhaustion - Mild form of shock caused by loss of fluid and electrolytes from the circulation because of excessive sweating when exposed to heat.
Heat Cramps - Painful muscle spasms of arms or legs caused by excessive body heat and depletion of fluids and electrolytes.
Hematoma - A tumor-like mass produced for an accumulation or coagulated blood in a cavity.

Hip Pointer - Contusion to the iliac crest.
Humerus - Bone of the upper arm.
Hyperextension - Extreme extension, or straightening, of a limb or body part.
Iliotibial Band - A thick, wide facial layer from the iliac crest to the knee joint.
Impingement Syndrome - Pinching together of the supraspinatus muscle and other soft tissue in the shoulder, which is common in throwing.
Inferior - Lower, beneath, toward the bottom.
Interosseous Membrane - Uniting membrane between the tibia and fibula that forms a collagenous fibrous tissue. It has two functions: to serve as an origin for many of the muscles of the lower leg, and to transmit stress from the tibia to the fibula.
Intrinsic - Inherent or inside.
Isokinetic Exercise - A form of active resistive exercise in which the speed of movement of the limb is controlled by a pre-set rate-limiting device, such as Cybex, Biodex, etc.
Isometric (static) Contraction - A muscle contraction in which tension is developed but no mechanical work is done. There is no appreciable joint movement and the overall length of the muscle remains the same.
Isokinetic - A constant speed and consistent resistance exercise.
Isotonic (dynamic) Contraction - A concentric or eccentric muscular contraction that results in movement of a joint or body part (lifting a free weight).
Itis - suffix connoting inflammation (e.g. tendinitis, bursitis).
Joint Mobilization - Passive traction and/or gliding movements applied to joint surfaces that maintain or restore the joint play normally allowed by the capsule, so that the normal roll-slide joint mechanic can occur as a person moves.
Lateral - To the outside of the body.
Lateral Collateral Ligament (LCL) - Ligament of knee attaching lateral femoral condyle and to fibula head. It provides lateral stability to the knee.
Lesion - Wound, injury or tumor.
Ligament - Band of fibrous tissue that connects bone to bone or bone to cartilage and supports and strengthens joints.
Limbosacral - Region of lowback comprised of lumbar and sacral pine.
Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI) - Provides highly detailed pictures of the body's interior, using highly magnetic fields.
Malleolus - Rounded projection on either side of the ankle joint.
Manipulation - A passive movement using physiological or accessory motion, which may be applied with a thrust or when the patient is under anesthesia.
Maximal Aerobic Power (MAX VO2) - The maximal volume of oxygen consumed per unit of time.
Medial - Pertaining to or near the middle.
Medial Collateral Ligament - Ligament of knee attaching to medial femoral condyle and to medial tibia. It provides medial stability to the knee.
Meniscus - Crescent shaped cartilage usually pertaining to the knee joint.
Meniscectomy - An intra-articular procedure at the knee by which meniscus (fibrocartilage) is removed surgically.
Metacarpals - Five long bones of hand, just below fingers.
Metatarsals - Five long bones of foot, just below toes.
Mobilization - Passive stretching movements performed by a therapist at a speed slow enough that a patient can stop the movement.
Morbidity - An illness or an abnormal condition or quality.
Myositis - Inflammation of a muscle.
Myositis Ossificans - Inflammation in muscle resulting in the formation of bone-like substance.
N.A.T.A. - National Athletic Trainers' Association. The certifying and governing of the athletic training profession, as approved by the National Commission for Health Certifying Agencies.
Necrotic - Relating to death of a portion of tissue.
Neuritis - Inflammation of a nerve.
Orthotic - Any device applied to or around the body in the care of physical impairment or disability, commonly used to control foot mechanics.
Osteochondritis Dissecans - A piece of bone and/or cartilage loosened from its attachment after trauma and a cause of a lesion.
Osteomyelitis - An inflammatory disease of bone caused usually by infection with streptococcus or staphylococcus.
P.F.A.T.S. - Professional Football Athletic Trainers Society; governing body of athletic trainers employed by National Football League teams.
Parasthesia - Sensation of numbness or tingling, indicating nerve irritation.
Patella - The kneecap.
Patella Tendinitis - Inflammation of the patella tendon.
Pathology - The study of the nature and cause of disease.
Pectorals - Chest muscles beneath breast, leading up to shoulder.
Peroneal - Muscles of the lateral lower leg responsible for everting the foot.
Phlebitis - Inflammation of a vein.
Plantar - Pertaining to the sole of the foot.
Plantar Fascia - The tight band of muscle beneath the arch of the foot.
Plica - A fold of tissue in the joint capsule and a common result of knee injury.
PNF (Proprioceptive Neuromuscular Facilitation) - An approach to therapeutic exercise based on the principles of functional human anatomy and neurophysiology.
Posterior - At the back part, or rear of the body.
Posterior Cruciate Ligament (PCL) - Ligament of the knee attaching to posterior tibial plateau and anterior lateral aspect of femoral condyle. It provides stability in keeping the lower leg from going backward.
Progressive Resistance Exercise (PRE) - An approach to exercise whereby the load or resistance to the muscle is applied by some mechanical means and is quantitatively and progressively increased over time.
Pronation - Moving of the forearm into a palm down position.
Proximal - Near the source, nearest any point being described.
Quadricep (Quads) - The four powerful muscles in the front of the thigh, responsible for extending the knee joint.
Radiography - Tng of x-rays.
Radius - Forearm bone on thumb side.
Reconstruction - Surgical rebuilding of an injured joint.
Referred Pain - Pain felt in undamaged area of body away from actual injury.
Resect - To cut off, or cut out, a portion of a structure or organ.
Retraction - The moving of tissue to expose a part or structure of the body.
Rotator Cuff - Comprised of four muscles in the shoulder area: supraspinatus, infraspinatus, teres minor, and subscapularis. Often irritated by overuse.
S-C Joint - Sternoclavicular joint; articulation between the sternum and the clavicle.
Sacroiliac - Relating to the juncture of the hip bone and lower part of the spine.
Scan - Injection of radioactive fluid (equal in radioactivity to about one x-ray) which may then be displayed on a computer/monitor or film (e.g. bone scan).
Scapula - The shoulder blade.
Sciatic Nerve - Largest nerve in body located in back of leg which controls most of its function.
Sesamoid Bones - Lies within and adds strength to tendons as they cover bony surface. The most commonly known is the kneecap.
Shin Splint - A catch-all syndrome describing pain either in the front of the lower leg or on the inner aspect of the leg.
Spasm - Sudden, violent, involuntary contraction of a muscle.
Spleen - Large, solid organ responsible for the normal production and destruction of blood cells.
Spondylitis - Inflammation of one or more vertebrae.
Spondylolisthesis - Forward displacement of one lumbar vertebra.
Spondylosis - Abnormal vertebrael fixation or immobility.
Sprain - A joint injury. A violent twisting, stretching, pulling or tearing of a ligament.
Stinger - Common term for brachial plexus trauma in the neck.
Strain - A muscle injury. The pulling or twisting of a muscle or tendon.
Stress X-Ray - A continual x-ray taken when a portion of the body is stressed to its maximum to see if the ligaments are intact.
Stress Fracture - A hair-line type of break in bone caused by overuse.
Stretching - Any therapeutic maneuver designed to lengthen (elongate) pathologically shortened soft-tissue structures and thereby increase range of motion.
Subluxation - Partial dislocation of a joint. Term usually implies that joint can return to normal position without formal reduction.
Superior - In anatomy, the upper of the two parts; toward the top or above.
Supination - Moving the forearm into a palm-up position.
Synovial Fluid - Lubricating fluid for joints and tendons, produced in synovium, or inner lining of joint.
Synovitis - Inflammation of the synovium.
Ts - The ankle bone that articulates with the tibia and fibula.
Tet Heart Rate - A pre-determined heart rate to be obtained during exercise when circulation is working at full efficient capacity.
Tus - Arch of foot.
Tendinitis - Inflammation of the tendon and/or tendon sheath, often caused by chronic overuse and/or sudden injury.
Tendon - Fibrous tissue that connects muscles to other structures.
Tennis Elbow - General term for lateral elbow pain.
Tibia - Larger of the two bones in lower leg; weight-bearing bone.
Tomograph - A special type of x-ray apparatus that demonstrates the organ or tissue is a particular depth.
Trachea - The windpipe.
Trapezius - A flat triangular muscle covering the posterior surface of the neck and shoulder.
Triceps - Muscle of the posterior upper arm, opposite the biceps that extends the elbow.
Turf Toe - Sprain of the metatarsophalangeal (MTP) joint of the great toe.
Turf Burn - Abrasion resulting from contact with artificial turf in which one or more layers of skin are removed.
Ulna - One of two bones in forearm; extends from point of elbow and found on outer (little finger) side.
Ulnar Nerve - Nerve in the elbow commonly irritated from excessive throwing or repeated trauma.
Wrist - The junction between the two forearm bones (radius and ulna) and the eight wrist bones (trapezium, trapezoid, capitate, hamate, pisiform, triquetral, lunate and scaphoid).

Husky Greats

Don Heinrich

Don Heinrich is considered one of the greatest quarterbacks in the history of the college game. Twice while at Washington, he topped the NCAA passing statistics. Today, almost 30 years after his brilliant career as a Husky, he remains the leading percentage passer in school history. He passed for more than 4,000 yards while a Husky quarterback and still ranks fourth on Washington's career passing list.

Heinrich directed Washington to an 8-2 record in 1950 and to a 7-3 mark as a senior in 1952. In both 1950 and 1952, Heinrich led the nation in passing yardage and percentage. The 1950 season was perhaps his most memorable, capped by one of the strangest Washington-Washington State games ever.

With the Huskies leading 45-14, Heinrich was on the bench, believing he had established a national pass-completion record of 133 for one season. With time running out, it was learned that Heinrich had only tied the record. A player suggested that WSU be allowed to score so Washington could get the ball back.

After the Cougars scored an uncontested touchdown, Heinrich completed a short pass and the record was broken. Moments later, Hugh McElhenny broke loose on an 84-yard touchdown run, a romp that gave him 296 rushing yards for the game and still is a UW record. The Huskies won 52-21.

Heinrich was named first-team All-Pacific Coast Conference, first-team All-Coast and was a two-time All-American. Named the quarterback on the Husky centennial team in 1990, he was inducted into the college football Hall of Fame in 1987.

After college, he had a successful career in the professional ranks. Heinrich went on to play with the New York Giants and won the World Championship in 1956. He also helped lead the Giants into the NFL title game in 1958 and 1959. Following his playing days, Heinrich began a 15-year coaching career in the NFL with the Dallas Cowboys, New York Giants, Los Angeles Rams, Atlanta Falcons, Pittsburgh Steelers, New Orleans Saints and San Francisco 49ers.

Heinrich's broadcast career began in 1976 when he joined KIRO Newsradio as color analyst on KIRO's Seattle Seahawks broadcasts. After six seasons with the Seahawks, Heinrich assumed similar duties for the San Francisco 49ers on KCBS in San Francisco. He joined Don Klein as color analyst with the 49ers in 1982 and worked there for four years.

Heinrich also served as color analyst on ESPN for the United States Football league.

In January of 1992, after the Huskies won a share of the national championship, head coach Don James called Heinrich. "He said, 'You're part of this,' which, of course, is a nice thing to say," Heinrich said after James' call.

Don Heinrich, the golden arm of Husky football, passed away in 1992 at age 62 after battling cancer.

Hugh McElhenny

Hugh McElhenny was an All-America fullback/halfback at Washington in 1951, capping a three-year career that saw him set 16 school records. When he was inducted to the Husky Hall of Fame in 1979, nearly 30 years after his illustrious career in the Purple and Gold, McElhenny still ranked first in four all-time rushing categories.

As a Husky, McElhenny rushed for 2,499 total yards, an outstanding 5.5 average per carry. He also gained 760 yards as a pass receiver, 975 yards as a dangerous kickoff and punt returner, and scored 233 career points during 1949, 1950, and 1951 seasons.

He was nicknamed "Hurryin' Hugh" and "Hurricane Hugh" as a collegiate standout at Washington, then earned the title "The King' as a great professional player from 1952 to 1964.

McElhenny starred with the San Francisco 49ers (1952-60), Minnesota Vikings (1961-62), New York Giants (1963) and Detroit Lions (1964) in 13 NFL seasons. He gained 5,281 yards rushing, gained 3,247 yards pass receiving, ran back punts for 920 yards, and returned kickoffs for 1,921 yards. The King scored 60 touchdowns in the pro ranks and accounted for 11,369 yards during his 13 seasons.

Born Dec. 31, 1928, McElhenny enjoyed an outstanding prep career at Washington High School in his native Los Angeles. He went on to play one year (1948) at Compton (California) Junior College before transferring to Washington in 1949.

He made his impact felt in just his second game as a Husky. Washington was in Minneapolis to meet Big Ten power Minnesota and the Huskies won the coin toss, electing to receive. McElhenny stood on his own goal line waiting the opening kickoff, took the ball on the four yard line and promptly set sail on a 96-yard touchdown return.

Long runs and stunning kick returns were a McElhenny trademark, and one in particular still stands out in Husky fans' minds. Frank Gifford, former USC halfback who went on to start with the New York Giants and then as an ABC-TV sports caster, relates the story:

"I'll never forget that game," said Gifford of the 1951 USC-Washington clash in Seattle. "I wasn't our regular kicker, but I did the punting when we got to midfield because supposedly I was more accurate at getting the ball down to the corner. Well, in this game, I got the ball down in the corner all right and The King took it there, right on the goal line. He started down the sideline and all of a sudden there was only one man — me — between him and the goal line. He left me flat on my face and ran it 100 yards for a touchdown!

"It was like a touchdown run out of a corn-ball movie...only it was real."

The 100-yard return off Gifford's punt still ties McElhenny for the longest punt return in NCAA history.

McElhenny also owns another NCAA rushing record, this one for the highest average gain per rush. He set that mark in the final game of his junior season when the Huskies capped a fine 8-2 record and second-place finish in the Pacific Coast Conference with a convincing 52-21 thrashing of Washington State in Spokane. The King gained 296 yards on just 20 carries that day, an incredible 14.8 average, and he scored five touchdowns, including an 83-yard romp in the fourth quarter.

Another well-remembered run took place in the 1950 Kansas State game, the season opener which served to dedicate the opening of the upper deck in expanded Husky Stadium. McElhenny raced 91 yards on a fourth-quarter scrimmage play to break a 31-year-old Washington mark for the longest single play rushing gain.

McElhenny earned second team UPI All-Coast honors (third team AP) as a sophomore, then first team UPI and AP All-Coast honors as a junior and senior. By the time he ended his record breaking career in 1951, McElhenny was a unanimous All-America pick.

The King is a member of the prestigious National Football League (NFL) Hall of Fame inducted in 1970, the College Football Hall of Fame (inducted in 1982) and the Washington Hall of Fame (inaugural group in 1979). He was also selected to the Washington Centennial team in 1990.

The Apple Cup

Dogs and cats.

Could there be a more natural rivalry?

Huskies and Cougars.

The annual matchup when Washington meets Washington State is definitely one of the best rivalries in college football today. Up for grabs each year is the Apple Cup, a trophy sponsored by the Washington State Apple Commission and presented by the state's governor.

This gridiron battle actually has two histories. The series dates back to 1900 when the teams played to a 5-5 tie in Seattle, but only since 1962 has the winner been awarded the Apple Cup. Washington holds a 55-25-6 record in the 86-game series, and is 23-9 in Apple Cup games.

Like most rivalries, each game is a new chapter with unpredictable results, regardless of records, momentum or history. It is a game based more on emotion and determination than scouting reports and talent.

Though the schools are on opposite sides of the state, creating a natural geographic split among fans, the annual meeting on the gridiron splits the state in so many other ways — sometimes between members of the same family. Such was the case in 1990 when Husky freshman Travis Hanson waged a personal kicking battle with his brother Jason, the Cougars' All-American place kicker.

But while individual stories give the Apple Cup its character, its enormity and magnitude come from the number of times the game has determined Rose Bowl fate for either team. In 1981 the two teams met in Seattle with a trip to Pasadena at stake along with the Apple Cup trophy — Washington prevailed 23-10.

Perhaps the most shocking upset in the series came in 1982 when the Huskies carried a 9-1 record and an eight-game Apple Cup winning streak into the contest, and needed only to defeat a 2-7-1 Cougar squad to make a third straight Rose Bowl appearance.

Washington, which had held the number-one national ranking for seven weeks earlier in the season, had knocked off two top-10 teams in its previous two games and appeared to be on a roll that would carry it to Pasadena. But the inspired Cougars, playing the Apple Cup at Martin Stadium for the first time since 1954, stunned the Huskies with a 24-20 defeat. The celebration in Pullman began immediately as jubilant Cougar fans poured onto to the field to remove the goal posts, and carried them to the Palouse River for a trip downstream.

Washington seemed certain to take the lead and avoid the upset in the fourth quarter when All-American kicker Chuck

Napoleon Kaufman turned in one of the most impressive Apple Cup performances last year by rushing for 181 yards against a Cougar defense that had not allowed 10 previous teams to reach that toal.

Nelson set up for a 33-yard field goal with the Huskies trailing 21-20. But Nelson missed, halting his NCAA record for consecutive field goals at 30 as the Cougars went on to victory.

If the '82 game was the most shocking, the '85 game in Husky Stadium goes down as one of the coldest on record. Five days before the game it began snowing in Seattle and did not stop until there was more than a foot on the ground. The city was nearly paralyzed and the turf in Husky Stadium, while clear of snow, was frozen solid under the Arctic conditions. UW officials swept the snow from the seats and had to fill the toilets in the stadium with anti-freeze to keep them in working order.

The fans who braved the elements saw WSU running back Ruben Mayes skitter his way to 167 rushing yards as the Cougars defeated Washington 21-20.

The most impressive comeback in Apple Cup history belongs to the Huskies in 1975, when they turned a 27-14 deficit into a thrilling 28-27 victory in the final 3:01. The Cougars had the ball at the Husky 14-yard line and a chance to pad the lead, when they unexplainably put the ball in the air. Husky Al Burleson intercepted the ill-advised pass and returned it 93 yards for a touchdown. Washington then held the Cougars on their next possession and took over on their own 22-yard line with 1:56 remaining. One play later they led 28-27. On first down, Warren Moon passed the ball in the direction of a mob in the center of the field. It hit WSU's Tony Heath and ricocheted into the hands of Husky receiver Spider Gaines, who took it all the way for a 78-yard touchdown play. Two touchdowns in a little over a minute, and the Huskies were victorious in Don James's first Apple Cup.

Since Washington's eight-game winning streak (1974-81), neither team has won more than three straight Apple Cup contests.

Apple Cup Barbs

There have been many zingers tossed out between the Cougars and Huskies over the years, regarding the Apple Cup and the cross-state rivalry. Here are a few of the most colorful:

"They've got a lot of great dancers on their team. Too bad they can't hit as well as they dance."

—WSU's Timm Rosenbach after a 34-19 loss, 1987

"There are four important stages in your life. You're born, you play the Huskies, you get married and you die."

—WSU guard Dan Lynch, 1984

"I've always felt being a Cougar prepares you well for life. You learn not to expect too much."

—UW coach Don James, 1983

"Nobody in the press box, no other coach made that decision. I made the choice. The kids thought we should try a pass. I stupidly agreed."

—WSU coach Jim Sweeney after miracle Husky comeback, triggered by an interception, 1975

"I thought they might give it to me. Those are good at home, but we weren't at home."

—Chuck Nelson after first miss in 30 tries, 1982

"Nothing in my job - not the Rose Bowls, not the Holiday Bowls, nothing -is more important than beating the University of Washington."

—WSU coach Jim Walden, 1982

"I'm a 2,000 word underdog."

—Don James on Jim Walden, 1985
